BULGARIANS SLAUGHTERED.

SALONICA, April 13.—Later reports from Zagorikcham, near Klissura, which was attacked by a Greek band April 7 and burned, say that over one hundred Bulgarians were killed, instead of thirty, as stated in earlier dispatches. The Greeks afterward executed thirty prisoners on the spot where the Greek leader Metas was killed last October.

THE GREAT WAR.

SPOILING FOR FIGHT IS ROJESTVENSKY.

Russian Admiral Sailing Directly North to Battle With Togo's Fleet.

Uncle Sam's Cruiser Raleigh Makes Up Its Mind Where the Conflict Will Occur and Starts Out to See the Match—Huge Garrison and Hundreds of Guns for Vladivostok—Early Resumption of Land Fighting.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SINGAPORE, April 13.—The Russian fleet was in latitude 8 degs. north and in longitude 108 degs., 55 min. east at noon April 11. The Peninsula and Oriental steamer Nubia, which has arrived here, reports having passed no less than forty-two vessels there. They were steering north-northeast at a speed of 8 or 10 knots. The position of the fleet was then about 300 miles northeastward of the Natuna Islands, which lie between the Malay peninsula and the west coast of Borneo, and more than 200 miles southeast of Cape St. Jacques. This course indicates that the fleet was not going to Saigon, French Cochin-China.

PEACE ACTIVITY STILLED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 13, 5:59 p.m.—The news of the northward movement of Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron, and his evident intention to accept battle whenever Admiral Togo chooses to offer it, has for the present stilled all activity in the direction of peace and the foreign dispatches relating to the voyage of the squadron are followed with the most intense interest.

WANTS A FINISH FIGHT.

RUSSIAN LACK OF SECRECY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, April 13.—British naval men comment on the lack of secrecy regarding Admiral Rojestvensky's movements since his arrival in Far Eastern waters. The fact that he is keeping to the main trade route, although knowing his squadron would be constantly sighted and reported by passing vessels, they think, clearly shows that the Russian admiral is keenly anxious to meet Admiral Togo and fight it out to a finish.

PUBLICITY IRRITATES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 13, 5:59 p.m.—Considerable irritation is manifested in naval circles at the activity of British ships in Chinese waters, which are reported steaming from Hongkong to Singapore. Their action is attributed to a desire to keep in touch with the Russian squadron and report its movements to the world at large and to Great Britain's ally in particular, as happened in the case of the British armored cruiser Sutlej, which arrived at Singapore, Straits Settlements, yesterday, and reported having passed the Russian squadron at daylight, April 11, steaming north.

SCENTS SCENE OF FIGHT.

CRUISER RALEIGH GOES NORTH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The Navy Department was advised of the departure today of the cruiser Raleigh from La Buan, on the north coast of British Borneo, where she was dispatched by Rear-Admiral Train to observe the movements of the hostile fleets, for Cuyo, in the Philippines, a point about 400 miles to the northeast, between Palawan and Panay islands.

It is indicated that the Raleigh's commander obtained information as to what he believed the contemplated course of the opposing war vessels, and has shaped his course accordingly. It is about a two-days' sail to Cuyo.

STRENGTH TO VLADIVOSTOK.

GARRISON OF 100,000 MEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, April 13.—It is reported here that the Russians are continually reinforcing the garrison at Vladivostok and that the work of strengthening the fortress is constantly progressing. It is said that the plans of the Russians contemplate a garrison numbering 100,000 men, with 500 guns. Many additions batteries, redoubts, barriers and pits are in course of constructions and enormous stores of ammunition are being accumulated.

The Russians, it is said, hope to so equip the fortress that it will be capable of withstanding a siege.

COAL FOR RUSSIAN FLEET.

AT SAIGON AND SHANGHAI.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, April 13.—Bekel, who is charged with the duty of gathering together supplies of coal for the Russian Second Pacific Squadron, has, according to a statement made to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Matin, 70,000 tons at Saigon and 50,000 tons at Shanghai, which he expects the Russian squadron to take on board.

CARGO OF THE HINDOO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlement, April 13.—The German collier Hindoo (at this port, loaded with 4200 tons of Cardiff coal for the Island of Tanjong Pandan, between Borneo and Sumatra, and which was refused clearance papers for Saigon unless her commander gave bonds to deliver her cargo through the British Consul there) was released today, her captain agreeing to deliver his cargo through the British Consul at Saigon.

HOSPITAL SHIP AT SAIGON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, April 13.—A special to the Daily News from Saigon, Cochin-China, says: "Rojestvensky's hospital ship arrived here last night to take on board provisions, coal and medical stores. It will leave tomorrow at midday to rejoin the main squadron."

MUCH FREIGHT FOR JAPAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The Occidental and Oriental Company's steamer Doric sailed today for the Orient with 4500 tons of freight, much of which is for Japan. Her first stop will be at Midway Island, where she will obtain late news of the naval operations of the Japanese and Russians.

PREPARED TO RENEW FIGHT.

HOSTILE ARMIES IN MANCHURIA BECOME ACTIVE AGAIN.

Russians Have Been Reinforced, the Japanese Advance Guard is Barely Ten Miles Away and Frequent Cavalry Skirmishes are Taking Place Along the Line.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, April 13.—Capt. Rode telegraphs to the Matin that he has been the guest of Gen. Kaulbars, commander of the Second Manchurian Army, at the Russian front.

Capt. Rode's observations showed that the Russian army had been reinforced and is prepared to renew the battle. The troops maneuver daily in battle formation. The Japanese cavalry advance guard, the dispatch adds, is barely ten miles away and frequent cavalry skirmishes take place. The prisoners captured have saber cuts on their heads, showing hand-to-hand skirmishes.

RUSSIAN OUTPOSTS MOVED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

GUNSHU PASS, April 13.—Lieut. Kobasiani of the Twenty-third Japanese Dragoons, who was captured disguised as a Chinaman and who confessed he was a spy, and was tried by court-martial, was shot today.

The Russian outposts have been moved southward and are now half way between Shuamnyaotszi and Santoupu.

Gen. Linevitch is very active, riding daily around the Russian positions and inspecting the troops.

JAPS HURRIEDLY VACATE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 13.—A dispatch from Gunshu Pass dated yesterday says the Russian advance detachment on the Mandarin Road pushed forward April 11 and bombarded Machantzys at midday. The Japanese infantry and cavalry hurriedly vacated the place, leaving their dinners, maps, etc.

Minister of Railroads Hilkoff has left St. Petersburg for Siberia to superintend the improvements bejng made on the trans-Siberian Railroad, and the inauguration of the river service in Siberia.

WITH THE RUSSIAN ARMY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Secretary Taft has selected Brig.-Gen. Thomas H. Barry, commanding the Department of the Gulf, at Atlanta, Ga.; Col. John Van R. Hoff of the medical department, at Leavenworth, Kan., and Capt. Sydney C. Colman, Twenty-second Infantry, of the General Staff, stationed in this city, for duty with the Russian army in Manchuria. Capt. Colman will act as aide to Gen. Barry. The officers will relieve Maj. M. M. McComb of the Artillery Corps, Capt. William V. Judson, Corps of Engineers, and Col. Valery Havard of the medical department from further duty with the Russian army.

RELIEF FOR PEASANTS.

SPECIAL COMMISSION'S WORK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 13.—An imperial rescript addressed to the Minister of the Interior creates a special commission under his presidency to discuss questions relating to peasant tenure of land, which is described by the rescript as the main foundation of national welfare. Measures will be elaborated, first to afford peasants better means of working their lands to good advantage; second, to assist emigration between districts, helping peasants to increase their holdings through the medium of a peasants bank; and third, to devise measures for fixing the boundaries of all holdings in order to show their inviolability and to instill more conscientious views on the subject of private property.

HE WAS TOO GREEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Richard T. Green, who has just been replaced as American commercial agent at Vladivistok, figured in an incident at Vladivistok, some months ago, which caused embarrassment to the Washington government and induced Secretary Hay to send a note, officially expressing the regret of this government to Japan. Without asking leave of the American Ambassador at St. Petersburg, or anyone else, Mr. Green turned over the Japanese consular office at Vladivostok in his charge to the Russian port admiral, who removed the furniture and used the building for the Red Cross Society. The Japanese government later gave consent to the use of the buildings for use for Red Cross purposes.

TAMMANY'S BONANZA.

Over Five Million Dollars of Profit is Made by the Schemes in Deals in American Smelting.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The advances in American Smelting since the beginning of the year have been a regular bonanza for many of the Tammany politicians who had stock market affiliations, and reports were current in Wall street that big profits had been made in that stock by Tammany sachems.

Smelting stock, on heavy buying, advanced in the first hour today to 123⅞, a jump of 44¼ since January 9, and of four points since yesterday's close. The Tammany crowd were said to have taken profits from this advance, causing a reaction in the afternoon to 122¼, at which price the stock closed. The profits of leaders working together are estimated at over $5,000,000, many of the individual shares ranging from $200,000 to $300,000.

HUNTINGTON'S NEPHEW.

Frank Loveland Takes Poison and is Laid Beside His Wife Who Also Committed Suicide.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The body of Frank Loveland, who committed suicide by taking poison, was today borne to the grave in Spring Grove beside his wife, who cut her own throat a year ago. Loveland was a nephew of the late Collis P. Huntington, who left him a snug fortune. The treatment to which he subjected his wife is believed to have been the cause of her taking her own life.

WALKS FROM LOS ANGELES.

Minnie Schweitzer Reaches Pittsburgh on Foot and Begins Suit to Recover Pay as Domestic.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Minnie Schweitzer limped in from Los Angeles today, and began suit to recover $295 back pay from Alfred Jeremy, in whose family she was a domestic. Minnie says the Jeremys induced her to go West, and then discharged her, in violation of contract. She walked and worked her way back to her old home here.

BLOW AT CATHOLICISM.

LONDON, April 13.—The House of Commons today by a vote of 369 to 109 defeated a motion to establish a Catholic University in Ireland. There was much cross voting. The minority included Nationalists and English Catholics.

EUROPE TO FIGHT THE STEEL TRUST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Since Charles M. Schwab has been in Europe, it has developed that his mission was not alone to get contracts for building European navies, but principally to secure for the tremendous interests he represents the American interest in one of the most gigantic steel and iron combinations ever attempted.

For a long time it has been well known that a combination of German, English, French and Italian steel and iron industries was being undertaken, and that when perfected it would be formidable enough to combat the great United States Steel Corporation. There is no longer any doubt that Schwab has captured the American representation in the new concern, and that war on the United States Steel Corporation will soon begin.

Schwab is reported to have $25,000,000 in contracts already from Russia and Japan for armorplate, and will also get his share of fabulous sums for the new navies.

BEAR AND FOR BEAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FREDERICK (Okla.) April 13.—The President ended his hunt and broke camp this afternoon, but did not leave the hunting ground in the Big Pasture until nearly 3 o'clock tonight, staying inside to eat supper with the wolf chasers. The special train was waiting here, and the President and his party entered the cars and started south to Texas over the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad. According to schedule, the train was transferred to the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad at Vernon, Tex., at 9:10 p.m. and the journey to Colorado begun. No provision is made for stops or speeches, the public part of the President's tour having ended.

FREDERICK (Okla.) April 13.—The President's great wolf hunt in Oklahoma is now at an end, eighteen of these animals being the total number captured. The cooks, porters and most of the other help arrived in Frederick shortly before 6 o'clock, and reported that the President would arrive here about 8 o'clock, after taking supper near the pasture gate from the wagon containing supplies, and that he and his party would then gallop to town.

Ex-Delegate Dennis L. Flynn, Gov. Thomas B. Ferguson and Congressman John H. Stevens of Texas, who arrived last night, will be present to pay their respects to the President.

About 11 o'clock this morning, John Abernathy, the noted wolf hunter, told the President that on this, the last day, he was going to bring in two wolves himself. The President laughed, but Abernathy, when seen by a newspaper man in the pasture at 1 o'clock this afternoon, had two wolves, a live one on his pommel and a dead one tied behind the saddle. This afternoon two other wolves were caught, making a total of eighteen for the week.

Those who will arrive in town with the President and who have been in the hunt with him are Dr. Lambert, Gen. S. M. B. Young, C. A. Lyon, Sloan Simpson, Lieut. G. R. Fortescue, S. B. Burnett, W. B Waggoner, Tom Burnett, C. B. McHugh, Capt. Bill McDonald, J. R. Abernathy and H. T. Horton.

All of this party excepting C. B. McHugh and John Abernathy will leave with the President at 8:35 o'clock for Vernon, at this point. The President's car will be transferred to the Fort Worth and Denver road, and he will arrive at his Colorado destination Saturday evening.

HIS OWN ENGINE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) April 13.—For two hours tomorrow evening this city will be the executive headquarters, as the President will arrive here at 7:20 p.m., and leave at 9:30 o'clock for the West. He will be escorted to the residence of P. B. Stewart for the purpose of selecting his hunting outfit.

A telegram from Secretary Loeb is to the effect that the President's special will arrive on time. Five minutes before the departure of the special for New Castle, a pilot train will be sent over the route.

The President is to become the owner of the monster Colorado Midland "Mogul" engine No. 15, which has been selected to haul his train to New Castle, No. 15 weighs 210,000 pounds and is valued at $20,000. The presentation will be made by John Hopkins on behalf of the Colorado Midland Railroad Company and the train crew, so that when the President returns from his hunting trip he will be hauled from New Castle by his own engine.

THE SPECIAL TRAIN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FORT WORTH (Tex.) April 13.—The President's special train, which has been here during his hunt near Frederick, Okla., left Fort Worth today for Frederick, and is scheduled to reach there late today. On board are the President's private secretary, William Loeb, Jr., and the representatives of the press. The President will re-rive at Frederick from the Waggoner ranch, where he has been hunting, this evening. The train will be transferred at Vernon to the Fort Wroth & Denver City Railway, and the journey to Colorado will begin at once.

PLENTY OF BEARS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEWCASTLE (Colo.) April 13.—There has been a fresh snowfall in this region, and the roads to Camp Roosevelt were impassible today. By telephone, however, it is learned that the men and animals in camp are suffering no hardships, and John Goff says that unless more snow falls, everything will be in good order when the President arrives.

There will be no dearth of game for the President. He will have all the bears he wants, and he can choose his own methods. He may chase with the dogs, beat through the district with twenty-five men, or personally track and kill at close quarters.

Four bears have already been located. Trapperstoday were following the tracks of half a dozen others, and by the time the Presidential party arrives, the lairs of fifteen or twenty bears will probably have been located.

YALE PENSION BILL.

"Little Joker" Found Which Will Cost New York City Seven Million Dollars Yearly.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is probable that if the people of New York City realized that the Yale pension bill would cost city $7,000,000 yearly, there would be a great outcry. Experts who have made a thorough examination of its text declare that it will cost that sum, and however innocent the bill appears, it is the most gigantic "job" in years. The bill has been advanced on the plea that it will cost the city nothing. But there is a little "joker" in it which looks as if the city might be mulcted of enormous amounts for pensioning city employés.

While the bill does not provide for any contribution to the pension fund from public moneys, it expressly does provide that pensions once fixed shall never be disturbed.

MILLIONS FOR GOOD ROADS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) April 13.—The proposed constitutional amendment authorizing a State issue of $10,000,000 for building good roads under the State aid law, was passed by the Assembly today. Having passed the Legislature last year, the proposition will now be submitted to popular vote at the November election.

THE MOROCCO QUESTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, April 13.—Foreign Minister Delcassé will give a dinner tonight in honor of the German Ambassador, Prince Von Radolin. This, in conjunction with the fact that Prince and Princess Von Radolin occupied President Loubet's box at the opera last night, gives an outward aspect of a more favorable condition of the Moroccan question. The officials here also take an optimistic view of the situation, saying that the opening of negotiations on the subject of Morocco has been retarded chiefly by exaggerations and menaces of the German press.

The French Foreign Office specifically denies the report to the effect that the Sultan of Morocco is about to invite the French mission to withdraw from Fez. The last offical advices from Fez showed that the French negotiations were progressing satisfactorily.

A statement published today that France has issued an official note to the powers on the subject of Morocco is inaccurate, and apparently was based upon the issuance of the monthly department circulars of the French consuls in Morocco, dealing with current commercial questions, but not touching on pending political issues.

A dispatch to the Temps from Rome says it is officially asserted that Italy will not lend herself to the plan for assembling an international congress to deal with the Moroccan question. The Italian government, in regard to the Mediterranean and Morocco, is in accord with France and therefore no Moroccan question exists so far as Italy is concerned, which country is in favor of the influence of France predominating in Morocco.

FRENCH REFORMS REJECTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, April 14.—The correspondent at Tangier of the Daily Telegraph reports that the Sultan of Morocco has definitely rejected the French reforms, declaring that they must be referred to the signatories of the Madrid convention.

PHENOMENON IN TEXAS.

Volcanic Upheaval Takes Place in Humble Oil Field—Immense Volume of Gas.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HOUSTON (Tex.) April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Humble oil field was the scene of a most unsual phenomenon this morning, when an upheaval took place at the section surrounding the Swayne-Underwood wells, of volcanic violence.

A solid column of earth twenty feet in diameter was thrown two hundred feet in the air. The derrick was torn to atoms and the drilling machinery, which was on the edge of the crater, tumbled in and was buried from sight. A sort of mud-lava followed the eruption after it boiled up, filling the chasm and running in streams from it. Sand and oily muck and stones that had been hurled heavenward fell over an area of many acres.

Accompanying the eruption, was an immense volume of gas, which was ignited from a furnace two hundred feet from the well. The flames burned a hundred feet in the air with a violent roar. They went out tonight.

TREMENDOUS UPROAR IN DIET.

BUDAPEST, April 13.—There was a tremendous uproar in the upper house of the Diet today during a speech of ex-Premier Tisza on Eotvo's motion for a vote of censure on Count Tisza, charging him with being actuated by political motives in raising the pension of the late president of the house, Perczel Von Bonyhad, from $1800 to $600. The sitting was suspended until the disturbance had abated. When, later, Count Tisza resumed his speech in defense of his action, the uproar was renewed. There were cries of "traitor" and other epithets from the members of the Left. Finally, discussion of the motion was set for tomorrow.

JEFFERSON DAY.

Eastern Democrats Dine and Listen to Speeches—Parker Utters Urgent Appeals for Harmony — Public Ownership in Chicago.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—Seven hundred Democrats attended the Jefferson Day banquet of the Democratic Club of New York at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel tonight. Many were there of national reputation, and chief among these was former Judge Alton B. Parker, Democratic nominee for President last November.

In the banquet room, portraits of Jefferson were conspicuous. In addition to Parker, the speakers were United States Senator Newlands of Nevada, Mayor McClellan of New York City, Congressman Rainey of Illinois and J. J. Willet of Alabama. Senator Carmack of Tennessee was the only one of those expected to speak who could not attend.

Parker was the first speaker, and he was enthusiastically received. Frequently he was interrupted by applause. The speech was on the future of the Democratic party, and was replete with suggestions for harmony and urgent appeals against sectionalism.

Mayor McClellan was somewhat disconcerted by the cordial greeting he received. He closed his address by saying: "Opportunism has no place in the Democratic party. Let us cease worshiping strange gods and go back to the God of our fathers and to the teachings of Thomas Jefferson."

Senator Francis G. Newlands of Nevada said: "Will the many-sided Theodore Roosevelt devote himself during the next four years to the Democratic policy of domestic reform, indicated by his message, or will he continue to engage in activities external to our country, which will absorb its attention and postpone domestic reform. If the former, Democracy will be triumphant before his administration ends. If, on the other hand, he continues to dazzle our people with startling exhibitions of international pyrotechnics, plutocracy will be as firmly entrenched at the end of his administration as it was at the beginning, and some other Democrats—a Democrat who is not an imperialist abroad, but who is a Democrat abroad as well as at home—will be called upon to lead the destinies of the country."

Former Justice Augustus Van Wyck said: "The crime of the age most fatal to good government and to the morality of society is the sale of law by the Legislature granting special privileges and favors to our great capitalists, so often characterized as public-spirited citizens of the nation, in which the black horse cavalry of both parties are found combined together in this nefarious traffic. The most important work that can be undertaken by the Democratic minority in the national and State Legislatures is to drive out of their party the black horse cavalry, and then unselfishly antagonize and expose all dishonest, corrupt and pernicious legislation and keep this up until the public becomes familiar with the bad bills and the bad legislators."

Congressman Rainey, J. J. Willett and John W. Kern of Indiana also spoke, in the order named.

CELEBRATION AT CHICAGO.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP DISCUSSED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 13.—Public ownership will be the dominant issue in the Democratic national campaign four years from now, if the 500 Democrats who assembled at the Jefferson Day banquet tonight can make it so.

At every mention of the municipal ownership victory in Chicago, last week, the gathering went into hysterics, and when it was remarked by speaker after speaker that the victory in Chicago foretold a similar victory in the nation in 1908, with public ownership of railroads for party slogan, men yelled themselves hoarse.

Mayor Dunne was the particular hero of the occasion. Like the ownership he stands for, he was an "immediate hero." The "ultimate hero" by common consent of every man present, was Bryan, who clapped his hands till they were red and swollen.

G. Fred Williams of Massachusetts, Tom L. Johnson, municipal ownership Mayor of Cleveland; Mayor Dunne, and Clarence S. Darrow, led the "advanced thought" of their particular localities. Bryan said the Chicago victory was the greatest thing achieved by Democracy in a generation. He gave nearly half his time to prove that if Jefferson were alive today he would be of the Dunne brand of Democracy—in favor of public ownership as the greatest good to the greatest number.

RAINEY'S BATTLE CRY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Illinois was the chief speaker at a Jefferson dinner, given here by the Harlem Democratic Club. He declared the new battle cry of the Democratic party to be "back to the people," and applied it to the regulation of all public utilities.

In this connection, he said: "If it is found impossible to regulate and control these public utilities, so that they are the servants, not the masters, of the people, Chicago has pointed out the way. Rather than submit to railroad ownership of the instruments of government, the people will demand and will have government ownership of railroads."

PRICES OF BEEF HAVE BEEN ADVANCED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Without any real scarcity in cattle or sheep, and actuated, retailers say, solely by the desire to squeeze more profits out of the consumer, the beef trust has forced up retail prices of all kinds of meat in New York.

An advance of 2 cents a pound to the dealer has been made, and the consumer is paying an average of 4 cents more a pound than he did last week.

It is estimated that an increase of 2 cents per pound wholesale means that the trust will levy an extra $200,000 upon New York retail butchers this week, which will mean a much larger tax on the public.

ASSOCIATION MEETINGS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—Meetings of the Retail Butchers and Meat Dealers" Protective Association will be held in all the boroughs, to take action. The Brooklyn branch of the association already has met and discussed the situation. Several speakers bitterly denounced the packers who were alleged to be taking concerted action. It was declared that, while the advance of wholesale prices was attributed to falling off in supplies of cattle at the Chicago Stock Yards, no such falling off had taken place, and that the raising of prices was entirely unjustified.

IN OTHER MARKETS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, April 13.—Prices of beef have advanced in every important market of the United States. The consumer is paying the advanced price, which to him represents several cents per pound over what he paid up to ten days ago.

Swift & Co., speaking for the packing interests, this afternoon, issued the following statement: "During the last six weeks, the producers of beef cattle have been receiving about a dollar advance over past prices for choice cattle. This simply means that the advance to the consumer in prices would be about $2 on the one-half of choice cattle that can be used for food purposes. The range cattle producer is the master of the situation."

HYDE IS ANXIOUS TO OUST ALEXANDER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James H. Hyde, through his attorneys, will, during the coming week, apply to the Supreme Court to have James W. Alexander, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, removed from the trusteeship of the estate of the late Henry B. Hyde. This latest move in the Equitable war was announced today by a director who is favorable to and enjoying the confidence of Hyde.

The ground on which the suit will be brought is that under the terms of the trusteeship bestowed on Alexander, it was his duty to turn over to the beneficiary, under the will of Henry B. Hyde (James H. Hyde) the stock in the society, with all the rights it enjoyed at the time it was intrusted to him. Instead of doing that, Hyde will contend, Alexander sought in every way possible to destroy the value of the stock by agitations injurious to the company and by sensational charges and actions.

There are a number of specifications, such as the alleged formation of the Crimmins policy-holders' committee, ructions in the board of directors and insistence on a scheme of mutualization calculated to take the control of the society away from the stockholders.

Alexander's trusteeship expires in June, when Hyde becomes 30 years of age. Hyde is anxious to oust him before then.

Vice-President Tarbell today sent a circular letter to all general agents, offering an extra allowance for expenses of $4 for each $1000 of insurance written between April 1 and July 1 to offset the effects of the Equitable war. Hyde men pretend to see in this an effort of the Tarbell and Alexander forces to secure a new hold on the agents.

THE CIRCULAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—The circular contains the following:

"Realizing fully the difficulties under which you are laboring at present, on account of circumstances over which you have no control, and understanding that considerable of our time will be taken by interviews with policy holders in giving them the information that they may desire and that your work of securing business will be more difficult, entailing upon you additional expense, it seems entirely proper that we should do something at this time to aid you.

"We feel that you will appreciate this evidence of the society's desire to cooperate with you, and that you will work harder than ever to increase your business and maintain the society's prestige in your field."

In explanation of the circular, Tarbell said: "Our agents have to live. The present trouble in this society has, of course, added to their work, and perhaps slightly cut down their incomes. We have felt that it was not right that they should suffer for what is not in the slightest degree their fault. This extra compensation will only be paid through April, May and June. After that time, the payments will go back to the old basis."

Representatives of the Hyde party in the Equitable were quoted this evening, to the effect that the real object of the circular is to bring in to the society a large number of policy holders favorable to the idea of a company run by policy holders, and who would be willing to give proxies to the soliciting agent to keep such a management in force. Tarbell characterized this statement as absurd.

President Alexander has acknowledged the receipt of the communication from the Frick committee of investigators, and has requested from each department of the Equitable full reports in line with the demands of the committee.

GOOD SHOW, GOOD CHANCES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—In the suit of David Belasco to establish the existence of a contract with Klaw & Erlanger, the theatrical managers, through the agency of a third party, Abraham L. Erlanger, of that firm was chief witness today. Erlanger was asked what chance a manager had to book an attraction in the theaters controlled by the theatrical syndicate, to which he replied that the chance was good for a good attraction. For a poor attraction, he could not say what the chance would be. Erlanger said that the syndicate controlled between sixty-five and one hundred theaters. Erlanger said the syndicate's share of the profits from "The Auctioneer," amounted to $30,000.

"My share was not much," he added.

"You got one-third of that sum, did you not?" asked counsel for Belasco.

"Yes," the witness replied.

"Don't you call $10,000 'much?'"

"No, not much."

Erlanger then testified that he booked three theaters outside the syndicate free of charge. These were the Lyric, New York; the Garrick, Chicago, and the Majestic, Boston. He afterward admitted, however, that Nixon & Zimmerman had an interest, in a play with S. S. &Lee Shubert, who control the Lyric and Garrick theaters mentioned.

Erlanger was cross-examined at some length and there were a number of lively tilts between opposing counsel.

"Did you not get between $6000 and $7000 from James K. Hackett for booking him in one of his plays?" was asked.

"No, not for the booking; we were practically his managers," replied Erlanger.

"Well, who really was his manager?"

"He was his own manager."

"Yet you manage him?"

"Yes."

Erlanger said the syndicate got 25 per cent., from the profits of "The Chinese Honeymoon," but nothing from "Florodora."

The witness denied that he had ever been "cruel" or "harsh" to Belasco.

SECOND PEACE CONFERENCE.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT IN AMERICA'S HANDS IN MATTER.

Lord Lansdowne Says All the Other Powers Have Accepted the President's Invitation With Equal Cordiality—Many Difficult Problems for Solution.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, April 13.—In the House of Lords today Lord Reay (Liberal) asked if President Roosevelt's invitation to the powers to send representatives to a second peace conference would be accepted, and whether the question of contraband of war would be brought before the conference. Foreign Secretary Lansdowne, replying, said the invitation had been accepted. The government had placed itself in President Roosevelt's hands, with a reservation merely as to the subjects which might be submitted to the conference. All the other powers had accepted the invitation with equal cordiality, and with the same reservations.

Lord Lansdowne said the position of the powers was most unsatisfactory in regard to many questions of international law. The only method a neutral power could adopt when at variance with one or two belligerents, short of resorting to means which he, Lord Lansdowne, would rather not contemplate, was to follow the example of Great Britain, press its views as strongly as possible, and make frequent protests. He pointed out that Great Britain's recent representations and protests to Russia had not been without effect.

Lord Lansdowne, however, regretted that the Russian government had not departed in spite of all arguments from the attitude it first assumed in regard to coal, notwithstanding the fact that at the Berlin conference of 1884 Russia adopted an attitude diametrically opposite to that which she had now assumed.

The Foreign Secretary said the American and British governments, during these discussions, held identical views. He believed that in regard to all these points, the two governments had been eye to eye and that their diplomacy had been directed toward the accomplishment of the same ends.

Lord Lansdowne outlined the subjects for discussion which Secretary Hay's note of invitation proposed, and pointed out that it would be impossible now to enumerate all the subjects which at the proper moment might be selected, but when the time came probably all the matters which recently were under discussion would go before the conference to which the American government invited the powers.

In conclusion, Lord Lansdowne said that among other subjects which it was most desirable to discuss was the danger from floating mines, the new and terrible development of modern warfare. In fact, it was very desirable that a general agreement should be reached among the powers on all points raised. Feeling that everything should be done to restrict the area of belligerent operations and minimize the inconvenience of those directly and indirectly affected, the government cordially welcomed the initiative of the United States, and at the proper time would gladly associate itself with the government of the United States in dealing with these important questions. The Secretary shared the hope that the time was not far distant when they might address themselves to this most humane and most honorable task.

BEEF MEN INDICTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, April 13.—Four men, three of whom are employés of the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Company, and the other an attorney for that corporation, were named in an indictment returned this afternoon by the grand jury, which is investigating the beef trust. It is charged that the four men obstructed and impeded Deputy Marshal A. A. Bach in his effort to serve a subpoena upon Edwin B. Fish, a clerk employed by the company, who recently returned from Canada.

The men indicted are Joseph Wessenbach, attorney for the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Company; B. S. Cusey, traffic manager for the company; George D. Hopkins, auditor for the company; Leo S. Joseph, employé in the provision department ofthe concern.

The men were taken into custody shortly after the return of the indictments ,and were released on bonds of $1000 in each case.

TARIFF REFORMERS MEET.

LONDON, April 13.—The members of Parliament in favor of tariff reform held a meeting today in the House of Commons, under the presidency of Joseph Chamberlain, and unanimously adopted a statement expressing the views of the reformers. Joseph Chamberlain was appointed to present the statement to Premier Balfour. This was the official report given after the meeting, which was private. Those present are said to have pledged themselves not to disclose the terms of the statement. It is understood, however, that it suggests a compromise.

Real Estate Dealers.

The tremendous volume of classified real estate advertisements now being regularly printed in the Sunday Times makes it necessary to ask patrons to get in their "Liner" copy as early as possible. Real estate dealers, especially, would confer a favor by turning in what advertising for Sunday they can get ready on Friday nights, and the balance by Saturday noon; 11 p.m. Saturday nights is the latest hour that classified announcements will be received, either over the counter by phone

VENEZUELA.

HIS TROUBLE LIES AHEAD.

Castro's Attitude Toward the Foreign Debts Alarms.

Bad Book-keeping Among Southern Republics.

Gen. Velutini Appeals to the French Sympathy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A dispatch from Washington announces that Secretary Taft will allow the Venezuela incident to close itself. The question has been one of great interest here, owing to the fact that large quantities of asphalt were shipped to this city by the Bermudez Asphalt Company, prior to the seizure of the property by the Venezuelan government on the ground that the Bermudez Company had aided revolutionists. The belief is quite general here that the company did go out of its way to aid Castro's enemies, and now that President Roosevelt has been made acquainted with the facts as they are, Venezuela will be left severely alone, as far as dealing with the asphalt company is concerned. Under the terms of the concession, the company must abide by the decision of the Venezuelan courts, which now has the whole case under consideration.

The real trouble ahead lies in Castro's attitude toward foreign debts. It is widely believed that the South American States generally have been inveigled into signing away huge concessions to foreigners, who have operated much as do bulls and bears in Wall street. Government heads, probably corrupt themselves, have been induced to sign obligations for which the country proper never received any real benefit. This, it is said, is especially true in Venezuela. On paper, Venezuela and other governments have been wheedled into signing away millions because of the gross ignorance, incompetence and corruption of temporary rulers.

GEN VELUTINI'S APPEAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, April 13.—Gen. Velutini, the Venezuelan fiscal agent, in the course of an interview published today, appeals to the public opinion of France in behalf of the course adopted by President Castro. He says the French Cable Company seeks to substitute force, through government intervention, for the usual procedure of the Venezuelan courts, and asserts that Venezuela's action against various foreign companies is due to their not fulfilling their engagement and lending support to the revolutionists.

"What would France say," Gen Velutini asks, "if she detected foreign accomplices of the plotters against the security of the State?"

CURZON BUYS "DURBAR."

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From a department store in this city, Lord Curzon has bought Verestchagin's historical oil painting, "Durbar," and has had it shipped to Calcutta. He will give it to the largest art museum in India. The Indian Viceroy asked Secretary of State John Hay to buy the picture for him, and Secretary Hay turned the commission over to John F. Weir of the Yale Art School, himself a painter of note. Prof. Weir has been in correspondence with Walter E. Malley, the department-store owner, for weeks, and the price was last week agreed upon. Rumor here places the price at $25,000.

FOX AFTER ROCKEFELLER.

Dr. Andrew N. Fox, professor of Biblical languages and literature in the German Institute of the Chicago Theological Seminary and a graduate of the University of Chicago, is not afraid of what Dr. Washington Gladden calls "tainted money." He thinks that churches and schools ought not to examine too closely, the sources from which their endowments come, and today he sent a telegram to John D. Rockefeller asking him for an endowment for two professorships at the institute. Dr. Fox has been asked to solicit money for the institute, and contends that request as giving him discretion to raise the money as he saw fit. Following is the telegram which he sent to the oil king:

"John D. Rockefeller, New York

SALT RIVER THREATENING.

High Water is a Menace to Irrigation System.

Railroad Bridges South of Phoenix Crippled.

Adolph Weber Sentenced to be Hanged June 30.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) April 13.—Continued high water in Salt River today caused what may prove a disaster to this valley, in a financial way, through crippling of the irrigation system. This morning, a break in the Arizona canal dam was noticed at about the center and all day long it kept widening on the side toward the head gate. At last report, the breach was 250 feet wide, and still growing. It is a pile-and-plank structure. The break had no effect on the river, as it was purely a diversion, not a storage dam. The strain on it has been terrific, as there has been a continuous flow of from six inches to seven and one-half feet ever since January 16. Gila River is at a standstill and not alarming, though high.

Phoenix is now entirely without railroad communication, south. This afternoon, at 4:30, the Maricopa and Phoenix Railroad bridge over Salt River at Tempe, was crippled by the washing away of piles. About thirty feet was gone at last advice. This break is not serious, but the water is fully as high as during any previous flood this year, and so may do further damage. Though the bridge seems to stand as firmly as ever, surrounding conditions are suggestive of danger to the structure. The Phoenix and Eastern bridge, at Tempe, which was crippled a couple of days ago, cannot be repaired 'till there is some receding of the flood.

The water is eating away considerable farming land along the river. Lumber Cave Creek flood is working its way toward Phoenix, but it is believed it will be kept out of town by the newly-constructed embankment along the Salt River Valley Canal, as was the flood water of yesterday morning.

YOUNG WEBER SENTENCED.

MURDERER TO HANG JUNE 30.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

AUBURN, April 13.—Adolph Weber was today sentenced to be hanged June 30 for the murder of his mother. Attorneys made a motion for a new trial, and introduced a number of affidavits, including one from the jury, relating to evidence given and alleged errors during the trial. Judge denied the motion. The prisoner was then directed to deliver himself into the custody of the warden of the state. Attorney Tuttle asked for a execution order to allow Weber to remain in jail here, pending perfecting of appeal, and it was granted. Thirty days were also granted in which to prepare the statement.

During the afternoon, the statement was made by Tuttle that the agreement to settle the bank case was off, owing to a hitch in the negotiations; and, as a motion for a change of venue would be made, he desired the matter of trial April 18, settled, so as to notify the witness. It was decided by consent that April 18, new date for the trial would be set.

REGRET WINE ON EXHIBITION.

METHODISTS FRAME MEMORIAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—At a session of the conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, today the Committee on Temperance and Sabbath Observance made its report, in which, as a special matter, it recommended that the presiding elder and the secretary of this district conference be requested to sign officially and forward to the Governor of the State of California, Hon. George C. Pardee, commissioner of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, the following:

"We have the deepest regret that the appropriation of money for the California exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition was unduly taken advantage of for the exploitation of wines and liquors, and having heard that the California building at the Lewis and Clark Exposition is likely to be used for retailing the choice vintages of wine on exhibition there, we earnestly protest against such a course, not only on moral grounds, but as likely to repel the class of home-seekers we are most anxious to attract to this State."

The report was unanimously adopted.

HOPPER-DUNSMUIR CASE.

DAVIS REFUTED CHARGES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) April 13.—In the Hopper-Dunsmuir case today, E. P. Davis, for the defendant, refuted the charges by E. V. Bodwell, and Sir Charles Tupper, for the plaintiff and intervenor, respectively, that the witness Lowe had been bought by the defendant to give evidence. Davis said the plaintiff's counsel represented that Lowe, who witnessed the will, had stated that he did not know it was a will at the time of the trial; but, on being taken back into the Dunsmuir employment, altered his statement. Davis wanted the statement made by Lowe in December, 1902, long before the trial, that he knew the document to be a will, stand.

Several hours were spent by Davis in describing the signing of the will and reviewing the evidence in that regard.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

REDDING, April 13.—Dist.-Atty. Dozier has definitely decided to refuse to resign his office, and will decline the appointment as Superior Judge by the Governor. The Supervisors, who assembled to appoint Dozier's successor, have gone to their homes.

Hold Rhodes Scholarship Officially.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 13.—H. A. Moran, a senior in the Greek department, has been officially declared the holder of the Rhodes scholarship from California for this year by the chairman of the committee which has charge of the Oxford examinations.

Mexican Dollar's Value Increases.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Collector Stratton has received a notice from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Reynolds that the value of the Mexican dollar for all customs purposes will be increased on and after May 1 from 47.7 cents to 49.8 cents, on account of the adoption of the gold basis by the southern republic.

Murdered Sicilian Remains Buried.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The remains of Biaggio Villardo, the murdered Sicilian, were buried today from an undertaking establishment in the Latin quarter. His brother, Chrispino, and three other Italians, were the only mourners. Pietro Tortudici, for whom the police are looking, in connection with the assassination, is still at large.

Neighbors Stop Deadly Fight.

FRESNO, April 13.—Bertat Bruno and Lignor de Luca, two Italian boot-blacks, one with an ax and the other using a shotgun as a club, were interrupted late last night in a fight that would have been to the death had they been left alone. Both men were bleeding profusely. Neighbors rushed into the house where they lived together and separated them.

Witness Merrill Under Bonds.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Presiding Judge Lawlor of the Superior Court today ordered that Charles E. Merrill, the principal witness for the prosecution in the case against Frank A. Maestretti, president of the Municipal Board of Public Works, now under indictment for subordination of perjury, be held in $3000 bail not to leave the jurisdiction of the court before giving his evidence against the accused official.

Both Fires Thought Incendiary.

JACKSON, April 13.—A fire on two successive nights, Monday and Tuesday, in a frame building in the rear of the main street, has aroused suspicion and excitement. It is believed both fires were of incendiary origin. No wind and a strong head of water saved the town from disastrous consequences. Both fires were practically in the same spot. The damage is about $4000, with $2000 insurance. The phootgraph gallery of G. C. McMillan is a total loss.

More New Judges Appointed.

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—Gov. Pardee today appointed Assemblyman William H. Waste of Berkeley to succeed S. P. Hall as a judge of the Superior Court of Alameda county, and Lewis G. Herrier of Vallejo to succeed A. J. Buckles, as a judge of the Superior Court of Solano county. Judge Hall and Judge Buckles were appointed several days ago to be judges of the new District Court of Appeals, and Waste and Herrier were appointed to fill the vacancies thus created.

Have Mapped Pinnacles Section.

SAN JOSE, April 13.—Geologists E. P. Carey of the San José High School, and Dr. F. W. Fairbanks of Berkeley have just returned from a trip to the famous Pinnacle region in San Benito county, where they mapped out the country, collected many geological specimens and took 150 photographs. They will spend some months there this summer, and publish the result of their investigations. The proposition to make the Pinnacles section a national park will come up before the next Congress.

Both Drown in Shallow Ditch.

FRESNO, April 13.—Death came to a child of 2 years and to a man of 76 years yesterday afternoon near Selma coincidentally. Both were drowned in a ditch, in water not over six inches in depth. The infant was Richard Sturgon, son of G. B. Sturgon, a rancher, and the old man was John L. Smith. The baby fell into a ditch and was found dead, face downward, in the shallow water. But a quarter of a mile away, Smith was found. While sitting on the ditch bank he was taken with a slight attack of paralysis, and, on account of his weakness, was unable to save himself.

Phoenix Business Man Indicted.

PHOENIX (Ariz.,) April 13.—P. K. Hickey, one of the best know business men in Phoenix, formerly conducting a private banking institution, was indicted today on a charge of misusing over $900 belonging to Miss Nellie Walton, which, it is claimed, was left with him for investment. He gave a bond and was released. The indictment created a sensation, though the transaction was no secret. Hickey claims he has done nothing unwarranted by law.

Tonopah Death Rate Not Alarming.

TONOPAH(Nev.,) April 13.—There has been a heavy, but not alarming, death rate lately, and a citizens' committee was organized to take measures to combat sickness. A fund of $1900 was contributed in a short time. The statements made that the deaths were due to adulterated whisky, and that as a result there was talk of lynching, are denied.

Wright and Emmons in Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, May 13.—Ell Wright and E. J. Emmons, two of the expelled State Senators, arrived in Sacramento tonight. They and Frank French have been summoned to appear before Judge Hart Saturday morning to have the date set for their trials on charge of accepting bribes. The trial of Harry Bunkers, the remaining member of the quartette, has been set for next Monday, at which time it is expected that the impanelment of a jury will begin.

HILL TO INCREASE NORTHERN STOCK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bonds aggregating $790,000,000—the greatest railroad issue ever made—must be marketed by the Union Pacific to consummate its merger with the New York Central system and the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad, according to the details of the underwriting made public today for the first time.

The consolidation will produce the greatest railroad system in the world with the greatest capital. Its total of stocks and bonds will be greater than the national debt of the United States. There is not enough money in the United States to pay cash for the capitalized value of the system.

The total mileage of the system will be 36,244, or enough to go around the world almost twice at the latitude of New York. The plan of the consolidation is all underwritten, and the promoters are merely waiting for a favorable time to announce the consummation of the scheme.

NEW YORK, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In connection with the advance of five points from 169¼ to 174¼ in Northern Securities stock today, it is announced in quarters largely interested in the company that much of the enhancement of the value of the stock is due to the plan which Hill has practically ready for execution to increase the stock of the Great Northern Railway by at least 50 per cent. and perhaps 100 per cent., the stock at present being $124,000,000.

This increased stock will, according to this statement, be offered to the stockholders of the Great Northern at par, and such plan goes far to explain the rise of the Great Northern to its recent price of $326 a share.

Northern Securities stockholders will receive a proportion of the Great Northern stock in the distribution of the assets of the Northern Securities Company, and the offering of Great Northern stock, therefore, at par would add to the Northern Securities' present value.

SANTA FE DEPARTMENTS.

TWO NEW DEPARTURES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The Santa Fé system announces the establishment of two new departments that are a radical departure in railroad service on the Pacific Coast.

The first is a department to look after the rapidly-increasing trans-Pacific business, and W. R. Alberger has been appointed foreign freight agent in charge of the same.

The second is an Industrial Bureau, in charge of F. W. McDonald as industrial commissioner. This department is to encourage and increase the location in Northern California of manufacturing establishments, and all other industrial enterprises. Alberger has been chief clerk of the traffic department at San Francisco for the past six years, and McDonald has been traveling freight agent at Los Angeles.

DISTRIBUTIVE RATES.

REVISION IS RECOMMENDED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) April 13.—It is announced that combined efforts of the heavy shippers of Portland, Tacoma and Seattle, through the organization of the North Pacific Jobbers' and Manufacturers' Association, has resulted in recognition by the railroads of the justice of the demands made for revision of distributive rates.

Reductions, to become effective in about two months, have been promised by the traffic representatives of transcontinental lines, as follows: On first and second class, about 10 per cent.; third class, unchanged; fourth class, about 2 per cent., and fifth class about 15 per cent.

RAILROAD FROM THE DALLES.

TRUST DEED FOR $5,000,000.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) April 13.—A railroad south from near The Dalles, Or., to San Francisco and north through the State of Washington is contemplated. A trust deed was filed this afternoon with the county auditor for $5,000,000, the parties being the Washington Trust Company and the Great Southern Railroad Company. In consideration of the issuance of bonds, the trust company obtains a mortgage of the proposed road and its equipment.

John Heimrich and Julius I. Meier of Portland signed the instrument as president and secretary of the railway company and J. W. Cline and M. D. Barnes represented the trust company.

NAN PATTERSON IN COURT.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Nan Patterson was brought into the court of General Sessions today by her own consent to plead to a charge of conspiracy to get money from "Caesar" Young, the bookmaker. She is accused of having conspired with J. Morgan Smith and his wife, Miss Patterson's sister, to extort money from the dead bookmaker. The court ordered that her plea to the charge be put over until Friday. She will be placed on trial next Monday on the charge of having murdered Young. Counsel for J. Morgan Smith and his wife asked the court to order the District Attorney to return the letters confiscated from the Smiths at Cincinnati, declaring Rand had no right to them. The court decided that formal notice be given to the District Attorney.

WASHINGTON.

LOW RATES ON ISTHMUS.

Government Control Will Aid Shippers Materially.

Number of Steamships Will be Increased.

Savages Kill American Seaman—Belgian Invite.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A meeting of the Panama Railroad Company will be held in New York next Monday, at which Chairman Shonts of the Isthmian Canal Commission will be elected president of the railway company, and that property will, as a result of the election, pass, along with its steamship lines, absolutely into the control of the United States, which is regarded by many persons in Washington as being a very important step in the regulation of all transcontinental freight and passenger rates.

It is announced at the War Department that once the government takes control of the Panama Railroad and steamship lines, the road's route be opened to all shippers of freight and all passenger traffic at prices sufficient to pay operating expenses, maintenance and enough to allow for the creation of a small sinking fund. Of course, on the Pacific end of the water haul the route will be, until July 12, under control of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, by reason of the exclusive contract which that company has with the Panama Railway Company. On the Atlantic end of the water haul, however, the government will take immediate control and put its full fleet of nine steamships into operation. Heretofore, only four steamers have been operated between the isthmus and New York.

The practical result of this is that, beginning soon after next Monday night, there will be in operation between New York and San Francisco and, therefore, between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, a government-controlled, and practically government-owned freight and passenger route, that will be thrown open to all shippers upon equal terms and at a freight rate that absolutely eliminates all dividends. The estimate now is that the New York-San Francisco freight rate will be, by the new route, about $4 per ton, as against something like $9 per ton now charged by the transcontinental railroads. Similarly, the passenger rate will be cut from about $115 to something like one-half of that sum.

The capacity of the route for doing business is limited, but when the Panama Railroad is double-tracked, as it is announced it will be soon, a very large volume of business can be handled. A large number of railroad men have been in Washington within the last few days, and express the fear that the result of opening the new government-controlled route will be to disadvantage to a great extent all transcontinental rates.

AMERICAN SEAMEN KILLED.

SHIPWRECKED IN FORMOSA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Botel Tobago savages in Formosa caused the death of eight members of the crew of the American ship Benjamin Sewall and treated other members of the crew in a cruel manner, when the ship was wrecked in Formosan waters some time ago.

The story is told in official correspondence received at the State Department today. When the Japanese government's attention was called to the incident, it replied that the government of Formosa would "efficiently and strictly censure the savages, and will warn them not to repeat such misconduct again in the future." Mr. Loomis, the Acting Secretary of State, promptly directed the American Minister at Tokio to say to the Japanese government that "something more impressive than censure may suggest itself to the mind of that government."

The Japanese government accordingly adopted punitive measures, but found great difficulty in executing them intelligently, because they could not make the natives understand for what they were being punished. This government then suggested that several of the native chiefs known to have been implicated in the incident be imprisoned until some of the Formosan officials could master their dialect, and make them understand why they were being punished.

BELGIUM'S INVITE.

CONGRESS ON CIVILIZATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Through the Belgian Minister at Washington, Baron Moncheur, the Belgian government has formally invited this government to send an official delegation to participate in an international congress at Mons, Belgium, beginning September 25, at which the following topics will be discussed: "Commercial and technical education, science of statistics, political economy, customs tariffs, navigation, colonization, diplomatic and consular service and in general means of promoting commerce and civilization."

The invitation to the government has been supplemented by a circular note to the universities and colleges of America and to all institutions and persons interested in the study of economics to attend the congress, and informing them that the Belgian legation at Washington is preparing to furnish them with full particulars.

POSTOFFICE PROMOTIONS.

MEN OF LOWER GRADES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Postmaster-General Cortelyou is preparing to call on the postmasters of the country for annual recommendations for promotions of postoffice clerks. There will be 3200 promotions in pay this year, which is less than allowed last year. The reduction is due to the cut in the 1905 appropriation for clerk hire. It is announced that the recommendations of postmasters will be accepted in all cases, unless it appears that undue favoritism is shown.

Postmasters will be advised of the number of clerks that can be promoted in each class, and they will be expected to limit the list accordingly. Preference is to be given to men in the lower grades. Last year more than 5000 promotions were made. The new salaries will go into effect July 1.

GATHERING AT WASHINGTON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Railroad officials, general managers and attorneys are gathering in this city for the hearing which will begin next Monday before the Senate committee. No plan has been announced except that the railroads will supposedly be heard first, and while the shippers have already presented their views at considerable length before Congressional committees, they will take another chance to be heard to give their position the fullest publicity. The railroad line of attack is against the bestowal of rate-making power upon any government tribunal. Short of this point they are ready to compromise with the shipping interests.

It is proposed to invite before the committee certain of the delegates from European countries, who will be in attendance on the International Railway Congress, to tell something of the system of rate regulation abroad, and how far the government intervenes in this particular.

Kirkman of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, stationed at Fort Niobrara, Neb. After the record has been reviewed at the War Department, the case will be submitted to the President for final action.

OUTGROWING ITS SIMPLICITY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHARLOTTESVILLE (Va.) April 13.—Dr. Edward Anderson Alderman was installed president of the University of Virginia today.

Unusual interest attached to the event, as it marked the first change in the governmental policy of the institution, established by Thomas Jefferson and to which the famous statesman devoted the latter period of his life. Jeffersonian simplicity in the government of the institution did not contemplate a president. Jefferson wrote into his charter that the government should be administered by a board of regents, a chairman for which should be annually elected from among the professors. Along these lines, the University of Virginia grew to its place as a potent factor among the higher institutions of learning of the South. The recent development of the university has rendered its efficient administration impracticable under the old methods, and the change is made to meet the larger demands.

Dr. Alderman is a native of Wilmington, N. C. He has devoted his life to educational work.

JEALOUS WIFE KILLS RIVAL.

Spouse of Colorado Newspaper Man Puts Bullet in Breast of Woman Found With Her Husband.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) April 13.—A special to the Telegraph from Cripple Creek, Colo., says: Mrs. S. W. Vidler, wife of a newspaper man, shot and instantly killed Mrs. H. C. Douglass of Colorado Springs in the National Hotel this morning. Jealousy is supposed to be the cause.

Mrs. Vidler rapped on the door of a room in which were Vidler and Mrs. Douglass. Vidler opened the door. His wife entered and immediately shot Mrs. Douglass in the breast. Vidler and his wife were arrested. They have not been living together of late. After the shooting Mrs. Vidler became hysterical and bewailed her act. She was released on a bond of $5000. No charge was made against her husband. He was set free this afternoon.

Mrs. Douglass was about 32 years old. She had lived in Denver and Colorado Springs during the last eight months and had been in Cripple Creek but a few days.

Knife Work Winds up a Break o' Day Ragtime in a New York Red-eye Resort.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—One man was killed and two others received severe injuries early today in a saloon brawl at No. 51 West Thirty-first street. The dead man is Roy Joyce, bartender. The wounded are John Doyle, one of the proprietors; and Weston a waiter.

A party of eight men and one woman seated at a table became disorderly and were refused service. They refused to leave and a waiter removed the table. One of the men drew a knife and began cutting right and left. Joyce received injuries which quickly proved fatal. Many of the participants had fled when the police arrived. Among those who escaped was the man who did the cutting. Two women are said to have been at the bottom of the trouble. William E. Guiney, one of the proprietors; and four waiters have been arrested as witnesses. They declare that no weapons were used by them, and that whatever they did during the struggle was done in self-defense.

Mr. Godfrey now hopes to be able, even at the busiest hours, to give to his patrons better service than ever before.

Real Estate Dealers.

The tremendous volume of classified real estate advertisements now being regularly printed in the Sunday Times makes it necessary to ask patrons to get in their "Liner" copy as early as possible. Real estate dealers, especially, would confer a favor by turning in what advertising for Sunday they can get ready on Friday nights, and the balance by Saturday noon. If you Saturday nights is the latest time that classified announcements will be received, unless at the counter or by phone.

LABOR.

THUGS HOLD UP TRAFFIC.

Chicago Strikers Talk Peace and Use Clubs.

Employers Refuse to Treat With the Union.

Dunne Leads Another Forlorn Hope to Defeat.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, April 13.—Mayor Dunne today again endeavored to effect peace between the contending sides in the present labor troubles in Chicago, but at the end of the day, after several conferences with the labor leaders and representatives of the employers, the situation was unchanged. Mayor Dunne tonight, however, was more hopeful of peace, as the result of his efforts, and the peace negotiations will be continued tomorrow, with the hope that the barrier now preventing a settlement will be removed, and that the parties to the controversy will agree to confer and accept the intervention of the Mayor. The labor leaders declared today that they were willing to meet the employers, but the latter declined the proposed conference, and Mayor Dunne was forced to meet the opposing elements separately.

While the peace negotiations were in progress today, Montgomery Ward & Co., continued to make deliveries, with non-union teamsters. The service was interrupted, however, by the strikers and their sympathizers, who blocked the streets, making it almost impossible for the caravans, under the protection of platoons of police, to pass through the streets. In several instances, the crowds became so demonstrative that it was necessary for the police to use their clubs, and several of the disturbers were hurt. During one of the attacks on the strike breakers, three non-union men were seriously hurt and it was necessary for the police to make several arrests before the crowds could be dispersed.

Should the efforts of Mayor Dunne to bring about an amicable settlement of the strike fail, it is said tonight that the employers will form a comprehensive teaming company of their own, in order to carry on their business, should the strike spread. The new concern, it is asserted, will include most of the business firms threatened by a spread of the strike and will be for the purpose of presenting a solid and compact opposition to the union teamsters, should they decide to extend the sympathetic strike. It was said tonight that this new company would be in working order by tomorrow night.

SCENES OF VIOLENCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, April 13.—Montgomery Ward & Co., today started out more wagons than on any previous day since the teamsters for the firm quit work. The police guards with the wagons were still heavy, but not so numerous as on previous days. Eighteen loaded trucks were sent out simultaneously from the firm's headquarters to the various railroad freight houses. A caravan of three wagons bound for the Northwestern freight house was stopped at Kinsey-street bridge. Heavy planks had been placed across the structure at right angles, and laced into the trusses in such a manner that the planks could not be removed except by sawing.

The union men declared they were ready to end the trouble if Ward & Co. would reinstate the nineteen garment workers who struck. The Employers' Association, however, held that the garment workers' troubles have nothing to do with this controversy, and insisted that the teamsters must carry out contracts with members of the association. Montgomery Ward & Co. took the stand that the places of the nineteen garment workers, who went out on strike have been filled, and that the strikers cannot be reinstated.

A concerted movement to deliver goods to the house of Montgomery Ward & Co., was planned for this afternoon. It was arranged that 100 wagons belonging to the members of the Employers' Association should move in a cavalcade to the proscribed house, in defiance of the striking drivers and their sympathizers.

Charles Stubner, a non-union driver for a piano house, was the cause of a clash between police and strike sympathizers this afternoon. He was assaulted, while delivering a load of piano stools to Montgomery Ward & Co., dragged from his wagon and pounced upon. Policeman dispersed the strikers and chased them to near Madison and State streets. There a mob hemmed in the police and in a minute the whole thoroughfare was blocked with people and teams. A coal wagon forcing its way through the crowd, toppled over a cab, throwing out a woman passenger. The crowd surged up and down, trampling each other and knocking down a dozen women, whose screams added to the excitement. Two police officers were injured, and William Stiles, one of the attacking mob, suffered a fractured skull. Fully 5000 persons were in the crowd, many of them women and children.

Sam Hoover Finds Something Better Than Gold Mines.

There is no happier man in this whole wide world today than Sam A. Hoover of Greensboro, N. C., who is receiving the congratulations of his friends upon his fortunate find of something better than gold mines or oil wells. Mr. Hoover in a letter to a friend in Los Angeles writes:

"Three months ago I was greatly distressed by nasal catarrh and entire deafness in the right ear. The labor of hawking and scraping to get my throat and nasal passages free from the foul secretions deposited there, might be about equal to that of a six-mule team with a road scraper to get the earth from the roadside to the center.

"I purchased an outfit of Hyomei and Hyomei balm, and as a result of its use my head, throat and nasal passages are all free from secretions of any sort, only as Nature designed, and my hearing in both ears is nearly as acute as it ever was."

There is no disagreeable stomach dosing in using Hyomei; just breathe it, and its pure fragrance will kill the catarrhal germs in the head, throat and lungs. Hyomei balm used in connection with Hyomei will cure the worst cases of catarrhal deafness.

The complete outfit costs but $1, and extra bottles are only 50 cents.

Druggists everywhere are authorized to refund the money should a Hyomei outfit and one extra bottle fail to afford relief. If the druggist from whom you bought does not care to do this mail the inhaler to the R. T. Booth Co., Ithaca, N. Y., and they will refund the money at once. Mail orders for Hyomei promptly filled on receipt of price.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

[The Times freely publishes the views of correspondents without holding itself responsible for writers' opinions. Be brief, write plainly, state clearly. The space of 250 words, on the same subject, is sufficient for the expression of an average, is sufficient for the expression of an idea.]

The Fame of a Man.

LOS ANGELES, April 12, 1906.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Forty-two niches await occupancy in the Hall of Fame, New York's mausoleum for the perpetuating of American celebrities, both native born and such as first saw light of day on foreign soil; and Chancellor McCracken of the University of New York has nominated men and women throughout this land to act as a board of election to name the occupants of the aforesaid forty-two niches.

It cannot be presumptuous to assume that at least one of these niches will be allotted to California. The question then arises, who shall be called her favorite son? Fame is such a facile crown, there is hardly a head it will not fit or a brow it will not adorn, when heads are seen and brows are viewed through faction's varying lens. Though given no set of rules to work by, Chancellor McCracken's election board is called upon to define Fame in forty-two different ways—for it lies inside the bounds of certitude that no two of its elected will be of the selfsame mould. Then many indeed are the eligible heads upon any one of which the coronet of California might descend.

A thousand could be named, but by way of tentative suggestion a selected few will suffice. There, for instance, is Bill Herrin of San Francisco. Surely the people of all the State would pay the bill for a nobby statuette of him in snowy marble to emblemize the sanctity of the ballot in this sovereign State. On its pallid base in letters of living gold should be inscribed: "He never stole a vote—He always paid." Then there is Walter F. X. Parker; his bust would typify fidelity. Oh, yes—and Spook Howton, to represent the spineless cactus, which, transplanted, yields the flower of perennial amusement. A statuette of Dr. John R. Haynes, with swelling breast and parted lips, would indicate at once the development of versatility and undoubted profundity in the Golden State, with a scroll of manuscript in one hand bearing the legend: "He never missed an opportunity—to talk." Or how would a mud cast of Tim Fennessy do, memorializing the idea that in one favored section of this splendid commonwealth union labor fainted in the arms of discouraged anarchy after having long butted its head against a stone wall? But no! there is a greater yet than all these—a native son, William Randolph Hearst; on him let the crown of fame be placed, of him let the bust be made, one marble arm around a wanton's neck, to illustrate his past, the other outflung to grasp the people's greatest gift, to indicate his deathless self-esteem; and let the inscription read: "His was the nerve sublime."

THE FORTY-THIRD.

Mr. Rockefeller's Gifts—An Ingenious Defense.

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I notice, in late issue of The Times, that the gift of $1,000,000 by Mr. Rockefeller, to the Congregationalists has been finally accepted. This action should be commended, rather than condemned. Admitting that the money might have been acquired illegally (which cannot be substantiated, as to this particular case), that much money, abstracted from a corrupted pool, and diverted to humane purposes, weakens the power of evil, just to the extent of amount given. Had not this money better be used for good than evil purposes? Cleaning Mr. Rockefeller to a devil fish, or octopus, from whose body runs out innumerable tentacles, to draw in riches from all to whom they reach, the reception of this gift, to advance the cause of enlightenment of the human race is the lopping off of one of the vicious tentacles of mischief and wrong. The money thus received will still, probably, in lessening the power of this gigantic monopoly. It is understood that Mr. Rockefeller has already given another $100,000 to the Baptist Church recently, and, before that, gifts to church and college of a million or more. This money, used properly, will do much good, and, if it was acquired wrongfully, it will do much to atone for former misdeeds. He may have been convinced of the scripture aphorism, that "it is more blessed to give than to receive," and thus has opened the floodgates of charity that good may be evolved out of evil.

JIGGERS WITH "FIGGERS."

Barkeeper at Lankershim's Expensive Liquor Dispensary Grows Pensive Over the Profits.

Manager Fryman, proprietor of the $222.33 bar at that caravansary by grace of the Police Commission, and because of his reckless abandon as a bidder for the license privilege, pulled the cut-glass stopper from the first decanter of liquor to pass over his new bar.

It is the first liquor establishment in Los Angeles from which the city has received a bonus in addition to the regular bar license. The privilege would have cost the hotel management $6500 if they had bowed to the demands of the "liquor license trust."

"Do you realize," queried the white-aproned barkeeper in a pensive moment, "that exactly 22,222 drinks at 15 cents each must pass over this mahogany before the management will have received the amount it has paid the city for the right to hold a license? But that does not represent the situation, by a long shot. The amount thus received, of course, is not clear gain. Rent, running expenses, the cost of stock, the regular license fee of $900 per year and other expenses must be considered.

"To say the profit on each drink is 7½ cents—that would mean 44,444 drinks must be sold to make up the $3333.33.

"At a profit of 6 cents, the bottle and glass would have to clink 55,555 times, and with the margin at 5 cents we would have to be 66,666 clinks. But go a little further and admit that the gain is only 4½ cents, there would have to sell 77,777 drinks. Now, the portions of various patrons are greatly wise, from the 'gentleman's drink' to the other kind, which sometimes is nearly a glass full. This would reduce the margin of profit to 3 cents a glass, of which 33,333 would have to be sold to pay the city its fee.

"If an exceptionally fine quality of wine should be handled, permitting a profit of only 2 1-3 cents on each drink, the total would reach 99,999, and it would take to see that a net return of 2 cents on each portion would require the sale of 111,111 highballs or cocktails.

"But for the sake of showing you how carefully I have worked this thing out, we will suppose that the profit is only 1½ cents a drink—there you have the handsome array of 222,222 sales to register, or at a 1-cent profit, 333,333 separate and distinct allotments that Mr. Cooper, the lessee of the bar, was pleased to term 'sorrow.'"

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Fame of a Man.

LOS ANGELES, April 12, 1905.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Forty-two niches await occupancy in the Hall of Fame, New York's mausoleum for the perpetuating of American celebrities, both native born and such as first saw light of day on foreign soil; and Chancellor McCracken of the University of New York has stimulated men and women throughout Uncle Sam's land to act as a board of election to name the occupants of the aforesaid forty-two niches.

It cannot be presumptuous to assume that at least one of these niches will be allotted to California. The question then arises, who shall be called her favorite son? Fame is such a facile crown, there is hardly a head it will not fit or a brow it will not adorn, when beads are seen and brows are viewed through faction's varying lens. Though given no set of rules to work by, Chancellor McCracken's election board is called upon to define Fame in forty-two different ways—for it lies inside the bounds of certitude that no two of its elected will be of the self-same mould. Then many indeed are the eligible heads upon any one of which the coronet of California might descend.

A thousand could be named, but by way of tentative suggestion a selected few will suffice. There, for instance, is Bill Herrin of San Francisco. Surely the people of all the State would pay the bill for a nobby statuette of him in snowy marble to emblemize the sanctity of the ballot in this sovereign State. On its pallid base in letters of living gold should be inscribed: "He never stole a vote—He always paid." Then there is Walter F. X. Parker; his bust would typify Folly. Oh, yes—and Spook Howton, to represent the spineless cactus, which, cultivated, yields the flower of parental amusement. A statuette of Dr. John R. Haynes, with swelling chest and parted lips, would indicate at once the development of versatility and undoubted profundity in the Golden State, with a scroll of manuscript in one hand bearing the legend: "He never missed an opportunity—to talk." Or how would a mud cast of Tom Feaussy do, memorializing the fact that in one favored section of this splendid commonwealth union labor found in the arms of discouraged anarchy after having long butted its head against a stone wall? But no! there is a spoiler yet than all these—a native son, William Randolph Hearst; on him let the crown of fame be placed, of gold let the bust be made, one marble hand around a wanton's neck, to illustrate his past, the other outflung to show the people's greatest gift, to indicate his deathless self-esteem; and the inscription read: "His was the guiding line."

THE FORTY-THIRD.

Rockefeller's Gifts—An Ingenious Defense.

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I notice, in late news from Boston, that the gift made by Mr. Rockefeller, to the Humanists has been finally accepted. Such action should be commended rather than condemned. Admitting that the money might have been secured illegally (which cannot be demonstrated, as to this particular gift), that much money, abstracted from a corrupted pool, and diverted to good purposes, weakens the power for evil, but to the extent of amount given. Had not this money better be used for good than evil purposes? Blaming Mr. Rockefeller to a devil fish, the octopus, from whose body runs out innumerable tentacles, to draw in unto him all to whom they reach, with the exception of this gift, to advance the cause of enlightenment of the human race is the lopping off of one of the vicious tentacles of mischief and wrong. The money thus received will go, probably, in lessening the power of this gigantic monopoly. It is understood that Mr. Rockefeller has already given another $100,000 to the Baptist Church recently, and, before that, gifts to church and college of a million or more. This money, used properly, will do much good, and, if it was acquired unrightly, it will do much to atone for former misdeeds. He may have been convinced of the scripture aphorism that "it is more blessed to give than to receive," and thus has opened the floodgates of charity that good may be wrought out of evil.

JOGGERS WITH "FIGGERS."

Schemer at Lankershim's Expensive Liquor Dispensary Grows Pensive Over the Profits.

Manager Prygam, proprietor of the BIJOU bar at that caravansary by the side of the Police Commission, and partner of his reckless abandon as a joker for the license privilege, pulled the anti-glum stopper from the first bottle of liquor to pass over his new bar.

It is the first liquor establishment in Los Angeles from which the city has received a bonus in addition to the regular license. The privilege would cost the hotel management $6500 and had bowed to the demands of the "liquor license trust."

"Do you realize," queried the white-aproned barkeeper in a pensive monotone, "that exactly 22,222 drinks at 15 cents must pass over this mahogany before the management will have received the amount it has paid the city for the right to hold a license? Of course that does not represent the situation by a long shot. The amount received, of course, is not clear profit, running expenses, the cost of the regular license fee of $900 and other expenses must be counted.

"Say the profit on each drink is 7½ cents—that would mean 44,444 drinks to be sold to make up the $3333.33 profit.

"At a profit of 6 cents, the bottle and glass would have to clink 55,555 times and with the margin at 5 cents we would have to be 66,666 clinks. Let us be a little further and admit that the margin is only 4½ cents, there would have to sell 77,777 drinks. Now, the proportions of various patrons are usually size, from the 'gentle-drink' to the other kind, which the margin is nearly a glass full. This would return the margin of profit to the glass, of which 88,888 would have to be sold to pay the city its share.

"An exceptionally fine quality of booze should be handled, permitting a profit of only 2 1-3 cents on each drink, which would reach 29,999, and it is safe to see that a net return of 5 cents on each portion would require the sale of 111,111 highballs or cocktails.

"But for the sake of showing you exactly I have worked this thing out, I suppose that the profit of 7½ cents a drink—there you have a handsome array of 222,222 on the register, or at a 1-cent profit, 666,666 and distinct allotments to Mr. Cooper, the lessee of the bar, entitled to term 'sorrow.'"

SIDE TALKS BY THE OFFICE BOY

I have been working the "Tom Sawyer" act on a couple of the package boys in the store. I'd tell them the old man was awful particular who dusted his office in the morning and they'd give me all sorts of things for the privilege of doing the feather-duster stunt. The boss told me once in response to a query that "Executive ability was usually the faculty of getting someone to do your work." If that's so, I'll soon have executive ability to burn. Did you ever trade at a store like this where they give you the long end all the way through, where you can return the article if you don't like it and get your money back, where you can get a new article or your money back if it don't wear as it should, where they'll prepay the expressage to any point in the West, and then if the article sent don't fit or suit, they'll refund your money and loose the expressage both ways? You'll need a new suit or a new hat before Easter, won't you? Why not drop in at one of our stores and see what's the proper caper this Spring? We sell high-class ready-to-wear suits at three of our stores, Bakersfield, Long Beach and Broadway and Sixth, and make them to order at the Spring-street store?

That the bar is an expensive adjunct to the new hotel is proved by the fact that the choicest rooms on the ground floor must remain useless as long as the present stringent regulations of the Police Commission are in force.

This room was fitted up in costly fashion as a buffet, with tables and seats built in, at which it was intended to serve patrons with liquor.

Under the ban against chairs and tables in saloons, this room cannot be used.

FORESTER'S TRIP.

J. W. Almon, forestry expert whose work has given him extensive observations in every part of the United States, has just returned from a tour through the mountain districts of San Diego county, and reports that there as well as in Los Angeles county wonderful benefit to tree-growth has resulted from the season's copious rains. Almon believes that the good coming from increased water-shed protection all over this end of the State is well-nigh incalculable.

SUPERIOR JUDGES DINED.

The Superior judges were entertained at dinner last night at the California Club by Judge Monroe, and they discussed the proposed changes in the rules of the courts. Judge D. K. Trask was selected as presiding judge, and assignments of the newly-appointed judges were made as follows: Judge W. P. James to Department Seven, Judge G. A. Gibbs, Department Eight, and Judge Walter Bordwell, Department Nine.

MIRSKY MAY RETURN.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 13.—The report that ex-Minister of the Interior Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky will return to public life, as president of the Rescript Commission although not officially confirmed, creates much satisfaction.

The commission having charge of the matter has not decided even in principle the nature or composition of the proposed parliamentary body. It is this delay which has destroyed popular confidence in the sincerity of the government, and which led the attorneys' congress to undertake an active, united propaganda by all the liberal professions in behalf of constitutionalism.

The press has won a victory in the decision of the Press Commission to remove the censorship from foreign press telegrams. The regulations, however, will not go into effect until the revision of the press laws is complete.

SIX MEN ROB BANK.

CHURUBUSCO (Ind.) April 13.—Six men today robbed the private bank of Oscar Gandy & Co. of $8500. Mrs. Gandy, wife of the banker, was shot in the neck by one of the robbers, all of whom escaped. Three explosions set off in 'wrecking the safe brought a number of persons to the scene. Two robbers on guard, armed with rifles, warned them not to approach the building, and fired a number of shots to frighten those who came too near. After securing the money, the robbers jumped into a buggy and drove at a gallop toward Huntertown, two of them firing at their pursuers until out of sight. Gandy and several others started in pursuit in an automobile. Surrounding towns were notified and posses soon started from several places.

MISS BABLER ON THE STAND.

Young Hook's Companion is Briefly Examined.

Guthrie's Marvelous Beard Makes Lawyers Gasp.

Manslaughter Evidence All in; Arguments Coming.

The examination and cross-examination of Miss Frankie Babler in the Barbee S. Hook manslaughter case in Justice Chambers's court yesterday afternoon, consumed just three minutes. The young woman, plainly dressed and wearing a black figured veil, was called to the stand at 2:45, as the prosecution's first witness of the afternoon. She is of the medium height, and plump; a pronounced brunette, with an olive skin and dark, languid eyes; might be called quite pretty were a touch of animation added to her rather immobile features. Deputy District Attorney McComas conducted her direct examination.

"What is your name, please?"

"Frankie Babler."

"And your age?"

"Eighteen."

"Where do you reside?"

"At No. 723 Ruth avenue."

"What is your business, and where are you employed?"

"I am a stenographer for Klockke & Easton."

"Were you an occupant of the automobile, which struck Miss Margaret Birtwistle, in the neighborhood of Downey avenue and Avenue 20, in the evening of Sunday, March 26?"

"I was."

"Who was driving that automobile at that time?"

"Barbee Hook."

"That's all."

Attorney Hunsaker cross-examined for the defense.

"Where, in that automobile, were you sitting?"

"In a rear seat."

Mr. Hunsaker: No questions.

Mr. McComas: That is all, Miss Babler.

And, to the distinct disappointment of the throng of curious people crowding the courtroom, the good-looking girl stepped quietly from the stand and quit the room. The on-hangers had whet their appetites for questions and answers more pungent than these, having in mind sundry drinks of whisky from flasks that had been passed from lip to lip of the two high-rolling young men and their shop-girl and typewriter companions on the fateful Sunday trip—as brought out briefly at the Coroner's inquest over the dead body of Margaret Birtwistle. But the retelling of these unlovely details of an afternoon spin in the country is being reserved for the trial proper in the Superior Court, the examination before Justice Chambers being merely preliminary, and for the purpose of determining whether or not the son of the late millionaire street-railway man shall be held.

MISS FRANKIE BABLER . . .

. . THE BEARD . .

HIS FORMIDABLE WHISKERS.

The countenance of the next witness—or so much of it as could be seen—was a study in hirsute possibilities. To the calling of the name "C. W. Guthrie," there responded a tall, slim and sepulchral person clad in black clerical cost and a multitude of whiskers only a shade less plutonian than his frock. The back of him, as with firm though gentle elbows he made way for his beard through the crowd, suggested the uncompromising erectness of a ramrod; the front of him, from the damp crest of the back-combed mane above the thoughtful brow and meditative eyes, down over the flowing amplitude of hair, even to the toes of his well-blacked boots, bespoke the man at once as a high priest of the Mystics, an Episcopalian licentiate strayed from scenes of ecclesiastical performance, or else a phrenologist; one of these three he must be: that pallid brow with its lines of intellectual concentration, that acquisitive nose, with its slight aduncous dip, those strong white hands, that oriental beard flowing half-way from lips to waistband, a magnificent riot of ripples and dim interstices—these, these were signboards of celebrity. Said the court:

"You may hold up your hand and be sworn."

"A sweet smile of deprecation broke the perfect calm of that countenance, instantly to be dismissed into the dark edges of the surrounding jungle—leaving nothing but polite decorum as its trace.

"I cannot be sworn," spoke the Beard, "I will affirm."

"Oh, very well," answered soundlessly the out-thrust lips of the court.

And so it was.

TWO FEARFUL SHOCKS.

"Your name?" questioned Deputy District Attorney Fleming, obeisantly.

"C. W. Guthrie." The voice from the Beard was level, cool, inflective. The spectators craned forward in their seats; gazed reverently.

"Your age?"

"Twenty-eight." The court sat up suddenly, as though a static battery had been surreptitiously clamped to his spine. An expression of shocked incredulity swept upon the face of the prosecution. The throng twitched.

"Ah—wh-which—h-how?" murmured the people's attorney.

"I was born in 1876. Should you desire, you might figure it out for yourself," replied in dispassionate tones the Beard.

A chuckle of infinite delight died unheard on the puckered lips of the eminent counsel for the defense.

Then: "What is your business?" demanded the prosecution. There fell a pause, brief, breathless vibrant.

Said the Beard: "I am a janitor."

A stillness in the courtroom. Then a rustle and a sigh, as when autumn's wind breaks silence in a forest of dead leaves.

THE CASE PROCEEDS.

Guthrie testified, in brief, as follows:

He witnessed part of the accident from his seat in a passing street car; got off the car immediately after the accident and went to Miss Birtwistle, where she was lying in the street; touched her to see if she were alive; concluded she was dead. Stood beside one of the automobilists, a young man (presumably Hook) on the shoulder and said to him: 'You better go and look out for the girl,' pointing to where Margaret Birtwistle lay in the street. The young fellow turned at that and looked over his shoulder: 'She doesn't belong to our crowd' was his reply, and he did nothing." Others lifted Margaret and carried her to the pavement. The witness struck a match and held it over her upturned face, when persons in the crowd quickly recognized her.

McDonald testified that one of the two men of the automobile party was standing against a telegraph pole, where the partially wrecked auto was "piled up" on the curb. This young man seemed to have been drinking. He was fumbling with the shoe of Frankie Babler (who was still seated in the machine,) and apparently was trying to take it off for her. He asked the witness for a match; took it, tried to strike it, and handed it back, saying ungratefully: "Here, I don't want it. I've got better ones than that myself."

The prosecution asked: "What was the appearance of the man who had been driving the automobile, as to being drunk or sober?" The defense vigorously objected, and the objection was sustained.

ARGUMENTS SATURDAY.

At this point the people rested. Attorney Hunsaker announced that the defense would offer no testimony at this preliminary examination, but he wished to present arguments to the court. Tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. was set for the hearing of arguments, and the case was then adjourned.

At yesterday's morning session City Draughtsman McDaniel introduced a map of Downey avenue from North Avenue 19 to North Avenue 24. Street Car Conductor McLeod completed his testimony, begun the previous afternoon. M. L. Herson, a motorman; Clarence Henrihan, a grocery clerk, and William T. Curl, a stationary engineer, gave testimony, none of which differed materially from that of other witnesses of the accident.

GIFTS TO ROMANS.

Patrolman Twenty Years in Service Presented With Star and Chair by Officers.

Patrolman Theodore D. Romans, who yesterday celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his appointment as a member of the police force, was the recipient last night of two fine presents from the members of the department. Before the assembled night watch he was presented with a fine Morris chair and a beautiful solid gold star, and so surprised was he that he was unable to adequately thank the donors. Before he had concluded his address, he sank into the chair and said to a brother officer: "You thank them, I can't."

The presentation speech was made by Sergt. McKeag, himself an officer of nineteen years' service. Nearly 100 members of the force assembled to witness the presentation. A hollow square was formed and into the center Romans was taken. Then McKeag presented first the star and then the chair. McKeag was unable to make an eloquent speech, but he managed to express the esteem in which Romans is held by the officers, and then emotion overcame him and he was obliged to quit.

EQUITABLE LIFE'S OFFER.

NEW YORK, April 13.—The Equitable Life Assurance Society, through Gage E. Tarbell, its second vice-president, has issued a circular to its general agents, indicating its intention to pay $4 per thousand on new insurance in addition to the commissions specified in their contracts.

"NOT IN OUR CROWD."

McDonald continued: "I ran and called doctors from their homes near by. But first, as I stood by, a person in the crowd tapped this young fellow whose head was bleeding. (Doubtless young "Tom" Rife.) Said to him: "The lady is dead." The bleeding lad replied: "Well, I didn't hit her." Auto was running at very high rate of speed, probably thirty miles an hour; did not hear "any bell, horn or gong." Automobile did not deviate from its straight course along the "wrong" side of the street, until after Miss Birtwistle had been struck, when it swerved suddenly and crashed into the curb.

Joseph P. McDowell, a carpenter, was called. He witnessed the swift passing of the automobile from a street car. Saw the auto speeding along the "wrong" side of the street; saw it swerve slightly to avoid a street car at Avenue 20, then, immediately Miss Birtwistle was struck. Witness left his own car and hurried to the scene. Saw the insensible girl lying as though dead, in the street. Heard one of the automobile party (Hook) say: "I turned out for the south car, then I saw the girl and tried to miss her, but couldn't." The young man who made this remark seemed to have been drinking. Witness could not swear it was Hook. Did not know him.

NAVAL MEN'S HOSPITALITY.

Many Guests Entertained on Board the Warships.

Farewell Banquet Tendered to Squadron's Officers.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONG BEACH, April 13.—Today was reception day on board the warships, and Uncle Sam's naval boys put on their best behavior and spotless clothing and showed that they are society men as well as fighters, though they fall far easier victims to the witching ways of sparkling eyes set in a fair face than they do to the grim and deadly curves used in martial conflict.

The Bennington was open to the public, but the decks of the Chicago were closed to all but the invited guests of the officers. These included members of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles and ladies, the Board of Trade of Long Beach and ladies, the Golf Society and the Long Beach baseball team, the undefeated champions of Southern California. And they were all there, the ladies in large majority. The result was a bewildering combination of beauty and color that made Uncle Sam's boys blush and stammer for a time, until the grace and ease of the older and more experienced of the courtiers placed the maidenlings at ease. After that the reception moved swiftly and entertainingly.

The early guests were conveyed to the Chicago in the ship's launches, but this proved slow work. Finally the Elliott and Nellie were chartered and soon the balance of the guests were rapidly taken to the ship. This method of transportation was none too rapid for some of them, as the sea was doing some swelling itself in honor of the day, and many of the ladies began to feel a little qualmish, and were glad when the deck was gained, but they were not much better off there, for the ship was rolling pretty heavily. Those affected by the rolling waves, however, were only a sprinkling of the throng who came aboard laden with fragrant flowers which were distributed with lavish hand among the officers and crew. A particularly beautiful bouquet from the Ebell graced the dinner table in Rear-Admiral Goodrich's cabin.

CORDIAL ENTERTAINMENT.

The officers greeted their guests cordially, and soon groups of laughing young women and smiling matrons were in charge of officers and being shown the rounds of the big fighting monster. Every part of the ship was thrown open and the officers' quarters were at the disposal of the fair throng. All over the ship the visitors were seen being shown every polite attention. The guns were sighted and the method of loading and firing explained to a group of timid but laughing maidens while a short distance away another crowd was being initiated into the mysteries of signaling. Female visitors were not forgotten, and, of course, they did not receive less attention shown the fair sex. The officers fairly outdid themselves in courtesy and attention and left nothing undone that could add to the enjoyment and pleasure of the afternoon. On the main deck the United States Marine Band, under the direction of Prof. A. Varella, gave a concert all afternoon, while below in the forward mess, the officers had provided a lavish refection of chocolate, tea, cakes, sandwiches and candies, which were served by deft Japanese waiters, under the direction of Mrs. P. E. Denio and Mrs. E. C. Denio, who acted as hostesses at the request of Admiral Goodrich.

All too soon, the setting sun warned the guests that the time of parting had arrived. It was 6 o'clock before the last of the guests departed.

Among the guests from Los Angeles were Traffic Manager McMillin of the Pacific Electric, Secretary Frank Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce, A. Q. Story and many others. They were accompanied by ladies.

OFFICERS BANQUETED.

Tonight at Hotel Julian, a banquet was tendered the officers of the squadron which was as complete an event as ever given in Long Beach. The dining-room was prettily and tastefully decorated, as were the long tables. The guests of honor included Rear-Admiral Goodrich, Capt. E. K. Moore, Commander J. S. Carpenter, Lieutenant-Commanders F. W. Bartlett and W. P. Cole, Capt. William Hopkins, Chaplain A. W. Stone, Midshipmen R. A. Swanson, R. L. Irvine, E. Hooper and F. E. Pond of the Chicago; Capt. L. Young, Lieut. Victor Blue Morris, Lieut. A. F. H. Yates, Ensign C. F. Wade and Midshipman Salmi of the Bennington. The following guests were members of the Board of Trade. The banquet was as an informal affair as could be and when the coffee and cigar stage was reached, J. A. Miller, as toastmaster, gave a few words of welcome, after which short talks were made by Admiral Goodrich, Capt. Young, Capt. Moore and several of the Board o. Trade members.

DEPART THIS MORNING.

The squadron is under orders to sail at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for Santa Barbara, and shore leave ended this afternoon. All day and tonight there have been busy taking stores and supplies on board.

There was rather more visitors than usual on the wharf this morning, many in vain hope of getting aboard the ships, among them were D. Craig and Mrs. St. Paul, who have just arrived here looking for a cousin, Midshipman Stanford Hooper of the Chicago, who recently graduated from Annapolis.

Another party was A. L. Barr, a contracting plasterer of Los Angeles, who, with Miss Charlton and Miss Amy Thompson, a Pomona college student, vainly sought to get to the Bennington, to see his brother, Harvey Barr, an electrician and whom she has not seen for two years. She tried by every subterfuge and artifice to get aboard, but her threat to swim across the bay and the guif that intervened did not daunt her heart of Jack, and she could only stamp her tiny feet impatiently on the wharf and wait for her brother to come ashore after word reached him of her having welcome awaiting on board.

A baseball team of the Chicago will endeavor to defeat this afternoon at the baseball park of the High School nine, being confident that it will hold the score down to 4 to 2 or 3 to 2 by a score of 15 to 2. The game will be called at 2 o'clock sharp.

Beautiful Celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra T. Stimson celebrated their wedding anniversary last evening with a French whist party, given also for Mrs. George L. Erwin of Muskegon. Below stairs in the ballroom, where cards were played, orange blossoms and white flowers and greenery made a dainty and bridelike appearance. Baskets filled with the fragrant dewy-leaved blooms swung from doorways and alcoves and bows of white tulle and garlands of asparagus ferns added much to the grace of the scene. Lowinsky furnished enchanting music through the evening, and supper was served by Reynolds. Scores for the games were kept on the dearest little cards in the world in the shape of bridal fans adorned with daintily-tinted cupids. Beautiful and costly prizes were awarded at the close of the games and after 12 o'clock a jolly dance was enjoyed.

Those who enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Stimson's hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Allan C. Balch, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Denis, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoff, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Kellam, Mr. and Mrs. William May Garland, Dr. and Mrs. Granville MacGowan, Mr. and Mrs. Hancock Banning, Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Newhall, Mr. and Mrs. Will T. In New Parlor.

A smart little affair was the luncheon given yesterday at the Hotel Lankershim by Mrs. Frank Wiggins. The function was in compliment to a committee of women who interested themselves in the publishing and arranging of a little gift book from this vicinity, which Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins had at the St. Louis Fair. The affair took place in one of the handsome little private dining parlors of the hotel, which was finished in deep tones of red. The center of the table was adorned with a lovely centerpiece of red carnations and places were marked with dainty Easter bells. Special credit was due Mr. Fryman, who arranged that the courses also should be served in the same bright tints. Those who seated themselves at the exquisitely appointed table were Mrs. Roy Jones, Mrs. George A. Caswell, Mrs. John D. Hooker, Miss Marian Jones, Mrs. George Wadleigh, Mrs. Anna Bancroft, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman and Mrs. Harriett Barry.

Glimpse of Russia.

Members and friends of the Friday Morning Club enjoyed a rare treat yesterday afternoon with Mme. Vera De Blumenthal and a number of her Slavic countrywomen, garbed in the fantastic and striking dress of their country, pouring delicious tea from huge Russian samovars. This was not the least of the delights, which were shown the visitors yesterday, for beside there was on exhibition and sale specimens of rare and beautiful lace and also fetching belts of Slavic design. In the Shakespeare room, from a long table laden with yellow roses, either end bearing the shining brass samovars, where were stationed Russian women, tea was served to a host of delighted guests. Some of the women wore quaint blue frocks adorned with oriental-looking laces and all wore the tiny caps entirely covering their luxuriant hair. Queer little aprons of Assyrian designs were worn by some of the women, and others wore fetching white ones ornamented with yards of lace. Songs and music were given by some of the Russians and altogether it was a most refreshing and happy afternoon.

Later Mme. De Blumenthal gave a short, but interesting little talk on her laces and why she is here. She said in part: "My countrywomen make these laces and sell them for nearly nothing, and you buy them at high prices. Now some one must gain, but it is not the one who makes them. It is the buyer who sells it to you. Why, some of these women whose very lives have gone in as a part of this lace live with their families on 6 cents a day. That is why I am laboring to bring the Slav women here, that they may make their laces here and learn at the same time."

That was another question that touched the speaker as well as her hearers deeply; the fact that there are women who would give their lives almost to learn to read and write and know the world, but whom the bureaucracy will not allow. "For," said she, "if the ignorant masses are educated they will no more serve in abject obedience and so the autocrats crush them with an iron hand." She told ever so much more of the ways and means of Russia. Another most deplorable fact brought to light by the earnest and dramatic speaker was that in some of the villages there are no men left, all having been given to the country's cause. "Here the women much work as men in the fields and also attend to their household duties. Here it is that most beautiful lace is made." In the end Mme. De Blumenthal thanked her hearers most graciously in a few charmingly accented words, finishing with: "I express to you my gratitude for those for whom this time is given and who are not able to be present."

BROOKS AT THE BANQUET.

Sure Enough Fly in Local Democracy's Ointment.

Policeman Called to Keep the "Colonel" Quiet.

Snyder Out of Sight and Also Out of Mind.

Earl Rogers and a husky policeman kept it in order—the Jefferson Day banquet of the Tammany Club of Los Angeles, last night, at the Café Bristol.

"Col." J. Marion Brooks, as predicted in The Times of Wednesday, proved to be the only fly in the ointment, but he was crushed under the iron heel of Toastmaster Rogers, who, when "Col." Brooks adopted his usual well-known obstreperous tactics, immediately sent to the Police Station and brought a bluecoat on the fly to subdue the fly Brooks.

SNYDER SIDESTEPPED.

Meredith P. Snyder, who will be remembered as a former Mayor of Los Angeles, was not at this representative gathering of the new Democracy of the city.

He sidestepped with the agility he acquired while he was the city's chief executive, and his name was not even breathed.

It was almost like a funeral, where people speak only in a hush, if at all, of the departed. They didn't speak even in a hush last night, of his one-time pink highness.

Snyder must have been afraid "Col." Brooks would be there to define the party issue, as he had threatened. Brooks was there all right, but the toastmaster failed to call on him, except to keep quiet.

REALLY GOOD DINNER.

It really was about the finest thing in the way of a dinner or anything else that the local Democrats ever engineered. There was an excellent dinner, served without any fuss and feathers and quickly out of the way, and there was oratory that would warm the cockles of the heart of the truest Jeffersonian Democrat.

Something over a hundred of the followers of the Tammany Club were there. Not a few of them had the silk hats and the sleek appearance of the most select members of Charlie Murphy's Fourteenth-street aggregation in Gotham, and there was something in the atmosphere that led to the thought that a number of prosperous contractors or officeholders were in the gathering.

"Uncle Billy" Workman represented the officeholders.

President George M. Cake of the Tammany Club, to whom the perfection of the organization is credited, presided and introduced Earl Rogers as toastmaster.

Everything went lovely with Rogers for a time. He said there were a few of 'em left beside himself and Andy McNally and "El Hutch," with "Uncle Billy" holding the sack.

Rogers paid a high compliment to Richard Croker's old organization in New York, and then he proposed a toast to the President of the United States, which was drunk standing.

ENTER THE FLY.

It was then that the "fly" appeared. Just at the most impressive part of the whole thing, "Col." Brooks, as if by a preconceived impulse, marched into the room in all his stateliness and took a seat well up to the front.

Whether it was the red and the white wines that were served liberally, or just the spirit that moved him, the "colonel" soon became a disturbing element.

While Frank G. Finlayson was in the midst of a peroration on "Tammany," Brooks broke loose.

"Go to him," he shouted, and he mumbled other words incoherently, interrupting the speaker so often and so effectually that Rogers finally called a halt.

"Gentlemen," shouted the toastmaster, austerely, as he sprang to the floor, "if we cannot have order here, I shall take it upon myself to adjourn this meeting. Respect is due the speakers and the flag that is displayed here. If this disturbance is not stopped we shall have to call in the brass buttons."

Despite the interruption, Mr. Finlayson made an excellent showing of the value of organization such as that of the New York Democracy.

BROOKS BREAKS LOOSE.

Brooks continued his tactics when Timothy Spellacy of Bakersfield, chairban of the Democratic State Central Committee, responded to the toast, "Democracy, or, Where Are We At?" and Rogers carried out his threat to call a policeman.

With a man in blue at his elbow, the "Col." subsided for a time, and there were only occasional outbreaks from him while Jud Rush, responding to "Thomas Jefferson," made a speech that was charming in its eloquence and clearness.

When J. "Waistcoat" Mitchell was called upon to tell of the "Saturnalia of Un-Democracy," the exuberance of J. Marion would brook no bounds. It was just what he was waiting for, and it looked for a time as if the policeman would have to take him (Brooks) by the seat of the trousers and hustle him out of the room.

Some references to "Roosy-felt" were apparently just to the liking of Brooks, and he provoked even the Tammanyites to shout, "Put him out!"

Other speakers were Henry W. Nisbet of San Bernardino county, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee there, who spoke of "Democracy—Government by the People," and Amary Mars, editor of the local French newspaper, who made a brief and witty address on "Jefferson and Democracy."

Letters of regret were read from Judge Alton B. Parker, Admiral Dewey, William Jennings Bryan, Alva Adams, former governor of Colorado, Franklin K. Lane, and Congressman Champ Clark of Missouri.

SENATOR BURTON RE-INDICTED.

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—United States Senator Burton of Kansas was re-indicted by the Federal grand jury today on the charge of accepting fees to the amount of $2500 from the Rialto Grain and Securities Company of St. Louis, in whose behalf it is alleged he acted as an attorney before the Post-office Department at Washington.

WILL FEWER MARRY SWEARING TO AGE?

YOUR age will find you out if you apply for a license to marry after the 17th of next month. When mother wakes and calls you early some morning in the waning month of May and tells you 'tis time to get from the County Clerk the necessary license to wed, prepare, both man and woman, to swear that you are so old and no younger.

A new law, effective May 17, provides that prospective brides and grooms must appear in person to apply for the marriage license, and that, upon oath, they must declare their ages.

It is a great deal harder to face a charge of perjury than it used to be to ask a newspaper editor to suppress the ages, as shown on the county records.

Whoever may be hit by the law on the touchy point as to just how long Father Time has been dallying with his or her birthdays, there is only one construction of the act.

If a man or a woman is regardless enough of a sacred oath to state an age wrongly and risk prosecution for perjury, there is that alternative, but no other, unless someone wishes to test the constitutionality of the law on the ground that an oath as to "legal age" is sufficient.

Under the new law it is thought that fewer white-haired and time-worn men will appear on the records as being "38" or "40."

It is not expected, of course, that there will be any noticeable changes in the avowed ages of the members of the other sex, for they always declare them frankly, as is well known.

The law as finally signed by the Governor is designed to make more effective the safeguards provided against miscegenation and the marriage of minors. No license is to be granted to persons who are imbecile or insane, or who may be under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotic drugs.

Where the consent of a parent or guardian is given for the marriage of a minor, this consent must be shown on the license. At present the only record made of this fact is on the County Clerk's books.

Appreciation

means "to set a just value upon."

Valuation may be a price fixed by business conditions.

Upon what does the price of your product depend? Is it fixed? Is it steady? Can you build upon it? Or does it fluctuate as it competes with goods similar in appearance but inferior in quality and workmanship?

Who cares about perfect execution or inherent worth? Not the commission broker, if he can sell at the usual margin; not the jobber, if the trade fail to pick flaws; not the dealer, if the customers will buy. Who then? The consumer: from whose pocket comes all the margins of profit plus the cost of production.

With whom, then, should the manufacturer of a high-grade product, who suffers from unfair competition, argue his case?

With the consumer: the intelligent women and men of the country who want a just return for every dollar invested; who want real worth—not its semblance—for every dollar expended; and who will support with continued patronage goods that merit their approval.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Bank for South Los Angeles.

Through the efforts of the Central Avenue Improvement Association plans have been made for the establishment of a State bank in the business settlement at the corner of Adams and Central avenue. It is understood that the concern will be operated under one of the bank charters now issued for a downtown concern.

Elks' Funeral.

The local lodge of Elks had charge of the funeral yesterday of Fred Mack, the Leadville Elk who committed suicide in the Parker House Sunday morning. Over two hundred friends and members of the lodge attended the services, which were held in Pierce Bros.' chapel. The interment was in Rosedale.

Whose Robe is This?

J. H. Murphy was arrested yesterday afternoon while trying to dispose of an unusually fine lap robe. He would not tell where he secured the robe, or to whom it belonged. He said he does not know who owns it, and defied the officer to find out. He was booked as a suspect and the robe held for identification.

Home of Shakespeare.

"A Tour through Warwickshire," will be the title of a fascinating free illustrated lecture in the Church of the Unity on South Flower street tonight. The lecture will be by Rev. George W. Kent of Providence R. I., who is temporarily occupying the pulpit in Unity Church and will be specially interesting to students of Shakespeare.

Final Tribute.

Touching tribute to the memory of one claimed by death at the threshold of manhood was paid by a large concourse of mourners at the funeral Monday afternoon of Willie B. Von Der Lohe, the fourteen-year-old son of the superintendent of Rosedale Cemetery. Seventy floral pieces surrounded the grave, which was lined with roses and carnations. Six young men from the German Methodist Episcopal Church acted as pallbearers.

Will Discuss Paving.

This evening at 8 o'clock, at No. 2503 Central avenue, the Central-avenue Improvement Association and the Vernon Improvement Association will have a joint meeting to discuss the project of paving Central avenue from Twelfth street to the southern city limits. Twenty petitions are out, in charge of committees from both associations. It is said a large amount of the necessary frontage is already signed up, and a report on this will be made at tonight's meeting.

Foot Crushed.

John McFarland, an iron worker of No. 147 South Clarence street, narrowly escaped destruction by a falling beam at the Bilicke-Rowan Hotel, Fifth and Spring streets, yesterday morning. The column, weighing tons, fell thirty feet, grazed McFarland's body, and crushed one of his feet. The lives of other workmen were endangered by the accident, which was caused by the parting of a cable. McFarland was sent to the Receiving Hospital, where a portion of the foot was amputated.

Jack Tars His Victims.

George Emmerson was taken into custody yesterday afternoon by the detectives as a suspect, but was released because the officers could find no specific charge against him. He had his pockets filled with what appeared to be valuable jewelry. He was caught selling this stuff to members of the crews of the war vessels lying off Long Beach. It was found to be all cheap trash, and although he asked several dollars for each of his rings, none of them was worth more than 25 cents. He was ordered to leave the city on pain of prosecution for obtaining money by false pretenses.

Oratorical Contest.

BREVITIES.

Mazdaznan society in concert. Great interest is being evidenced in the forthcoming concert to be given by the Mazdaznan Society of Los Angeles, in Burbank Hall, Saturday evening, April 15. Some exceptional musical talent exists in this earnest group of people, and a programme of unusual merit is in prepaartion for the event. The feature of perhaps most general interest is the piano-playing of Jean de Chauvenet, "honorable member of the International Congress of Music, Paris." He will be ably associated on this evening with several gifted local artists: Miss Etta Kraft, violiniste; Walter Ammann, violoncellist; Miss Helen Smythe, soprano; and the Ammann Quartette, composed of the two sons and two daughters of David Ammann of Hollywood, whose playing has already attained an enviable reputation in Los Angeles. A unique part of the entertainment will be a "Message from Dr. Hanish," th epopular and helpful leader of the Mazdaznan movement in America.

The Big Store That Is Defeating the Trust

Have you ever stopped to think just what are the conditions in Los Angeles? If you start out to buy a piece of furniture and know that in visiting different stores you are getting competitive prices you are greatly mistaken. To be sure the Trust stores sometimes vary the price of furniture in each of their establishments in order to deceive the public and make it appear that the establishments are independent. However, these prices, while they fluctuate in a slight degree, are never permitted to go below a certain fixed level created by the Trust.

Brents is the only big furniture concern in Southern California that is free to make prices just as it pleases.

If we were a small concern doing a small business we could not put the Trust on the defensive, but as it is we are buying goods than the Trust, getting lower wholesale prices than the Trust, and selling goods for retail at lower prices than any other store in the city.

TOM'S BOOKS "BALANCED"

Discrepancy Melted Down by Tearing Up Slips.

Brouse and Hillegas Lead to Court Sensation.

Tom Hays had a bad time yesterday.

The bank clerk, Charles Brouse, who unwittingly helped him "fake" the report to the comptroller, gave sensational testimony. He told how Hays worked all night in the bank, when the bank commissioner came, trying Brouse, above, and Hillegas, who told of Hays's bank-book "balancing," and created a sensation by having read the testimony sheets.

His was an innocent part in it. Hays read him items out of a book, witness did not see, and told him to tear up the totals, when they would not do, it was testified.

Hutchinson & Brown, the firm whose account Hays juggled with to account for $1000 shortage, also gave testimony.

Providence was merciful to the attorneys for the defense, however. The whole bunch of witnesses for the prosecution unhappily committed a grave mistake, which makes them liable to punishment for contempt of court.

It leaked out during the testimony of one of the bank clerks. He admitted that he and other witnesses for the prosecution, although excluded from the courtroom, have read the testimony day by day from the transcript of the stenographer's notes.

It seems that the transcripts were piled in the District-Attorney's office. The witnesses had the freedom of this office. Their chief amusement during the long hours of waiting has been reading what has been going on in the, to them, forbidden courtroom.

As soon as this came out, all the witnesses were brought back into court and sharply examined. They all admitted having read the testimony, but stated that they did not mean any harm.

Judge Wellborn was very grave over their admissions. He intimated that he will take the matter up later on.

The witnesses all protested that what they read did not influence their testimony in the least degree. Nevertheless the defense will try to make capital out of it.

"HANDED" TO TOM.

Hays had it "handed to him" in the testimony of the young bank clerk, Charles Brouse. He gave the most damaging testimony of this whole fearful disclosure.

Brouse told about the visit of the bank commissioner. He came in one afternoon and some little work was done on the books of the bank that afternoon.

That night, after witness had gone home, he got a note from Hays ordering him to come to the bank immediately. When he got there, he was told that they were going over the list of individual deposits. They worked from 9 that night until 1 o'clock the next morning.

Hays called off the totals from the ledger and witness took down the amounts with the adding machine.

When they finally got all the numbers down, he handed over the slip with the total to Hays. The latter looked at it; was annoyed and immediately tore it up. He said it was wrong and they would have to do the whole thing over.

This time, the total came out a different amount; Hays seemed better satisfied. It was $300 away from agreeing with the total in the ledger. Hays took the slip and figured a while and finally melted down the discrepancy to $50.

Witness did not have a chance to see the books that Hays held.

Brouse testified to the famous $90,000 shortage found on the books the first time they had a chance to make a "proof" without Hays having a hand in it.

Clyde Daniels was again on the witness stand in the morning and was examined at length as to the alleged overdrafts of his father, which are claimed to have been patched up by counting in a slip of paper, with $5000 written on it, as cash.

He denied ever having seen anything of the kind.

Brouse admitted that sometimes, when money was borrowed from the bank in small amounts for only a day or two, "cash tags" like this were kept in the cash drawer. He denied knowledge of the case of Daniels's overdraft.

"Don't you know," said Mr. Chapman, "of one instance in which $14,000 was borrowed in that manner for many months, and was only represented by a cash tag?"

He was asked sharply and insistently on cross-examination if he hadn't talked over his testimony and other testimony in the case with various persons. It was not known then at what the defense was driving.

CRASH OF HILLEGAS.

The wrongful reading of the stenographer's notes came out in the testimony of a pale, deliberate youth named, E. M. Hillegas, who used to be a book-keeper in the Orange Growers' Bank.

He testified about the $90,000 shortage they found; and described the book-keeping methods of the bank.

On cross-examination, he was telling about some detail of Tom Hays's performances in the book-keeping line when Mr. Chapman asked him a question over which he hesitated.

"Well, I was so informed," he said, unsuspectingly, little dreaming of the crash that was to follow.

"By whom were you informed?"

"I read it in the testimony sheets," he said innocently.

Tableau!

The court looked down aghast at the young witness, who sat there smug and self-confident.

Dist.-Atty. Valentine's face wore an expression of consternation. The lawyers for the defense grinned. It seems that one of their detectives had discovered that the testimony was being read.

"So you have been reading the testimony sheets?" said Mr. Chapman, musingly. "And where did you see the testimony sheets?"

"In my lawyer's office," said young Hillegas, promptly.

"Your lawyer's office," echoed Mr. Chapman, blankly. "And may I ask who your lawyer is?"

"L. H. Valentine."

There was a snort of laughter. Mr. Valentine is the United States District Attorney. It was not known that the youthful Mr. Hillages had absorbed the functions of Uncle Sam.

"How did you come to read it?"

"I wanted to know what was going on. I was excluded from the room, and I wanted to know what was doing," said Hillegas, who still seemed to be unable to comprehend what he had done.

Attorney Meserve got to his feet, and in a grave voice moved that all the testimony given by this witness be stricken out.

"The order of this court excluding witnesses from the room has been violated both in spirit and in fact," he said.

District Attorney Valentine said that he wished his position to be understood. He said that he told witnesses that they could use his office; transcripts of the testimony had been left lying there in the room.

COURT DISPLEASED.

"I am not inclined to rule out the testimony," said the court, "but I am very much dissatisfied with the conduct of this witness."

"So am I," growled Mr. Valentine, glaring at Mr. Hillegas, who at last was beginning to grow alarmed.

Mr. Hillegas stammered that he did not mean any harm, and that he had testified only from his independent recollection.

Earl Rogers had smelled the fight from afar. He went dancing up and proceeded to have a session with young Mr. Hillegas. One of Rogers's hands had been hurt and was bandaged. He carried it in his coat, like a boxing glove. Mr. Hillegas watched it uneasily, as though he feared Rogers might whip it out and swat him one.

"You knew you were excused so you could not hear the proceedings?" said Rogers.

"Yes, sir," said Hillegas, unhappily.

"Did you think that reading it outside was making it any different?"

"I—I thought it was just the same as reading it in the newspapers."

"What did you think was the object of your being excluded from the courtroom?"

"I—I never stopped to think. I just thought the lawyers wanted to get us out of the way."

"So you thought you would fool the lawyers?"

BROUSE IN SAME BOAT.

Rogers asked the court to have witness Charles Brouse also brought in. The request was granted. Brouse saw at once the grave error they had made and hastened to state his ignorence of any wrong in the act.

He said that he had seen Hillegas, Clyde Daniels and other witnesses reading the testimony.

"Did you understand that you were excluded from the courtroom?"

"Yes, sir."

"Why did you think that was done?"

"So that we could not hear the proceedings."

"Then why did you read the testimony?"

"I never supposed but what it was right."

"Did it occur to you that there was any difference between hearing it and reading it?"

"I never worried about that part of it."

"Did you and the other witnesses talk it over among yourselves?"

"We probably did."

"But did you?"

Brouse could not be made to say whether they did or not.

Mr. Valentine asked him if they had also read the accounts in the newspapers.

The defense objected to this question.

"I want to get at it, too," said the court, shortly. "I shall probably pursue the matter further."

FIERCE FIGHT FOR HIS LIFE.

Held up and Nearly Slain by Highwayman.

George Fall, driver of a milk wagon, has seven wounds in his right arm to show how, weaponless except for a whip, he saved himself from being murdered and bravely beat off a dirk-wielding robber in a fearful fight in the darkness of a roadway south of the city limits last night.

Fall lives on the Figueroa-street road at a point one-quarter of a mile south of Florence avenue. At 8:30 o'clock last night he was driving homeward along Vermont avenue. When he neared the intersection of Vernon avenue a man sprang up out of the darkness of the highway. Fall involuntarily drew up. The fellow roughly demanded a drink of milk. Instinctively the wagonman realized that he was up against a robbery.

Shouting a refusal, he laid whip to his horse. But the hold-up man reached for the lines and tore them from his grasp, in the same movement bringing the horse sharply to a standstill. Then he tried to mount the wagon wheel. Fall struck at him with his whip. Simultaneously Fall saw the flash of a knife blade and felt a sharp, burning pain in his right arm. The villain had stabbed him.

Then began a short, fierce struggle for life. Seven times the blade of the murderous dirk was plunged into Fall's arm, as he parried the blows and vicious lunges, to protect his body from the blade. And during the battle the robber clung with his right hand to the reins, while with his left he stabbed.

Suddenly Fall saw his chance. Throwing himself forward and to one side, he reached the reins and wrenched them from the highwayman's hold, at the same time striking the fellow a stunning blow on the head with the butt end of the whip. He reeled to the roadway, and Fall put the lash to his horse.

At the first house equipped with a telephone the plucky milkman turned in. He telephoned his story to the Sheriff's office. Deputy Sheriff Franklin was rushed out in answer. He found Fall in the hands of a physician, who was cleansing and sewing up his seven wounds. When this had been finished and the arm bandaged, the milkman accompanied the officer back to the scene of the crime. They found no clew. From there they went on a tour of several woodchoppers' camps in the neighborhood, and Franklin routed out a number of Mexicans, whom Fall scrutinized. But he was unable to identify any one of them as his assailant.

He gave the deputy sheriff a thorough description of his would-be murderer, and with this in hand the search will be resumed at an early hour this morning.

STREET LIGHTS WILL CORUSCATE.

BROADWAY WILL BE LIKE BROAD DAY AFTER DARK.

"Festival of the Lanterns," a Gorgeous Commingling of Pyrotechnics and the Populace, Set for the Night of May Sixth in Celebration of Great Achievement.

The evening of Saturday, May 6, is the time set for the "Festival of Lanterns"—the illuminating of the great chain of electroliers that adorn Broadway from its northern end to the southern junction with Main street at Tenth. This was decided upon last night at a meeting of the Broadway Boulevard Improvement Association, held in Blanchard building.

A gathering of representative business men and property owners of Broadway spent the evening in perfecting plans for what promises to be one of the most unusual celebrations ever undertaken in this city. It is, indeed, to be a "feast of lights," and will be modeled on the celebrations common in Japan in commemoration of great occasions.

Merchants and residents all along Broadway are to be requested to decorate their buildings with the American colors and with illuminations; thousands of Japanese lanterns will be placed along the street, and 5000 lanterns will be carried on sticks by the multitude as they parade up and down the thoroughfare to the music of several bands.

There will be a procession of illuminated automobiles, a gorgeously-lighted parlor car for the city officials, and several flat cars with displays of red lights and pyrotechnics will patrol the railway tracks; the people who have subscribed to the fund to bring about the lighting project will have special cars to make the trip over the street and witness the effect of their efforts.

At the Courthouse and City Hall there will be speeches made by well-known orators, and aside from this, there will be no formal programme—the evening will be given over to merriment.

The final arrangements were placed in the hands of a committee composed of F. W. Blanchard, Maj. R. A. Norton and J. M. Schneider. This celebration is in honor of the opening of probably the finest system of street lighting in any city in the world. It covers a distance of twelve blocks, and there are twelve light posts to each block, each of which have twelve lights to the post, of 32-candle power each. This gives the amount of 52,000 candlepower to be distributed for the illumination of Broadway from the tunnel to the junction with Main street.

The enterpise was carried through by the efforts of the Broadway Boulevard Improvement Association and the generous contributions of the property owners and tenants along the street.

The whole project will represent an outlay of about $40,000, including the first cost of $15,000 (subscribed by the property owners,) the cost of making attachments, which will amount to about $12,000, and the cost of lighting, about $13,000.

TELEGRAPH VETERAN BEARDSLEE RETIRES.

AFTER forty-four years of continuous service in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph Company, E. A. Beardslee, manager in Los Angeles since 1887, yesterday shifted his burden to younger shoulders and had his name enrolled on the retired list.

Mr. eBardslee was retired in accordance with his own wishes, having asked the company to be relieved of his arduous duties some time ago, on account of his long service, although he has not yet quite reached the limit,

E. A. Beardslee, who retired last night as local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, after forty-four years in harness.

when, according to the Osler theory, a man "has outlived his usefulness. The company at first was loath to let him go, as there seemed no man immediately available to shoulder the responsibilities which Mr. Beardslee had borne so long and faithfully. He was asked to remain in the harness a little longer, until one of the younger men in the service could be broken in to take his place.

R. H. Miller of the operating department was designated some weeks ago as assistant to Manager Beardslee and has been gradually learning the ropes under the veteran manager's coaching, with a view to being his successor. Several days ago Superintendent F. H. Lamb arrived in the city to help readjust affairs in the local office, and yesterday, by direction of the superintendent, Mr. Beardslee was permitted to carry out his programme of retirement and Mr. Miller was formally installed as local manager.

Mr. Beardslee remained in the official harness until 6 o'clock yesterday evening, when he surrendered his desk which he has so long occupied in the office at First and Spring streets to his successor. He will, however, remain at the office for the next few days to help the new administration to get a good start.

E. A. Beardslee entered the employ of the Western Union as a messenger boy, at the age of 15, in 1861, at his native town, Norwalk, Ct., where his mother, now about 90 years of age, still lives. During the Civil War boys were called upon to do men's work, most of the able-bodied men having gone off to the war. So it was that young Beardslee became a full-fledged telegraph operator at the early age of 16. He continued to work at the key throughout the East, advancing from a small country office to an important berth in Boston, from which city he came to California in 1880.

Prior to the big real estate boom in Southern California, Mr. Beardslee was manager of the Western Union office in Sacramento, at that time the most important office in the State outside of San Francisco. When Los Angeles began to forge to the front, the Western Union saw the necessity of having a first-class, experienced man here to take care of its business, so Mr. Beardslee was transferred from Sacramento to Los Angeles.

During the boom and for a few years afterward, the main office of the Western Union in Los Angeles was in the building at the southwest corner of Main and Court streets. Then headquarters were removed to the Wilson Block at First and Spring streets, where Manager Beardslee has so long held forth.

There probably is no man in Los Angeles better known to the business men than E. A. Beardslee. He has always been a good hustler for business for his company, and in his dealings with the business men and general public was always courteous and obliging.

"I have not formed any plans for the future," said Mr. Beardslee last night, "other than that I first intend to take a good rest. I expect to continue to live in Los Angeles, and as I am not yet quite ready for Prof. Osler's chloroforming process, I may take up some new line of work when I feel that I have had enough rest."

R. H. Miller, the new manager for the Western Union in this city, is one of the youngest men ever entrusted with so important a position. He is only 26 years old, and has been in the employ of the company, chiefly in the operating department, for seven or eight years. He has proved his fitness for promotion in the various capacities in which he has been employed, and the retiring manager bespeaks for him a successful career.

TWO HUNDRED MILES HOUR BY TROLLEY.

TRANSPORTATION and railroading will be revolutionized within the next six months if Robert S. Allen of No. 325 South Euclid avenue, George Smith of No. 740 East Orange Grove avenue and E. M. Nold of No. 298 Arcadia street, all of Pasadena, succeed in their plan, for the completion of which they are incorporating a stock company with a capitalization of $25,000.

Allen says that a test railroad will be begun at once on the completion of the company's incorporation, which, it is said, will be within ten days.

"This road will be built," said Allen yesterday afternoon, "to demonstrate to the public that passengers can be carried at a maximum speed of 200 miles an hour over a track that will cost no more than $800 a mile for its construction."

The proposed route for the test road has already been selected by George Smith, inventor of the car, and E. M. Nold, one of the incorporators of the company. The route outlined by Smith and Nold is from Pasadena to the Devil's Gate, through the Arroyo Seco, on to La Cañada Valley; down Verdugo Cañon and through Glendale to Los Angeles and then back to Pasadena. It is said that this belt route has been selected both on account of its scenery and the possibility of showing the grade-climbing powers of the new motor car.

While some of the citizens along the route of the proposed railroad are skeptical, others have shown great interest in the plan. The citizens of La Cañada alone have raised a bonus of $8000 to be given to the first company that will construct a road through the valley.

George Smith, inventor of the new electric car, declares that his machine has been thoroughly tested and it has been demonstrated that a speed of 200 miles an hour can easily be attained.

"My idea to reach this speed," declared Smith, "is to lighten my car and track rather than increase their weight, as is the common theory at the present time. The cars for the new railroad will be made of the lightest and strongest material possible, while but forty-pound rails will be used.

"The cars for this road will be of the same size as the ones now in general service in Southern California. They will be built in such a manner that it will be impossible for them to leave the track, regardless of the rate of speed reached. The limited speed of 200 miles an hour is not the fault of the car, but due to the fact that no car wheels have yet been manufactured that will stand the pressure of a higher rate.

"The power for the motor car will be supplied by a third rail, after the manner of the elevated railroads in Chicago. This will necessitate the elevation of the road in certain districts and protection from the public by fences in other localities.

"The proposed route has been chosen because we wish to demonstrate to the public that steep grades, which are such an obstacle to the steam roads, can be overcome by this road with little difficulty.

"Within a few months I believe the round trip from Pasadena via Verdugo Cañon and Los Angeles can be made within the limit of ten minutes."

NOT CLEAR YET.

Albert Bell, Recently Acquitted in San Bernardino, Arrested Again for Alleged Crime.

Albert Bell, one of the notorious brothers of that name, who have given the police much trouble during the past several years, was brought from San Bernardino yesterday and placed in the City Jail, charged with forgery.

One of the brothers was sent to the penitentiary a few months ago, and for some time Albert Bell has been in jail in San Bernardino. Last week he was acquitted of a charge of forgery, and was about to be released, when Los Angeles officers took him on an old warrant issued here. It is alleged that Bell passed two forged checks on an East First-street saloonkeeper named Hickson.

AT THE CITY HALL.

ANTI-SALOON PETITION FILED.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST OPEN BAR FORMALLY BEGUN.

Initiative Ordinance Indorsed by Over Five Thousand Signers—City Clerk Will Begin Work of Verification Today—Liquor Men Prepare to Make a Fight Back.

The big anti-saloon petition, 5300 names strong, was yesterday afternoon filed with the City Clerk. Saloon men are conjuring by all the fetiches known to the traffic to keep the business end of the "hoodoo" aimed at the "antis."

Correct even to the most minute detail and containing 1200 additional names, thrown in for good measure, the ordinance aimed at the open bar is to the liquor traffic a formidable document.

Deputies from the City Clerk's office will this morning commence the laborious task of comparing the signatures on the petition with the names in the Great Register. Their report must be presented to the Council within ten days.

In order to invoke the "initiative provisio nof the city charter, 4094 names on the petition must be accepted by the City Clerk as those of bona fide electors of the city. The petition contains about 5300 names. Of this number the committee which files the petition admits that over four hundred cannot be verified by comparison with the Great Register. These, they say, were signed by mistake.

It is only the "open bar" which the anti-saloon ordinance attacks. Special provision is made that nothing in the proposed ordinance shall be construed to prohibit or interfere with the serving of liquors by any person to himself, his family, or his guests at his own private table in his own home. Another section provides the prohibition of this ordinance shall not apply to the sale of intoxicating liquors in quantities of not less than one-fifth of a gallon, where such liquors are not drunk on the premises where sold.

The petition, which is in 195 section, was filed yesterday afternoon by a special committee composed of Leonard Merrill, John H. Scott and Rev. I. S. Chapman.

"With the exception of the printing, that petition did not cost us even the price of a postage stamp," said Mr. Merrill, after he had intrusted his knockout package to a deputy in the City Clerk's office. "All the work of securing the names was done by volunteers. I turned in the first completed list myself. I could have secured five times as many signatures as I did if I had not been barred by the initiative provision of the charter from certifying to a petition which I had not signed myself."

The petition bears no earmarks of the fraud and perjury which characterized the petitions filed with the City Clerk a year ago by the Earl-Norton-Typographical Union calamity howlers. None of the petitions are pasted or marred; the signatures are mostly legible, and the entire document shows careful workmanship.

A question has already arisen as to whether it is mandatory on the Council to fix an early date for the special election, which will probably follow the filing of the petition. The initiative section of the charter provides that the Council must "forthwith proceed to call an election." But it does not stipulate that the election must be held within any specified number of days.

At the time the no-saloon petition was filed with the City Clerk the Finance Committee of the Council was in session in the committee-room. Before the committee were a number of applications for reductions of licenses. But it was a most inopportune time to secure reductions from the Finance Committee. Confronted by a petition which, if adopted, will reduce the revenue of the city $180,000 annually, the members were disposed to raise licenses rather than lower them.

After the regular session the members of the committee discussed informally the probable result of the anti-saloon election. They agreed that if it knocks out the saloons it will be necessary to increase all the present business licenses and to included in the license ordinance a number of occupations which are not taxed.

But the Council will take no part in the anti-saloon fight. The Councilmen say that the initiative shifts the burden of responsibility to the people, and the people must decide.

There appears to be marked absence of organization on the part of the saloon forces for warding off this attack on their business. The 200 saloon licenses in the city are, under ordinary conditions, valued at $1,500,000. It would appear that someone must have a great deal of money at stake.

In municipal circles the anti-saloon movement is viewed with evident disfavor. The prevailing sentiment about the City Hall appears to be that the prohibitionists would be all right if they would only let liquor alone.

To the place hunters a voluntary surrender of $189,000 a year in revenue is something closely akin to the unpardonable sin.

"Corney" Pendleton is anxious to assume control of the saloon forces. He has already commenced issuing orders and delivering predictions of what is going to happen to the "antis."

The Royal Arch is going into the coming contest in a lamentably unfit condition for a fight to the finish. The efforts of that organization to control politics last fall proved so valuable to the other side that one liquor man said yesterday it would be good politics to ship the Royal Archers and the Eagles all to San Pedro until the campaign is over. The personnel of the saloon element is considered a great source of strength to the prohibitionists.

SLOWER AUTOS.

NEW SPEED ORDINANCE.

Speed not exceeding ten miles an hour in the business district, four miles an hour at crossings and in passing any car which is receiving or discharging passengers, and fifteen miles an hour in the residence sections. These are the speed regulations of the ordinance yesterday adopted by the Legislative Committee and reported favorably to the Council.

The ordinance is the result of a two weeks' conference between members of the Legislative Committee and a committee representing the Automobile Club of Southern California. The Councilmen were in the beginning in favor of even more stringent regulations concerning the speed of chug wagons, but they were handicapped by the automobile law passed by the last State Legislature. The ordinance in its present form is satisfactory to the Automobile Association and the committee has promised to help the police enforce its regulations.

Secretary Fleming of the Automobile Association said after the meeting of the Legislative Committee that the members of the association are desirous of seeing a speed limit enforced which will put a stop to reckless driving. The ordinance in its present shape is very objectionable to the scorchers, but few of that class belong to the association.

Monday the ordinance will be reported to the Council for final adoption.

The ten-mile speed limit district embraces the following streets: Main from Los Angeles River on the north to Twenty-first street; Los Angeles street between First and Seventh; Spring between Temple and Eighth; Hill between First and Eighth; First, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth between Central and Hill; Sixth between Los Angeles and Figueroa; Seventh between San Pedro and Figueroa; Eighth between Los Angeles and Hill.

Are Deputies Reinstated?

The Mayor yesterday afternoon signed the ordinance passed a week ago by the Council restoring certain positions in the street department which it had abolished by ordinance the week before.

The ordinance recreates places for a chief deputy and three inspectors. It also reduces salaries in the street department, a thing which has not occurred before during the last half a dozen administrations.

Street Superintendent Hanley is opposed to the ordinance. It virtually rescinds an ordinance which the Council passed three weeks ago at his request. Mr. Hanley insists that he has no work in the department for the deputies who were dismissed when the former ordinance was adopted. He will not reappoint them unless directed by the City Attorney or the Civil Service Commission to make such appointments. A legal question has now arisen whether the head of a department can be compelled to fill a position which he says is only an expense. Hanley wants to keep the positions vacant.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

RUSSIANS IN JUSTICE COURT.

DUGEN DAGOOTZKE WANTS TO BE AVENGED FOR THREATS.

Justice Pierce Raps Slivers Off the Bench in an Effort to Maintain Order, but Disorganization Becomes Complete and Case Has to be Continued.

Lorenze Allansky, nephew of Methusalinsky, was before Justice Pierce yesterday to be examined for having made threats against Dugen Dagootzke, which, being translated into a speaking language is the Russian equivalent for Peter Dugan. The examination almost ended in a riot.

Deputy District Attorney McCartney prosecuted the case with the assistance of Attorney R. W. Coleman as special counsel, while Le Compte Davis appeared for the defense. All parties to the case were Russians of the Lithuanian persuasion, and an interpreter had to act as intermediary between the court, the attorneys and the witnesses. All appeared to be well-to-do people, and one fair-haired little woman of a decidedly pretty type sat inside the rail, and fulfilled in a measure the functions of special counsel for the defense.

There was a goodly crowd in the court room, and as the several witnesses began to testify, some partly in English and partly in Lithuanian, and the interpreter tried to translate the potpourri, his contortions were something awful to witness. At every second sentence one attorney or the other would object. The prosecution had one of the belligerant faction to whisper whether the interpreter was translating rightly. When he dealt it out hot and strong to the Allansky contingent it was always satisfactory to them. But Le Compte Davis also had his linguistical coach, and when things came too hard his way, then he raised a howl. As neither witnesses or interpreter knew anything about the rules of law, and wouldn't stop while objections were made and ruled upon by the court, the result was that four or five people were talking at once and each one trying to make himself heard by shouting down his neighbor.

At first this was rather funny, but it became monotonous and then painful, and the court was driven to desperate measures. He took a heavy paper weight and split splinters off the judicial bench trying to call time on the verbal combatants.

Dugan it appeared, is a tailor and lives at Boyle Heights, but on March 11 went to the house of Methusalinsky on North Figueroa street. The call was not quite according to social usage, it being after the midnight hour, and though Dugan hesitatingly alluded to it, the probabilities were that he was feeling rather joyous.

While being entertained there was more drinking, and then came the trouble—according to Dugan. He claimed that Lorenz Allansky, a young fellow with a shock of blond hair, said: "I shoot him because he stands good for John Krachoonus." The naming of Krachoonus introduced a new character on the scene, and set the attorneys by the ears. The court split another chunk off the bench before he restored order, and told the interpreter for the "steenth" time to close up and keep quiet when he saw the attorneys—either one or both—break out into a flow of objections.

Quiet being restored a fresh start was made. The witness alleged that Lorenz had said that he, Dugan, had accused Lorenz of breaking up Krachoonus's home and that he might get killed. But that statement precipitated another row as to whether the interpreter had translated the words rightly, and if he had, whether it amounted to a hill of beans anyway. Two more chunks flew from the corner of the bench.

All hands objected to the interpreter. Davis said he knew a nice, cultured Russian who could translate into English with accuracy. The court begged that counsel would bring him into court. It couldn't be done at once, and then Justice Pierce grew wrathy at the thought that a cultured Russian was in the city and could not be obtained to straighten out the snarls in this most incomprehensible case. He ordered a criminal subpoena to issue at once, summoning the man, whoever he was, into court this morning. Then he adjourned court, looking red and hot after the excitement.

NOTICES TOO SCANT.

STREET ASSESSMENT VOID.

Because the notices were posted not near enough together on that thoroughfare the assessment for sidewalks, curbs and gutters on Flower street, between Sixth and Pico, is annuled.

The case, known on the record as Pepper vs. Nieman, was decided yesterday by Judge Conrey, in favor of the plaintff.

Enoch Pepper, one of the property owners, objected to the assessment, and brought suit to quiet tities to his property. The suit hinged on the point that the notices of the work were not posted on the street within 100 feet of one another by the nearest measurement that could be made.

It is held that the notices must be within 100 feet or less of one another.

ALLEN UNOFFICIAL ONE DAY.

Judge Allen was a private citizen for a little over one day, and during that brief space of time no one went to him to settle any differences. Yesterday about noon he received his commission from the Governor, and during the afternoon took the oath of office before County Clerk Keyes, as one of the justices of the newly-created Appellate Court for this district.

Judges Wheaton A. Gray of Tulare county, and Smith of this city, are expected to arrive in Los Angeles this afternoon, or at latest tomorrow, and it is anticipated that the three judges will convene Monday and at once organize. A clerk, deputy clerk and stenographer, and bailiff will have to be appointed by the court, and then the District Appellate Court will be ready for business. One of the courtrooms of the Supreme Court will be utilized, and already a mass of business is awaiting disposal that will mean the larger part of two years before the Appellate Court can possibly get even with its work.

Judges James and Bordwell also were sworn yesterday as judges of the Superior Court. Judge James will sit for Judge York for at least two weeks, permitting the latter to overtake the large accumulation of chamber work. Judge Monroe was not sworn yesterday, but his courtroom is waiting for him, for as a successor to Judge Allen he will occupy the bench in Department Six.

The Supervisors will probably make arrangements Monday to have the rooms occupied by Justices Young and Pierce at once fitted up temporarily for two of the judges, and the third will find accommodation in one of the departments of the Supreme Court.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

CRIPPLED FOR LIFE. Alexander J. Smith has begun suit against the Globe Grain and Milling Company to recover $20,500, as damages alleged to have been sustained through the negligence of the defendant, Smith, a truckman, was wheeling produce from the cars, and it is alleged that on each side of the pathway were piled sacks of flour and feed stuff to a height of fifteen to eighteen sacks. He claims one of these piles fell upon the plaintiff and he was so injured as to remain confined to bed for two months, and avers he will be crippled for life.

BELONGS TO VERMONT. Albion Mower, a young man who came here from Vermont not long ago, was arrested on an insanity complaint. He became violent and kept yelling that he was dying, and that he could see his brother and sister who are in the East by his side. It appears there is a hereditary taint in the family, and as soon as the patient's condition is improved his friends will send for him.

SATURDAY TO PLEAD. A. W. and Aimee Melolling were arraigned before Judge Smith yesterday on burglary charges, and Saturday was set as the time for pleas. The defendants are charged with having taken a quantity of china and bric-a-brac from H. H. Miller and George Robinson.

EASY SENTENCE. J. S. Guthrie was permitted to plead guilty to petty larceny by Judge Smith yesterday, having stolen a bicycle from Second and Spring streets. He was sentenced to thirty days in the County Jail.

COGAN SENT UP. John Cogan scared people at El Monte by buying a rope with which to hang himself. When he began to carry his threat into execution he was arrested and yesterday was committed to the State Hospital at Patton.

SOLDIER SENTENCED. E. Macdonald pleaded guilty yesterday to having stolen clothing on April 5 from E. W. Chaffee. He told Judge Smith that he arrived from the Philippines a year ago and then went stealing. He was sent to Folsom for a year.

THE LINCOLN DIVORCE. Elizabeth Lincoln was granted a divorce from Henry Lincoln by Judge Trask yesterday, on the ground of desertion. They were married in New York in 1895.

FIVE DOLLARS OF MILLION. The Kern Consolidated Gold Mining Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $1,000,000, of which $5 has been subscribed. The directors are E. Palmer, Jr., W. A. James, Isabella, Kern county; A. C. Shoemaker, L. W. Cummings, S. Cummings, Los Angeles.

Policelets.

W. H. Mead and C. N. Herrick couldn't resist the temptation to speed their automobiles over the smooth stretch of asphalt on South Main street. Their fun cost them just $50 each, in the Police Court. Mead and Herrick were chased down by policemen in the auto loaned the department by the Automobile Club.

H. A. Stone forgot to attach a number to his buzz-wagon. He paid $10 for temporary loss of memory.

Nels Misquist, Thomas Peterson and Fred Smith preferred to ride wheels on the sidewalk. The street didn't suit their fastidious tastes. They were fined $5 each.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

PIPE THIEVES ARE BAD MEN.

WARRANT FOR ASSAULT AGAINST CHARLES DAINGERFIELD.

Inspector Brooks Swears to Complaint Against Men He and Policemen Chased in Automobiles—Held for Examination on Charges of Larceny and Assault.

Charles Daingerfield and James McCoy, the two alleged pipe thieves who were chased by policemen and Water Inspector Brooks in two automobiles, are bad ones according to the police.

Yesterday Inspector Brooks swore to a complaint charging Daingerfield with assault. This is in addition to complaints charging both men with larceny.

While the officers were chasing the men, Daingerfield drew an ugly looking knife, walked through the brewery and defied anyone to interfere with him. When the man was finally cornered, he submitted sullenly to arrest. A knife, with an exposed blade, was found in his sleeve.

In Justice Chambers's department of the Police Court yesterday, the two accused men were arraigned—Daingerfield on two charges. Their trials were set for Monday morning, April 17, at 11 o'clock. Bail in the larceny cases was fixed at $200 each, but Daingerfield was held in the sum of $300 additional on the assault charge. Failing to give bail both men were remanded to jail.

Last evening Daingerfield was identified by the victim of a hold-up, as the man who did the job.

BULL IN CHINA SHOP.

NEGRESS WRECKS RESTAURANT.

Ellen Burkley, a young negress, did the bull-in-the-china-shop act in a restaurant conducted by E. Turman on East Fifth street near the Arcade depot.

Ellen thought the restaurant man owed her more than he was willing to pay, on account of services, so she proceeded to smash a quantity of glass and chinaware in order to get even, in a playful manner she dumped several shelves containing glassware, and otherwise demolished things generally. Justice Chambers could see no extenuating circumstances, so the girl was adjudged guilty of malicious mischief. She will be sentenced today.

DENTIST TIRED.

UNABLE TO BEAT LAW.

D. Creighton a South Spring street dentist who struggled along and plugged teeth without having a certificate from the State Board, finally tired of fighting against the inevitable in the Police Court, so he entered a plea of guilty yesterday and paid a fine of $50. Creighton was arrested several weeks ago and his case has been dragging ever since. He thought he could beat the authorities in a legal fight but he finally changed his mind and paid up.

BITTER DOSE.

VINEGAR WAS BAD.

Distilled and colored vinegar sold for pure apple cider vinegar was responsible for a lot of trouble to Jasper Pearson, manager of Newberry's branch store on Pico street. Health Inspector Drummond purchased a quantity of the bogus stuff from the Pico-street grocery, and then he swore to a complaint charging Pearson with a violation of the health ordinances. Pearson entered a plea of guilty before Justice Chambers. A fine of $25 was imposed on the grocer, who said he didn't know he had any of the impure stuff in his house.

OIL INDUSTRY.

ELKHORN TO BE TESTED FULLY.

RIGS SHIPPED IN AND HOUSES FOR HANDS GOING UP.

Strong Belief That Spreckels is Backing Prospective Development. Superior Court Knocks Out Claim of New England & Coalinga Oil Company in Kern County.

The value of the oil lands in the Elkhorn district west of Sunset and McKittrick is about to be tested by C. J. Sperry, one of the operators who has made a number of locations there. Two rigs have been shipped to the new field, where work will be started simultaneously on two wells. Houses for employés are also being erected, which seems to indicate confidence in the future and a determination to test the lands to the limit for oil.

The Recruit Oil Company, which is composed of a steering committee of the Associated, has already completed the work of building several houses on the west side of the valley, but as yet no move toward erecting derricks or drilling has been started. The Recruit people are said to have blanket filings on 40,000 acres of land in Elkhorn and its vicinity.

IS SPRECKELS IN IT?

There is a strong belief abroad that Mr. Sperry is acting for A. B. Spreckels and associates of San Francisco. If so, there are likely to be extensive operations undertaken in the district west of Sunset in the near future, if oil is found there. Mr. Spreckels and the Crocker-Woolworth bank people entered the oil business in Kern county about eighteen months ago by their purchase of the Monarch and several affiliated companies at Sunset, now supplying oil to the Santa Fé.

With such a combination and the Recruit, both working in earnest, results should be obtained soon, if at all. The land would doubtless have been exploited a year or two ago had not the promotors been waiting for a number of previous locations to lapse through failure to do assessment work.

WILL HOLD LANDS.

By a decision of Superior Judge Austin at Fresno the New England and Coalinga Oil Company is denied recovery of valuable oil lands on section 24 at Coalinga, now held by M. Congdon and associates. The company claimed that the lands had been unlawfully jumped by the present holders, but the court held that the company had forfeited its rights through neglect to do assessment.

LIKED HER RINGS.

Got Them and Disappeared, Says Girl Complainant; Arrested Upon Return.

George W. Murphy, alias George W. Walls, a man about town with a penchant for rings, and an unsavory reputation in police circles, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Hawley and Murphy on a charge of felony embezzlement.

Miss Louise Mugnemi of No. 1110 San Pedro street is the complaining witness. She says Murphy (or Walls) courted her a year ago, and that one evening while the couple were at the theater Murphy admired three diamond rings, and asked to be allowed to take them and have them cleaned. The girl readily acquiesced. To her dismay, rings and Murphy disappeared.

The young man evidently found a sudden dislike for the climate of Los Angeles, for his old haunts knew him no more until a few days ago. Two months past a warrant for Murphy's arrest was issued. Yesterday he was found sauntering around with old acquaintances. The rings, which are valued at $200, were pawned for $45. The police say this is not the first time Murphy has been in trouble on account of rings which belonged to other people.

WHO SLUGGED HIM?

Did Ex-Counterfeiters Try to End the Life of Shoe Clerk Morgareidge?

Charles F. Morgareidge, the shoe clerk who was slugged at Sixth street and Broadway Wednesday night in plain view of dozens of people, remains in a precarious condition at the Receiving Hospital.

Yesterday morning Morgareidge rallied and became perfectly conscious. He said he knew the man who struck him, but he did not know the man's name. Half a dozen people were in the immediate vicinity when the assault occurred, but they turned their backs. The names of these parties are known to the police, who will make an effort to force them to disclose the identity of the assailant.

Morgareidge assisted the detectives and Secret Service Agent Cronin in the capture of Counterfeiters Craig and Hine at Thirty-ninth and Wall streets last October, when the officers broke up one of the most extensive counterfeiting plants on the Coast. Morgareidge suggested yesterday that it was possible he was slugged at the instance of pals of the bogus-money men; but the police do not accept this theory.

SERIOUS COLLAPSE

Thousands of women of every age and condition break down and are brought to the very verge of utter collapse because they have kidney trouble and do not know it. It saps vitality—shatters nerves—makes work or rest or sleep impossible.

Many a sufferer takes medicine for imaginary "female complaints" until she is utterly discouraged and much worse. And yet it is so easy to tell when the kidneys are sick, and so easy to cure them with the right sort of treatment.

Prolonged neglect means diabetes or Bright's Disease.

How many apparently healthy women there are who begin to find household work a burden; who are constantly "all tired out," irritable and depressed, and who suffer often from sick, dizzy headaches, pain in the back and sides, rheumatism and irregular flow of the urine.

They are always ailing, but not sick enough to go to bed, and they wait for the spells to pass away.

But the cause is still there. The kidneys are sick, and work only aggravates the trouble.

The kidneys have in some way become congested, irritated, or inflamed, and are failing to remove the uric acid and other poisons from the blood. These poisons are attacking the nerves, muscles, and vital organs.

Get at the root of the trouble and cure the kidneys. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy relieves the tired-out feeling, gives them new life and energy, and makes backaches disappear from the aches and pains, aches, and nervousness.

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills in your own city prove the truth of the testimony of a resident of your neighbor.

MINOR BASEBALL.

FRESHIES BEAT SOPHS.

A very lively game was played on the U.S.C. grounds yesterday by the Sophomore and Freshmen teams, which the latter won after a long and exciting struggle, the score being 17 to 16. This was the first game between the two divisions, and, naturally, quite a crowd of U.S.C. students watched the performance, and the applause was hearty and invigorating. The line-up was as follows:

Freshmen.		Sophs.
Taylor	catcher	Cooper
Harris	pitcher	Best
Miller	first base	Willett
Atkinson	second base	Garcia
Black	third base	Carnes
O. Butler	short stop	Buckmaster

BALL PLAYER'S FATE.

RUPTURES A BLOOD VESSEL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—William Garrison is dead at his home in Camden, N. J., from a peculiar injury received while playing ball. Last Saturday Garrison made a swing at a pitched ball. He missed, and his momentum was so great that he spun around three times. Apparently, Garrison felt no ill effects until several days later, when he was taken ill, and the physicians found that one of the main blood vessels of the stomach had been ruptured. Nothing could be done then to save his life.

NEW YORK'S HIPPODROME.

OTHER CITIES TO COPY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The hippodrome, New York's new $3,500,000 place of amusement, which was opened last night, may be said to have dazed the audience of 6000 people. The wonders of the hippodrome will ring around the world, for there never has been at any stage of the world's history, a theater to compare with it. As an architectural triumph, it is one of the crowning gems in New York's diadem. One of the foremost architects of New York said last night: "It is a marvel as a public building, as an architectural effort, as a triumph of artistic endeavor."

The capital for the undertaking was furnished by John W. Gates and other Wall-street multi-millionaires. The instantaneous success of last night's performance made it certain other big cities will have hippodromes built on exactly similar lines. The directors of the hippodromes came to this conclusion before last night's performance was finished.

These matches will be played the first two weeks in May in Hazard's Pavilion, or Temple Auditorium as it is now called, and should be interesting, for each of the contesting teams has lost but one game during the past season. The dates for the games and the contesting teams are as follows:

Terry McGovern's "Joke."

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—Terry McGovern, "Dry Dollar" Sullivan and "Kid McCoy" passed through here today on their way from Hot Springs to New York. The report that McGovern was suffering from nervous prostration and was in a critical condition served to draw many friends of the former champion to the station, but to their surprise the first person who leaped from the train was Terry McGovern, trim-appearing and giving every indication of the best of health. According to members of the party, the reports of McGovern's illness originated from Terry's inclination for practical jokes.

The scores in the three games were 1132, 1108 and 1014. This, also, is the first time on record that any team has rolled two 1100 totals in one series. CAREY OFFERS TO SETTLE.

CARNIVAL QUEEN'S HUSBAND ASKS PAY FOR SERVICES.

Band Men Say He Must Disgorge Without Remuneration — Mix-up Over Polygamist's Estate — Park Suicide Identified—Gas Stock is Transferred.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, April 13.—In response to a hurry-up letter from Attorney L. A. Wright, employed by the City Guard Band, George W. Carey, formerly president of the band and husband of the queen of the recent carnival, has wired Manager J. M. Dodge of the band that he will pay back the money which the musicians claim is due them, but intimates that he will expect something for his services. Demand was made on Carey for $160, the amoult retained by Carey for the queen's expenses for a trip to the Portland fair. There are other matters connected with Carey's handling of the queen's voted funds unexplained, although the band manifests a willingness to settle for $160. Carey, who agrees to settle by June 1, will receive nothing for his services. Carey is supposed to be in the employ of the California Carnival Company.

A POLYGAMIST'S HEIRS.

Some of the results of polygamy are shown in a petition filed in the Superior Court by the children of William Cooper, deceased. The document recites that before his death, Cooper made over all his property in San Diego county to his children. It afterward developed that Cooper had married a woman in Salt Lake, other than the mother of the petitioners, by whom he had several children. The first wife commenced suit to recover for her own use the property which had been given to the children of the secon dwife. But the petition indicates that after much litigation, the first wife and the children of the second got together and patched up a settlement of the dispute.

SUICIDE IDENTIFIED.

The man who shot and killed himself in the H-street park last night has been identified as George Start, a miner who has been living at one of the downtown lodging-houses since last December. He had no money, and was in poor health. Little is known of him other than that he was a miner, and that he formerly lived at Tonopah, Nev., where he was known as George Clark.

GAS STOCK TRANSFERRED.

A majority of the stock of the San Diego Gas and Electric Light Company has been transferred to the Consolidated Gas and Electric Company, whose directors are George Chaffey, Walter S. Newhall, J. W. Phelps, John G. Mossin, Lynn Helm and E. S. Williams, all of Los Angeles. A meeting of the directors will be held in a few days for the election of officers. The company contemplates extensions to La Jolla, Pacific Beach and to some of the more remote sections of the city.

KENNEDY STILL IN JAIL.

The State failed yesterday to make out a case against Franklin J. Kennedy, who was charged with making out and signing a bogus advertising contract for the Los Angeles Herald. The trial developed that the contract had been taken from his room by people interested in the prosecution. Kennedy's story being that he was holding it as a memorandum, it being the duplicate of what he expected to get from Landlord Robinson of the Robinson Hotel. Kennedy has been rearrested on another complaint, charging forgery, and is in jail.

YACHT NAVAJO BURNED.

A letter received from Lower California announces that the gasoline yacht Navajo, which left this city for San Ygnacio, Lower California, several weeks ago, took fire and was burned while off that place recently. Capt. Victor Gunn, a sailor and two passengers were on board when the fire broke out. They escaped in a small boat to the shore. The yacht was of nine tons and yawl rigged.

UNIVERSITY CLUB FEAST.

One hundred and forty members of the University Club sat at the banquet board at Levy's Café last night, and after enjoying an elaborate dinner they listened with great satisfaction to a discourse by Robert J. Burdette on the theme, "Thou shalt not love thy neighbor more than thyself." In this the Rockefeller incident was touched upon and many of the present-day reform ideas were humorously presented. Other speakers were L. C. Gates, Robert N. Bulla, Charles Cassat Davis and Ed North. Eleven new members were elected, bringing the membership up to 228. The officers of the past year were reelected as follows: President, W. C. Patterson; vice-president, Rev. William Horace Day; secretary and treasurer, Fielding J. Stilson.

AKRON SOCIETY BANQUET.

The Akron (O.) Society held its second banquet last night at the Angelus. There were informal talks and music, and the guest of honor was Oliver S. Bond, president of the society, who will start next week for Akron, after having spent the winter in this city. Those present were Oliver S. Bond, E. M. Kiebler, Lynn Stocking, I. T. Huntsberger, James Howard, Frank J. Ziegler, Prof. J. B. Poulard, Henry Egley, C. M. Robinson, A. H. Low, Dr. T. C. Low, M. Streicher, George C. Washburn, S. H. Force and F. H. Ayers. The Akron Society now numbers sixty members, and its intention is to hold monthly banquets.

BOOKED BY THE CARD.

James Inverarity, a young real estate operator of the city, got a free advertisement worth about $1 a line, and there were twenty-five lines, pure reading matter, in yesterday's Times. And yet Mr. Inverarity is not happy, for the jag so generously ascribed to him by officials of the Police Station belonged to old man Carrann of Forty-eighth street and Central avenue. Carrann and his jag were taken off a Central-avenue car, Wednesday, and on account of a cut scalp and wrenched foot, sustained while resisting ejectment from the car, he was taken to the Receiving Hospital. He was too befuddled to tell his name, but one of Inverarity's cards was found in his pocket; the officials jumped to the conclusion that it was his own card, and he was booked accordingly. The police reporters got the name from the records, and Inverarity was, therefore, much surprised to see himself described in the papers yesterday morning as a senile person with a large and juicy jag.

ON "SCIENTIFIC SOCIALISM."

The Rev. J. M. A. Spence of Green Bay, Wis., addressed a fair-sized assemblage in Masonic Hall last evening, his subject being "Scientific Socialism." This was the first in a series of three lectures on this theme. "Socialism," said Mr. Spence, "means the collective ownership of the means of production and their democratic management by the producers of wealth. It is the simple proposition that the men who do the world's work shall have the full product of their labor. Under Socialism there will be no masters, no slaves."

TAKEN FROM VILE PLACE.

Clara McKnight was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Banks, but no specific charge was placed against her. The girl is only 14 years of age, but the officer found her in a house of questionable repute on New High street, and when he went there the occupants of the place tried to hide her. When he threatened them with arrest they produced her. The house is one of the most notorious in the city, and although the child was employed there only as a waitress, she was obliged to witness scenes of wild debauchery.

BUSINESS.

Movements of the stocks at New York yesterday confused traders, but the aggressive advance in Union Pacific caused the day's transactions to have the appearance, on the whole, of strength. At Chicago, wheat was bullish. July closed at 88¼ and May at 1.16¾.

HIS DAY OF PLAY.

With the cares of State practically lifted from his mind, and his strong, young shoulders straightened back from the weary grind of his office desk, the President of the United States has taken to the open, and is enjoying an unbegrudged play-day. The pomp and circumstance of government are far away from him now, the stately diplomats in lace and gold have faded from his view, the tireless office seeker, for the time being, bores and pesters him not. But, instead, the call of the wild is in his heart, and the winds of the West are singing in his soul with the song he loved of old. Booted and spurred for the chase, with the rising sun to greet him at morn, he will lie down by the camp-fire's glow at night weary, yet content. He is a boy again, and he is happy.

From the great, open plains and prairies of the Southwest, the President will proceed to the still more strenuous and even more dangerous life of Rocky Mountain wilderneesses where larger and fiercer game will await his prowess and skill as a hunter. There are those of our gentle countrymen and countrywomen who will dwell in a state of timid fear for the nation's Chief during these days to come. But they should feel no alarm. His arm and his heart are strong, and he knows his ground well. He is a full-sized man, and his blood is red. He needs the play—for such it is to him—and it will do him good.

But, whether it be in gentle fear or brave delight, the heart of the whole nation will follow the President lovingly as he proceeds on his outing. Wherever he may be and whatever it is that he does—this day and every day—he can never be far from the lively interest of the whole people. Never in the seats of the mighty—and in the chief seat of all—from Washington down throughout the whole, long, illustrious line of our Presidents, has there sat a man who has come to be more beloved than Theodore Roosevelt. May God protect him in His kindly care.

GIVE THE DEVIL HIS DUE.

The zeal of Gov. Vardaman of Mississippi in enforcing the laws and preventing lynching is worthy of the highest commendation. More especially is this true when we take into consideration the fact that Gov. Vardaman lives in a State and section where lynching is more or less a popular pastime. Notwithstanding his environment, the Governor of Mississippi has set his face steadily against this practice, and has done all in his power on more than one occasion to put a stop to it.

It is not out of place to mention, casually, that in most of the lynchings that have occurred in Mississippi the victims have been black men. A case is now pending which is different. The victim of the mob was a white man—Sheriff Hoag—who was killed at Senatobia while defending a white prisoner from lynching. "I will land every member of the mob that killed Sheriff Hoag in the penitentiary or on the gallows before I let up," was the rather emphatic declaration of Gov. Vardaman when he received the news that Sheriff Hoag had been killed. Proof that the Governor was not joking when he made this remark is found in the fact that he is now at Senatobia, where the crime was committed, and that a reward of $500 has been offered for the apprehension of the mob leaders.

Gov. Vardaman has been aptly termed a negrophobist, and he has earned the title, beyond question, by his savage utterances against the negro. One would naturally suppose that his zeal in the pursuit of the slayers of Sheriff Hoag is stimulated by the fact that the affair in which the latter lost his life was "a white man's party" all around. But while Gov. Vardaman abhors the negro, he abhors the crime of lynching even more, and it is only fair to say that in his zeal to suppress lynching and its allied crimes, he probably does not allow considerations of race or color to influence him. If there were more governors in the South like Vardaman, there would be fewer cases of lynching, and a better observance of the laws in general—for the crime of lynching breeds other crimes hardly less heinous.

Without inquiring into Gov. Vardaman's race prejudices, it is but just to commend in high terms his stand on the side of right and justice in the case here referred to. He is eminently, superbly right in this stand. Lynching is nothing more nor less than mob violence. It is a violation of the laws of the land, and an outrage against the sovereign power and authority of the people. Sheriff Hoag, in protecting his prisoner against the mob was performing his sworn duty and upholding the majesty of the law. The men who participated in his killing were guilty of murder, and they should be punished according to their deserts. It is apparent that Gov. Vardaman intends that they shall be so dealt with, if the power at his command can bring about such a result. More power to his elbow; and may there be many more like him in the sunny land where the lynching of negroes has come to be a sort of popular diversion.

"GOOD-BY, SUCKERS."

Such was the insolent message left for their dupes by a gang of get-rich-quick swindlers, upon leaving Kansas City "between two days." The message was posted on the door of the offices hastily vacated by the concern, known by the name of "The American Mercantile Association," which had been doing a rushing business in Kansas City for some time. From the "head offices" of the concern, at St. Joseph, a notice was sent out to subscribers stating that the business of the corporation had been suspended, and that it would be unable to complete or carry out its contracts. No reason whatever was given for the suspension, and there is weeping and wailing among the poor dupes, most of whom are working girls and laborers. The "subscribers" had agreed to pay $1 a week for eighty weeks, on condition that they should receive, at the end of that period, $100. One poor woman, who had paid $7.50 a week for sixty-six weeks, or an aggregate of $495, expected soon to draw out $720, but of course, she got nothing.

One of the most curious manifestations of human nature is seen in the avidity with which credulous persons grasp at the bait thrown out by these swindling concerns which have grown up all over the country. One would be strongly tempted to say, in all such cases, "It served them right," were it not for the fact that most of the victims are poor men, or poor women, who cannot afford to lose the money thus taken from them. In any case, we cannot bestow pity upon them very lavishly. They are swindled with their eyes wide open, and their cupidity is appealed to so successfully that they are possessed of an intense desire to get much for little.

The national government is doing all it can well do for the abatement of these evils, by refusing to allow the mails to be used for purposes of fraud. But the thieves and robbers (for they are nothing better) adopt so many ingenious devices for the conduct of their nefarious schemes that the Postoffice Department is unable to detect them all. Nor are the civil authorities entirely equal to this great task, under present conditions. As new methods of robbing the unwary are devised, new laws are needed to check them.

But much might be done that is not done, by the civil authorities (outside of the Postoffice Department,) to check this growing evil. Existing laws may not be wholly adequate. They are certainly inadequate if not enforced, or only half enforced. These violators of law have been treated with so much lenience in the past that they imagine themselves to be in a sense immune against prosecution in the courts. Laws are enacted for the protection of the public. Let these laws be enforced strictly, and if more stringent laws are needed let them be enacted. It is as much the moral duty of the government to protect its people against the robbers who masquerade under the guise of get-rich-quick schemes as it is to protect them against the robber who boldly waylays and robs the citizen.

Grand juries often devote too much of their time to the investigation of minor evils, while they pay no attention to evils that are patent and serious. What is needed in all the States of the Union is a concerted and determined movement against these swindling, get-rich-quick devices, in whatever guise they may appear. Conviction may not always be possible, but a determined movement against these law-breakers would have a salutary effect in discouraging get-rich-quicksters and driving them out of business.

The Congregationalists declare that they cannot consistently refuse Mr. Rockefeller's gift of $100,000, for the reasons that they have already accepted it and have spent half of the money. It's rather a difficult matter to tear holes in reasons as weighty as these are, and unanimous consent should now be asked to declare the incident closed.

ON FATEFUL SEAS.

That a great naval battle will soon be fought between the Russian and Japanese fleets is as certain as anything human can well be. What will be the outcome? This is a question which it is far easier to ask than to answer.

Latest reports indicate that Rojestvensky is pushing steadily northward in the China Sea, with his large fleet of over forty ships. That he is ready and anxious to meet the ships of Togo, and to try conclusions with him, is evidenced by the fact that the Russian admiral is no longer veiling his movements, but is following the main route of commerce.

Just at what point the hostile fleets will meet is problematical, for the whereabouts of Togo's ships have not been reported with any degree of definiteness for several days. It is safe to say, however, that if Togo is for the present avoiding a conflict, it is for a definite purpose, as the Japs are not given to running away from danger.

When the clash comes, as it is sure to come soon, it will doubtless be one of the greatest naval battles of history. In the nature of things it must be so, for the stake is a desperate one, the fleets are large, and they are manned, on both sides, with brave and determined men.

Upon no engagement of the war has so much depended as depends upon this coming sea fight. It is large in possibilities on either side, and its results will be of the utmost potentiality, whichever side may win.

If Rojestvensky wins—and he seems very confident of winning—he will turn the tide of war in Russia's favor, by regaining command of the Yellow Sea, and of the waters adjacent to the many islands of Nippon. Russian success would mean the cutting off of the large Japanese army in Manchuria from its base of supplies, and the menacing of the entire Japanese seacoast by the Russian fleet. Japan could hardly continue the war very long under such conditions.

If, on the other hand, Togo should succeed in sinking, disabling or capturing the Russian fleet, it would thereby inflict almost irreparable loss upon the Russian cause, for Russia could then conduct the war only from the land side. With Gen. Linevitch's armies seriously crippled by their recent reverses, with superior forces confronting them, and with the capacity of the Siberian Railroad inadequate to the task of throwing another great army into the field at once, the cause of Russia would be such as to lead inevitably to the speedy conclusion of peace.

Put and call, the hurly burly of the pit, the roar of greed, the thrill and throb of the great race for gold—all these fell and faded and died away in the heart of John W. Gates, the prince of speculators, when the word was brought to him that his old father lay at death's door. And we shall all think the better of him for it. "One touch of nature makes the whole world kin."

Suppose President Castro has become "insolent," even as our Mr. Bowen declares. Hasn't he had cause? Every nation on earth has been conducting the government of Venezuela, except Venezuela itself. Now the people down there have decided to run their own country. And if they don't do it, they're a lot of lobsters. Vive Venezuela!

Ordinarily a man who goes about in a climate so near like heaven as this is, and openly and boldly flaunts the word "Chicago" on the outside band of his hat, is taking big chances of getting himself disliked. However, since the guilty persons are just plain sailormen from a United States cruiser, the offense will be overlooked.

That keen and industrious writing representative of the Erie Railway Company, J. H. Maddy (who has just arrived in Los Angeles,) has something to say for the railway side of the freight-rate question. His views are given through The Times today, the more readily because they have heretofore been assailed by us.

If the reports prove true that there is soon to be a revolt in China against the dynasty, you just watch the way our old friend Tsi An will get busy. She is only a gentle, sweet-tempered old lady, but the way she can make a Chinese rebel climb a tree is a sight for the tin gods in the Joss houses.

When the President emerges from the Southwest and the high spots in the Rockies, he will be as lean as a coyote and as hard as nails. Then let Mike Donovan and those other boxing fellows, back yonder, prepare for a wallop that will make them see comets every time the scratch is toed.

European nations are again seriously considering the advisability of disarmament. They might as well. The Japs will get them anyhow, after awhile, when the brown man joins hands with the Chinaman. Can't do it, hey? Well, they did it before, when they weren't in half as good shape as they are now.

An Oregon man discovered a gold mine in a dream. The poet said "A dreamer lives forever." And now it also appears that he shall go forth with a pocket full of the "yellow boys." That's a great combination—to live forever and to be rich all the time.

If all the stockholders of defunct corporations who went broke on oil in California will line the streets when Commissioner J. R. Garfield reaches this town in the near future, the crowd will make circus day look like a deserted village.

If there's anything else that young Mr. Garfield wants to know besides the oil business, now's the time for him to nail it, while he's in Kansas. And all he need do is to ask the first farmer he meets, without regard to the style of his whiskers.

Mr. Roosevelt's hunting trip will not be really complete unless he shall spend a few days in Kansas shooting at the octopus, as a preparation for his coming campaign against that many-tentacled and pestiferously-inclined monster.

When Commissioner Garfield comes to California we may not be able to tell him all about everything, but we can tell him some things about the oil business, and that's what he's coming for.

It is reported that Arizona is having more trouble with its canal dam. Arizona seems lately to be having some kind of dam trouble right along. Especially since the rains have set in.

Tokio is said to have no information concerning Admiral Rojestvensky's plans. The thing for Roje to do is to keep them that way.

A Chicago man has made a fortune on woman's vanity. The same thing has made many another man poor.

France disclaims any and all fear of the Kaiser. Just the same, it's safe to bet that Jean Crapaud is not overlooking any of Willie's moves.

It is to be hoped that the President will give even the bears a "square deal."

The Archbishop of Canterbury is said to be engaged in the formation of a league for the obliteration of the godless Sunday from society. The association is to consist exclusively of matrons in high life, and Lady Wimborne is to be president. Cold dinners will be one of the rules insisted upon.

To Drain the Everglades.

It is proposed to reclaim the everglades, the great and practically unexplored region of Florida. The region contains about 3,000,000 acres and has never been thoroughly explored, though excursions have been made through it. It is believed that the land would be very valuable if drained. A company has been formed to undertake the work and a message in regard to the matter is expected from Gov. Broward to the Florida State Legislature. At present the State gets no revenue whatever from the region, while if the everglades were drained and a portion of the region put under cultivation the additional tax return would probably be large.

THE GRAY ROAD OF SORROW.

The world has many a road for the feet of you and me,
They cross the winding hills where the winds are blowing free,
They dip down the valleys and through many a place they're cast

And though we leave it oft the whiles, we come to it again;
We come to it again with the sighing rains that fall
On the gray road of sorrow that loves and lures us all.

Once I thought to never walk that gray road hedged with yew,
Nor ever did you think to come, if I can read you true—
'Twas then that life and love were young, our blood with youth aflame,
Yet I found you on the gray road when first to it I came.

With the trouble dim upon your eyes that once were dancing blue,
With the trouble in the eyes of you, the hot tears on your cheek,
And the lips of you a-tremble with the word you could not speak.

And yet, oh, heart of me, as we wander down the years,
We fear it less and love it more, that gray road of tears—
That gray road of sorrow with its whispering yew and rain,
Its heartaches of memory, its trouble and its pain.

The paths of the primrose and the sunlit trails of song—
The throb of the gray road we had not learned to know.

And 'tis not when the laughter and lilt of joy and song
Rings down the way of roses, where the gay and happy throng,
That life has most to give us, but it is when falls the rain

So, here's my glass to yours, and I'll quaff with you the wine,
And I'll give you back another song for that you gave for mine,
But when God calls us near Him, with souls and hearts laid bare,
The gray road of sorrow is the road that we must fare.

JOHN S. M'GROARTY.

IN THE BIG INDUSTRIES.

A writer in the Cosmopolitan Magazine makes a vigorous onslaught on the International Harvester Company, which is the official designation of one of the biggest trusts in the land. The annual production of the farms of the United States is, in round figures, $4,900,000,000. This is three times the gross earnings of all the railroads, and fourfold the output of all the mines—gold, silver, iron, copper and coal. In carrying on their vast industry the farmers spend each year $100,000,000 on tools, implements and machinery. The great bulk of this money goes into the treasury of the harvester trust, and the writer claims that $32,000,000 of the amount, being 80 per cent. of the profits, "may be counted as merest rapine, attained by methods that would shame a footpad, and that are wholly criminal in the eye of the law."

Stealing a Railway Rebate.

The indictment proceeds: "As now framed, the harvester trust controls over nine-tenths of the farm-implement trade, and by methods of extortion, construction and lawbreaking, so dominates the market situation as to compel what opposition is struggling against it, to do business at a loss." The modus operandi in securing the precise equivalent of a heavy railway rebate, yet without this objectionable term being used or the law openly violated, certainly merits the palm for ingenuity. Chicago, having been pitched upon as the central point of distribution, the absolute control over two minor local railroads was first of all secured. Every car of every other line loading with harvester trust wares has to travel over a mile or two of one or other of these railways, and for this service an extortionate charge is made, and is cheerfully acquiesced in by the so-called victims. This trick secures what is virtually a rebate amounting to between $9 and $10 per car.

Other Grave Charges.

The neat weapon in the hands of the trust is a stringent "exclusion clause," which it imposes on all its agents, binding them not to deal in any agricultural implements excepting those manufactured by the firms whose combination makes the International Harvester Company. As these firms are all the leading ones in the country engaged in this special line of manufacture, and own all the extensive plants, they have the pick of the would-be agents in every city and town. Thus the business of their small rivals is choked at every turn. The last charge of this formidable arraignment is that this United States trust sells its goods throughout Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and South America at prices widely under those charged to our own home farmers. Here lies the proof, if other proofs were wanting, that extravagant profits are being made on this side. The story is a startling one, and goes to show that, after the beef trust and the Standard Oil trust investigations, President Roosevelt will still have plenty of similar work on hand.

Irrigation in Egypt.

So great has been the success of the reclamation work following on the construction of the Assouan dam, that already it is being proposed to raise the structure by another twenty feet. This will impound a vast body of additional water, and will provide for the irrigation of yet another 500,000 acres. The cost of this extra work is estimated at $2,750,000, and, thanks to the efficient financial administration of Egypt, the money is at once available out of the public-debt surplus. Nor is there now any antagonism of the powers controlling the debt to block the way, as it was attempted to be blocked at the inception of the Assouan enterprise, to futher achievement. The new works will complete the submersion of the famous temples of Philae, but, although this provokes a strong protest from the antiquarians, the spirit of modern utilitarianism brushes all such considerations aside. While these Nile irrigation works are of special interest to the United States because of our similar undertakings now in progress, it has also to be remembered that they cannot fail to have a permanent effect on the markets of the world. Egypt's cotton crop will, in a few years' time, be vastly increased, and the ancient land of the Pharaohs is also likely to become once again a granary for Europe.

Home-Made Cold Air.

An electric-motor-driven refrigerating plant for household use is the latest device recommended for every perfectly-equipped home. It gets rid altogether of refrigeration by ice, which has so many obvios shortcomings. The cold air produced by mechanical means is absolutely dry, sweet and pure, with no possibility of the deposit of slime or the lodgment of disease germs. The machine is claimed to be so simple that it can be placed in charge of the ordinary servant. It occupies a compartment of the refrigerator, and has simply to be connected with the electric-lighting circuit and the water pipe. A one-half-horsepower motor is used, and the only manually operated device is the electric switch to start and to stop it. The ammonia-expansion valve is automatically opened and closed, while the supply of water for condensing purposes, and the pressure in the ammonia tank are also self-regulating. The entire plant is portable, being mounted on castors, and occupying little more space than the ordinary ice chest now in domestic use. From the electric supply point of view the device is peculiarly opportune, for the supply of cold air can be produced by a few hours' running of the motor in the daytime, when there is no demand for electric light, and the machine will also be in most constant use during the hot summer months, precisely the season when the demand for electric light is at its minimum. In this section of The Times we recently drew attention to the likelihood of liquid air being supplied for the purposes of domestic refrigeration. So the iceman is being attacked from all quarters; it is clear that in these days of rapid scientific development he will soon be as extinct as the street-lamp lighter or the proverbial dodo.

A WORLD WIDE EMPIRE.

The Kaiser Talks of the Future and Says Germans are the Salt of the Earth.

The London Times gives the following report of the Emperor Williams' famous "salt of the Earth" speech, recently delivered at Bremen, previous to his departure on his voyage to the Mediterranean:

"When as a young man I stood before the model of Bromme's ship it was with feelings of resentment that I realized the disgrace which had befallen our fleet and the flag we flew in those days. And since, after all, from my mother's side a drop of sailed blood (Seeblut) flows in my veins, this incident, perhaps, was destined to be the means of giving me the clue as to how and in what manner I was to frame my conception of the duties which henceforth lay before the German Empire. When I came to the throne after my grandfather's titanic age, I swore a soldier's oath (Fahneneid) that I would do my utmost to keep at rest the bayonet and cannon, but I swore, too, that the bayonet must be kept sharp, the cannon loaded, and both efficient, in order that neither jealousy nor envy looking askance at us from without might disturb us in the cultivation of our garden and in the decoration of our beautiful house. Upon the ground of the experiences which history had taught me I inwardly pledged myself never to strive for empty world dominion. For what has become of the so-called worldwide empires? Alexander the Great, Napoleon the First, all the great heroes of war swam in blood, and they left behind them nations bowed beneath the yoke which rebelled again at the first opportunity and brought these empires crumbling to their fall.

"The worldwide empire of which I have dreamed is characterized by this, that, above all, the newly created German Empire is to enjoy the most absolute confidence on every side as a quiet, honest and peaceful neighbor; and if ever history should come to speak of a German worldwide empire or of a worldwide dominion of the Hohenzollerns, this empire, this dominion, is to be founded upon conquests gained not by the sword, but by the mutual confidence of those nations which press toward the same goal. In a word, as a great poet says, 'bounded without but boundless within.'

"So you have drawn attention to the ships which hang rich in memories from the roof of this fine old hall. Notwithstanding the great war the period during which I grew to man's estate was neither great nor glorious for the seafaring portion of our nation. Here, too, I have drawn the logical conclusion of that which my forbears have accomplished. At home the army had been developed as far as was necessary. The time for naval armament had come. I thank God that to-day in this council hall I need utter no despairing cry as once at Hamburg. The fleet is afloat and is still being built. The material for the crews is there, the zeal and the spirit of the officers are the same as those which inspired the officers of the Prussian army at Hohenfriedberg, at Koniggratz, and at Sedan, and every German warship launched is one guarantee more for peace on earth; and it also means that our adversaries will by so much less be inclined to pick a quarrel with us, while it will render us by an equal amount more valuable as allies."

His majesty then turned to enumerate the tasks and duties which lay before the rising generation, and exhorted the young "steadily to build the structure to an end, to eschew strife, hatred, dissension and envy, to take a pride in the German fatherland as it is and not to strike after the impossible; finally, to cherish the firm conviction that our Lord and God would never have given Himself such pains with our German fatherland and its people if He had not predestined us to something great.

"We are the salt of the earth, but we must also prove ourselves worthy of this high calling. Therefore our young generation must learn to refuse and to deny itself all that is not good for it, to keep at a distance the contagion of everything which is introduced like disease from foreign lands, and to preserve good morals, discipline and order, reverence and religious feeling. That done, may it one day be written of the German people as it stands written on the helmets of my first regiment of guards, semper talis—always the same. Then we shall be regarded on all sides with respect, on some even with affection, as safe and trustworthy people, and we shall be able to stand with our hand upon our sword hilt, our shield resting before us on the ground, and say tamen—come what will."

The Man Without a Lap.

You can never tell what may be the motive behind some of Dame Nature's methods. Sometimes, when you think she is playing a trick on you, it develops that she is working overtime in your behalf. Proceedings in court up at Green Bay, Wis., have furnished a case in point. It seems that Henry Rahr, a millionaire brewer of the town, was made a defendant in a suit for damages to the tune of $50,000 for having alienated the affections of a fellow-townsman's wife. In addition to his money Rahr possesses some other things that distinguish him from his fellows. He has a girth measurement of 56 inches, weighs 280 pounds, and is built on the Bartlett pear style of architecture, nearly all his surplus avoirdupois being in the waist-line district. The damage case was called for trial and witnesses testified that they had very frequently seen the woman in the case sitting on Rahr's lap. The attorney for the defense, a sort of a modern Solomon, encouraged the witness to go on and tell how they had seen the woman snuggle up in the defendant's lap and receives his caresses, until Rahr had a notion that his lawyer had gone over to the other side. Then Rahr was asked to sit in a chair, in full view of the court and show his lap capacity. His prosperous abdomen bulged out beyond his knees, and the case was won, to the discomfiture and discredit of a lot of gossips, whose testimony had been exaggerated as badly as the defendant's waistline probably give the jury the window, but he will cease being grateful ing his reputation.

The Good Story.

We are convinced much straining of gulish between pure and when the purpose is devoted is commendable large and ever-increasing employment of money suffering and the spread of religion and general uplift suggest that churches and organizations would do the good that may be proper use of money ethical question of the money to be thus earned ington Post.

Conried Seat Sale.

An impression has been formed in some manner that all the seats for Parsifal and Lucia are gone. This is not so, as many good seats remain in all parts of the house, and at all prices. The capacity of Temple Auditorium is very great and a new block of seats will be thrown on the market to-day. These are seats laid away, but not called for by purchasers.

IMPROVING STEAMER SERVICE.

The steamer Francis H. Leggett, Capt. Reiner, is being refitted at San Pedro for passenger service. Her staterooms are being remodeled, and she is generally being made ready for that class of carrier traffic. She will ply regularly between San Pedro and northern ports. She is of the Merchants' Independent Steamship Line, of which C. G. Krueger of Los Angeles is agent.

Expansion Sale

Tomorrow will be the last day for free embroidery lessons. Hours 9 to 11 and 2 to 4. (Third Floor.)

Inexpensive Draperies

The designs of the periods—Louis XIV, Marie Antoinette and Colonial—with all their original beauty of coloring have been reproduced in many of the 25c and 50c goods. This applies particularly to the new Tapestry Cretonnes, Linen Taffetas, Madras Cloths and Sateens.

A new drapery fabric that is meeting with great popularity is "Monk's Cloth"—a coarse, heavy basket weave sort of stuff that drapes nicely and so makes very serviceable portieres.

Nearly fifty pieces of cretonne, crepe cloths and sateens, such as we have been selling at 25c a yard are on sale at 12 1-2c.

(THIRD FLOOR.)

Black Silk Petticoats $5

Not five-dollar petticoats, though—made of much finer taffeta than you ordinarily get in a $5 skirt. All have graduated accordeon pleated ruffle. All cut generously full and carefully made up.

Very exceptional values,

Undermuslins should correspond in fineness and daintiness with the outer garments on Easter day. Here are a few values from the Undermuslin Department, offered at gratifying price-savings.

Cambric skirts; deep lawn flounce; tucks and wide Point de Paris lace and insertion trimmings; a special value at $1.75.

Stamped Linens

Sale of odd doilies and centerpieces; poppy, poinsettia and other floral designs, done in colors on tinted or natural butcher linen—half price for the purpose of making desired stock adjustments; 9 to 36-inch sizes, regularly sold at 35c to $1.50—specially priced at 17½c and up to 75c.

Hair Ornaments

This spring we introduced a splendid showing of new imported and domestic hair ornaments, which met with such instant and ready sale that only broken lines remain. On these we're willing to forfeit profits, so for fifty cents you may choose from shell and amber side and back combs and barrettes, for which we obtained 75c, $1, $1.50 and more, from complete assortments.

Belts and Girdles

Broken lines from nearly every conceivable style of novelties in taffeta silk belts and crush girdles; such fashionable shades as brown, navy, tan, green and red; they've sold at 75c, $1 and $1.25 all the season. Friday and Saturday, fifty cents.

Small Gloves—Small Prices

Can you wear a small glove? If so we'll pay you liberally to help us dispose of a number of broken lines of glace kid; in colors we've 5½ only; 5½ and 5¾ in black. Dollar-fifty and dollar-seventy-five values at 50c a pair today and Saturday; not fitted, though, at such a reduction.

We continue the sale of Fowne's $1.25 suede-lisle gloves at 75c. Two-button length, in black, white, cream and a few modes.

Handkerchiefs

On Friday and Saturday we're going to let you buy regular 35c handkerchiefs at $1.50 for a box of six, just for your better acquaintance with this splendidly stocked department. Handkerchiefs of sheer Shamrock linen, with hand-embroidered initials, six in box, for $1.50.

BURNED BY A LAMP HEATER.

Chamber of Commerce Entertains Homeseeking Excursionists—Missionary Women in Annual Convention—Fruit Falling Fast and Packing-houses Doing Big Business.

RIVERSIDE, April 13.—A careless employé, who closed the Riverside creamery last evening and left an oil stove burning was responsible for the destruction of the establishment by fire last evening. The creamery was located on Van Buren street, between Hayes and Garfield, and was erected eight years ago at a cost of $7000. It was owned by J. W. Chase.

HOME-SEEKERS' EXCURSION.

There were sixty-seven home-seekers in the excursion party, which came to Riverside today under the direction of a committee of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce. The excursionists are to remain three days. While here, committees made up of real estate dealers and business men will endeavor to make their stay as pleasant as possible. The Chamber of Commerce has gone to the expense of furnishing carriages for the use of the visitors and today they are enjoying drives through the orange groves. Tomorrow they will be taken to the hills, from which they can get a good view of the valley. This is the second of the series of excursions. The committee in charge, is greatly encouraged by the results and it is probable there will be one each week during the spring months.

MISSIONARY WOMEN.

The seventeenth annual convention of the Woman's Home Missionary Union is being held here today and this evening. There are about one hundred delegates present, and they are being entertained by the ladies of the Congregational Church, in which the convention is held. Mrs. George Robertson, president of the Southern California Woman's Home Missionary Union, presided. Rev. E. F. Goff offered prayer, when the convention opened this morning. A speech of greeting was made by Mrs. O. H. Reed, to which Mrs. Robertson responded. Mrs. J. H. Williams of Redlands also responded.

CITRUS CENTER BRIEFS.

Fruit has been falling so fast from trees in the orange groves that packing-houses are doing a land office business. The shipments made last week were unusually large for this season of the year. One packing-house alone sent fifty-seven cars to New York. This week the output will be even greater.

William Kemp whose parents live at No. 141 Locust street, and who disappeared from home two days ago, is believed to be in Los Angeles. The boy had been at work here delivering papers, and had saved $5. He drew this money from the bank on the day of his disappearance. This morning one of William's playmates said that William told him he was going to Los Angeles, where he hoped to get work as messenger boy.

The body of D. C. Andrade will not be buried until Sunday. This morning Coroner Dickson received a telegram from his daughter in Brooklyn, N. Y. saying to bury the remains plainly and send a bill. The reason why there is such a long delay in burying the unfortunate suicide, is that the money left in an envelop, addressed to the Coroner, is insufficient to pay the hospital expenses, burial expenses and the expense which the Coroner has been put to. He left $50 in cash and a certified check, but he had forgotten to indorse the check, and the undertaker does not feel that he should run any risk, while there are relatives apparently in good circumstances.

SANTA ANA.

ITINERANT MASHER JAILED.

SANTA ANA, April 13.—William H. Hudson, an itinerant peddler of sticking plaster, is languishing in the County Jail, on a ten-days' sentence because of undue attentions to women in the western part of town, at whose homes he called while vending his wares. While urging the good points of his sticking plaster, Hudson on different occasions made attempts to chuck good housewives under the chin and to make other playful advances. He was summarily driven from several places, and finally his conduct was reported to the City Marshal, who placed him under arrest. Today he was given a sentence of ten days for disturbing the peace. Hudson is believed to be slightly unbalanced mentally, as his actions since being taken to jail indicate an unsound mind.

HUNTINGTON'S SURVEYORS.

A ripple of excitement was caused here today by the appearance of a gang of Pacific Electric surveyors, who ran center lines down Fourth street over the distance covered by their franchise. Ever since the recent announcement of Engineer Pillsbury that the company was ready to proceed with its share of paving Fourth street for its double track system, rumor has been persistent that the active construction work on the road would soon commence at this end. Parties of workmen now at the other end of the line have moved their camps nearer this place and steady work is being done in advancing the grading. Houses are being moved from the right of way by F. F. Thorp of this city.

MARRIAGES AND DEATHS.

Marriage licenses were issued today to Michel Erreca, aged 32 of La Habra, and Marcelina Chotro, aged 20, of Fullerton, and to David E. Weinreich, aged 26, of Sacramento, and Lillian G. Farwell, aged 30, of Los Angeles.

Ollie May Bell, the twenty-months old daughter of C. A. Bell of Garden Grove, died last night.

Elijah J. Teel, one of the prominent residents of the Bolsa district, died there today, aged 76 years.

ORANGE.

SAYS HALL IS UNSAFE.

ORANGE, April 13.—The City Engineer has reported to the City Trustees that the old building occupied as City Hall and Public Library is in an unsafe condition and liable to collapse at any time it being composed of rotten concrete and cracked in numerous places, from top to bottom. As some of the cracks have widened perceptibly within the past ten days, he recommends that it be condemned and removed as a menace to life and property.

At the meeting of subscribers of the proposed new bank held on Monday evening in the Bank Hall, the following directors were elected: T. L. Ainsworth, H. Dierker, N. T. Edwards, P. W. Ehlen, D. C. Pixley, M. L. Willits, W. B. Watson, L. D. Toothaker and A. N. Saxton. D. C. Pixley presented a proposition for amalgamation from the Bank of Orange, in which the directors of that institution propose to sell their stock in part to the proposed new bank, retaining one representative on the board of directors, or to close out entirely to the new bank.

George A. Riley, foreman of the Ainsworth Lumber Company's mills, was seriously cut by a sickle which he was sharpening for a customer on Saturday. The point caught, and the blade was drawn across the back of his right hand, severing the arteries. Mr. Riley was much weakened from loss of blood, before securing medical attention but none of the tendons were severed and the use of his hand may not be impaired.

FULLERTON.

'PHONE LINES MULTIPLY.

FULLERTON, April 13.—The local agent of the Sunset Telephone Company reported today that the company has secured the required number of new subscribers to lower the rate to all suburban subscribers from $2.50 to $1.50 a month on all party lines. Nearly all of the entire system will have to be rebuilt to accommodate the new subscribers, now numbering over 100 in Placentia, La Habra, the oil wells and Yorba. Fullerton now has the largest telephone exchange in the State, population of city considered.

CROWD SEES HUMILIATION.

Air Inspector of the Santa Fe at Needles Crushed to Death Under Locomotive—Fire Department in a Row With Defeated Councilmanic Candidate Over Selection of Chief.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 13.—Followed by a crowd of from 500 to 700 citizens, A. J. Downer, a business man, this morning paid an election bet by pushing E. J. Gilbert, an orchardist, through the town in a wheelbarrow and shining his shoes at a bootblack stand. Downer had staked his fortunes upon J. J. Hanford winning the recent Mayoralty fight, and, losing his bet, today was widely advertised as the time on which the lost bet was to be paid.

Gilbert had arrayed himself in a high silk hat, and had secured a pair of calf skin shoes, painted a lovely yellow. The shoes were what almost stunned Downer, but he was equal to the emergency, and in retaliation had a big sign, quickly painted, which read: "A Republican Mugwump," and this sign Downer bribed a barber to stick up in his window just above the bootblack chair as an appropriate label for Gilbert, who had been a Republican, but joined the non-partisan party here.

AIR INSPECTOR KILLED.

Charles P. Van Ekers, Santa Fé inspector of air at Needles, met a shocking death beneath a locomotive Wednesday afternoon, being crushed beyond recognition by the fire box. He had gone beneath the engine to repair an air valve, and while thus employed the engineer started the engine. Ekers's screams, as the big fire box crushed him to the ground, was the first warning the engineer received of the awful accident, and before he could stop the locomotive, death had come to the inspector.

The locomotive had to be jacked up before the body could be extracted. Van Ekers had been employed by the Santa Fé about four months. He came from Liverpool, England, where he leaves a widow and four small children in destitute circumstances.

The Coroner's jury exonerated the company and its employés, the evidence at the inquest, which was held by Coroner Pittman yesterday, showing that the engineer had sounded three blasts of the whistle before starting the locomotive.

ROW OVER FIRE CHIEF.

A row is on between City Trustee Wixom, the defeated Democratic candidate, for reelection as Councilman of the Second Ward and the Fire Department, over the appointment by Wixom of J. L. Cathcart, as fire chief to fill the unexpired term of Chief Stevens, resigned. The firemen claim the right to elect their chief, submitting the result of the election to the Board of City Trustees, but that in Wixom's appointment the department members are totally ignored, and that Wixom has taken this step to get back at the department for assisting in encompassing his defeat in the recent municipal election. The department will pass the matter to the City Attorney, and propose to oust Cathcart if possible.

TOWN PRETTY HOT FOR HIM.

The hornets' nest stirred up by Socialist McLain in describing the militia as dogs and applying insulting remarks to the Natives Sons has led to a general order issued this morning by City Attorney Swing, which will prohibit street speaking by the Socialists and labor agitators in the future. McLain will now have to leave town, and if he doesn't get out peaceably, there is a possibility that some of the citizens will assist him. The whole town is stirred against the labor spielers, and strong talk is heard.

SAN BERDOO BRIEFS.

Arthur Quirk, little son of the Santa Fé train dispatcher, suffered a severe scalp injury this morning, either by being bitten by a dog or bumping his head against a wagon, beneath which he had crawled to pet a bulldog. The dog suddenly spring at him and when dragged from beneath the wagon his scalp was found to be torn.

Romula Guerra and José Silas, left for Folsom this afternoon in custody of Deputy Sheriff Belarde and Cutler, to commence their sentences of forty years each. They declare they will escape or be killed in the attempt.

"The Times" Will Furnish Them With its Issue of Easter Sunday, April 23.

On the outside page of the "Family Section" ("Buster Brown") of The Times for Easter Sunday, April 23, will be printed ten colored designs, which by a simple process may be transferred to the eggs by the children. They are very pretty effects in bright colors, and the process of transferring them will afford amusement to the young as well as the grown folks.

MUSIC CURE'S SWEET TIDE.

Dr. Meyer Says He Found in Old Wales.

Will Talk More on the Same Subject Tonight.

The Los Angeles Presbytery Adjourns.

"I told you I would talk about the Welch revival tonight," began Dr. F. B. Meyer last night before the largest audience he has yet addressed in Los Angeles. "When I take the time of a vast audience like this to talk about a subject like that, it may be taken for granted that I am talking of a matter that lies close to the national life."

He reviewed briefly revivals from the earliest days down to the present one, which was started by the preaching of young Evan Roberts in Wales last September, and which Dr. Meyer said he believed would encircle the globe.

"I am here as your honored guest," he said, "and I can but speak in the most complimentary terms of your great kindness to me. However, I cannot but feel that in the rapid increase of wealth and in your political life, the influence of the church is not being felt as it ought, and I fear that this glorious country of yours is in great peril.

"In my travels from place to place I have seen great manifestations of the spirit of God. One man may stir a few people in a city, but no one man can move the great masses of the United States. God can do it—a revival can do it—and I pray it may come upon you.

"I am not a prophet, but I cannot but feel that we are standing near the close of the present dispensation, and I shouldn't wonder if God is making a last appeal to sinners, and that the trumpet is being sounded to call the laggards to the feast. What God has done in Wales he can do in Los Angeles, or anywhere else."

Dr. Meyer told how he became so much interested in the stories he heard of the Welch revival that he was not satisfied until he went to see for himself, and witnessed wonderful scenes in the little chapel in the Welch mountains, where Evan Roberts, but 27 years of age, was converting the whole population of the little mining town. His first meeting was held in September, 1904.

"The men who work in the mines," said Dr. Meyer, "began to sing songs of Zion, and to plead with one another to accept Christ. The beasts they used to swear at were so surprised that it took them a long time to learn the language of the kingdom of God."

He told how all the twenty saloons in the town were turned into places of prayer, where the miners gathered at their noon and evening rests. He also referred to criticism he had seen since in Los Angeles, one being that there was not preaching enough in the Welch revival, to which Dr. Meyer said:

"The Welchmen have been soaked with preaching, and there isn't a Welchman living who doesn't think he can preach as good as any person who ever walked.

"I shall never forget the draught of heaven that came into my face as I entered the door of that little church in Wales. I was uncomfortable because they put me in the big chair, for fear they would want me to say something, and I didn't want to interfere with the work of the Holy Ghost."

"While the air waited for Evan Roberts to come, they sang and prayed and one fellow wanted to talk," said Dr. Meyer.

"He began by taking a text from Ephesians and I instantly knew the latitude and longitude of him. The people didn't want to hurt his feelings, so they listened just a moment and then the low, sweet tide of music started up and swept through the house and the fellow sat down."

"It is a very beautiful way to quiet somebody who wants to talk," said Dr. Meyer. "I was so pleased with it I tried it in my own prayer-meeting." This was followed by more laughter.

"If any of my good brethren have members who pray by the yard when they should pray by the inch, I would recommend the sweet-tide-of-music cure. When anybody prays very long I always think they don't pray in private and are trying to make up for the lack. When they come to a good place to break off, that's Monday, and then they start in on Tuesday."

Getting back to the revival in Wales, Dr. Meyer told of the wonderful scenes there witnessed, and gave a thrilling picture of Roberts wrestling in prayer for two agnostics who stood up in the meeting and defied him to convert them.

"I've often said that nobody can be converted unless somebody travails for him, but I had never seen it," said Dr. Meyer. "It seemed as if heaven and hell had met in that little chapel in the struggle for souls. One of them was truly converted and the other left the town and was never seen there afterwards."

Dr. Meyer had to close his talk last night on account of going to the men's meeting in Elk's Hall, but said he would "begin at the crest" and talk on the same subject to-night.

CLOSE OF PRESBYTERY.

YOUNG LADY OF COREA.

The Presbytery of Los Angeles closed its sessions last night, having adjourned the afternoon session until after the Meyer meeting, when the Presbytery reassembled and completed its business.

The report of the Committee on Foreign Missions gave rise to interesting talks on Japan and China by Rev. Mr. Winn, Rev. W. E. Dodge, Rev. Mr. Huston and others, all of whom have been in the foreign fields.

Rev. J. H. Sweet of Highland Park announced the determination of his daughter and only child, Mary W. Sweet, to go to Korea as a missionary. The young lady is now a student at Occidental College and in a few months her intended husband will come from Korea, when they will be married and return to their mutual field of labor.

Occidental College now has two missionaries in Korea, one in Africa, two others preparing to go, and twenty more in the Volunteer Mission Band in the college. One of those preparing is Horace Cleland, a graduate of the college, and by resolution of the presbytery he was yesterady appointed to visit the churches of the presbytery this summer for the purpose of creating a greater interest in missions.

Permission was granted to organize the South Park Presbyterian Church in this city on Easter. It will start with eighty members and 200 supporters. Besides the lot given by H. E. Huntington, valued at $1500, a lady has given $600 toward the building.

A colored man named M. W. Bynum was licensed as a local evangelist. He is a member of the Westminster congregation, recently organized.

COLTON.

JAPS' TREASURER MISSING.

COLTON, April 13.—There is consternation and grief in the Japanese settlement on the Colton terrace. George Awanaga, the interpreter, the trusted treasurer for the colony has disappeared and left behind him a large number of debts. There was deposited with him about all the money belonging to the Japs, over $400 in cash. He left Monday morning, saying that he was going to Riverside after more hands to assist with the orange picking.

There were fourteen Japs in this little settlement, without their interpreter and with no money they are in a sorry plight. Almost the entire colony, fearing the debts which they are now unable to pay, have left for other olimes. Yo Munarch, with his wife and little baby only fourteen days old, remains to face the worst.

COLTON BRIEFS.

A man accused of burning lumber belonging to the Southern Pacific, in its yards, was brought before Justice Hanna yesterday afternoon. Upon examination he was found to be a weak-minded Hungarian, who could barely speak English, and was discharged.

Citizens of Colton held a secret meeting tonight for the purpose of organizing a Vigilance Committee. This is done for the purpose of aiding peace officers in running down criminal cholos responsible for recent numerous burglaries in the town. Opinion in the town as to the advisability of forming a Vigilance Committee is somewhat divided.

The Florence Crittenton rescue car, "Good News," has been in the Southern Pacific yards here since Wednesday. It is to be taken to San Bernardino to be repaired and repainted.

SANTA BARBARA.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, April 13.—Lucone Higgins, a mechanic of this city, nearly lost his life yesterday in an explosion of a distillate tank upon which he was working at Goleta. The fluid was ignited from his heating lamp, and the big tank was blown 100 feet into the air. Higgins was covered with burning oil, but extinguished the fire on his clothing by rolling in wet weeds. His arms were badly burned.

Ladislao Alvarez, the laborer who was crushed between two cars in the local freight yards, died this morning at the Cottage Hospital, after undergoing an operation, which it was thought might save his life.

The Santa Barbara county exhibit for the Lewis and Clark Exposition, consisting of 265 jars of fruits, grains and vegetables, has been packed into 120 large boxes, and is at the freight depot, ready for shipment to Los Angeles, from which place it will be forwarded to Portland, with exhibits from other counties of Southern California.

The Christian Endeavor societies of this city have raised over $1000 for the purpose of holding the State convention, which meets here next July. The Chamber of Commerce has voted to donate $100, and it is expected that the fund will be increased to $2000 by the end of the month.

ONE OUGHT TO KNOW

A Coarse of Treatment That Really Cures Indigestion Instead of Merely Relieving Symptoms.

There are plenty of remedies by which you can relieve for the time heartburn, pain and gas in the stomach and can smother nervous sensations and induce artificial sleep. But when you take your next meal all your troubles begin afresh.

You can humor your stomach by giving it predigested food. Still there isn't much fun in that kind of eating and when you want to get some pleasure out of your meals again, you find that your stomach is weaker than ever.

There is only one sensible thing to do. Strengthen the stomach and when it is once in proper condition it will do its own work better than any process devised by man can ever do it. When it is again strong don't abuse it. Choose rational food and study the effect even of that, as yours may at best be a freakish stomach.

For a weak stomach, a lazy stomach, a broken-down stomach you need a tonic that will rouse the stomach to do the work that will keep it robust. The best remedy ever found for this purpose sis the one used by Mrs. Nellie Darvoux, of Detroit, Mich., whose recovery from dyspepsia of nine years' standing attracted widespread attention in September last.

Mr. Strong read with interest her statement that she had been cured of chronic dyspepsia by a few weeks' use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He had suffered in the same way most of his life, and just then was having a very severe attack. He began the same treatment at once and in a few months, wrote that he too, had realized a complete cure.

"For years," states Mr. Strong, "I suffered greatly from indigestion. I tried many remedies and some of them would relieve me for a time, but the trouble always came back. About six months ago I had an unusually severe attack, and while I tried everything I had ever heard of, I found nothing that would reach the difficulty this time.

"One day I read in a Memphis paper an account of the very remarkable cure of a Michigan women, a sufferer from dyspepsia of a most stubborn type. Twelve doctors had at different times treated her without success, but at last she was entirely cured, and in a short time too, by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Her statement led me to try the same remedy and it proved just as successful in my case. I took only three boxes, and I am convinced that I am permanently cured. I have not had the slightest symptoms of indigestion for the last two months.

Multitudes of cases that had defied all oher remedies have been quickly cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. E. E. Strong lives at Capleville, Shelby county, Tenn. The remedy which he used with such success can be found at any drug store.

While so promptly effective, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no harmful stimulants or opiates. They are perfectly safe and create no drug habit. Every dyspeptic should read "What to Eat and How to Eat." Write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy.

Sick Headache

This irritation produces pain in the head, and the turbulent nerve current sent to the stomach causes nausea, vomiting.

They stop the pain by soothing, strengthening and relieving the tension upon the nerves—not by paralyzing them, as do most headache remedies.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do not contain opium, morphine, chloral, cocaine or similar drugs.

"Sick headache is hereditary in my family. My father suffered a great deal, and for many years I have had spells that were so severe that I was unable to attend to my business affairs for a day or so at a time. During a very severe attack of headache, I took Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and they relieved me almost immediately. Since then if I take them when I feel the spell coming on and it stops it at once."

A PLEASANT LAXATIVE NOT INTOXICATING

Correct Diagnosis

GIVEN BY DR. HAMELL.

The cure of disease depends largely upon correct diagnosis. Some physicians cannot determine what is the matter with their patient—what disease he or she has—and consequently it is impossible for him to prescribe the right treatment. That is why so many doctor and doctor, spend money upon money, and get no results in the way of a cure. The blame rests to some extent on the patient, who should have consulted an old and experienced doctor at the very outset of the disease. Nothing can be gained by delay, nothing can be gained by going to men of doubtful skill. Consult the master of his profession. He will examine you, tell you your disease and advise you what form of treatment will cure you most quickly and permanently, and for all this he will not charge you anything. If his arguments seem convincing, if his treatment appears to be curative, then you are justified in placing your case in his hands, otherwise you are not obliged to do so. This plan is the one adopted by Dr. Hamell. Free examination, consultation and detailed advice as to treatment. He tells you everything in advance, and this will certainly impress you as fair and honorable. Dr. Hamell treats successfully all organic chronic diseases of both sexes, as well as the private diseases of both sexes. He would like to have you avail yourself of his liberal plan. Call on him.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

GO IT ALONE; HORSE SHOW

ROSES ASSOCIATION MAY BE RELATED, HOWEVER.

Former Messenger Boy Becomes President of Pasadena National Bank—Board of Trade Banquet Date Still Hangs in the Air—Woodmen Preparing to Entertain Tonight.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 28 South Raymond Avenue, April 14.—John S. Cravens, with whom the business of organizing a horse show association was left by the Tournament of Roses Association, has called a meeting for this evening for that purpose. Cravens was invested with authority to name a number of gentlemen to serve with him, and from whom the directors and officers are to be chosen. Among these gentlemen who are invited to be present this evening are Mayor W. H. Vedder, D. M. Linnard, Benjamin Blossom, Graham Babcock, L. V. Harkness, E. D. Neff, C. D. Daggett and others.

The plan is to organize separately from th Tournament of Roses Association, but it is likely that the two associations may have the same officers, so that they will be to a certain degree affiliated. Several Los Angeles horsemen and others from outside towns are expected to be present, as the association is intended to be far-reaching and not confined to Pasadena by any means.

The officers have found that over $2000 was cleared at the recent horse show. This was considerably more than was at first thought. This sum, of course, goes to the Tournament of Roses Association, but in all probability will be turned over to the Horse Show Association.

NEWBY IS PRESIDENT.

The directors of the Pasadena National Bank yesterday afternoon elected Vice-President Henry Newby to the head of the institution to succeed the late Gilbert W. Pratt. J. H. Woodworth and Isaac Bailey were chosen vice-presidents, and A. D. Crosby, a retired merchant from Cuba, N. Y., who resides on North Marengo avenue, was chosen a director to take President Pratt's place on the board.

President Newby has been in the banking business in Pasadena for eighteen years. He started as a messenger boy at the First National. He served in every position in the bank up to assistant cashier, which office he resigned four years ago to become cashier of the Pasadena National. He has been the active head for a long time.

AGAINST CONSOLIDATION.

There doesn't seem to be much doing in the proposition to consolidate the Tournament of Roses Association with the Board of Trade. At a special meeting of the board yesterday, the idea was informally presented, and met strong opposition from Harry Gohegan, F. F. Boynton, Tohmas Earley, D. M. Linnard, D. W. Coolidge and others. C. D. Daggett of the P.T.R.A. scheme, it is said. Director Gohegan expressed himself very emphatically.

"It would mean death to the Board of Trade," said Gohegan, "if a salary was paid its president. The board is now supported by the patriotism of the citizens. Just as soon as they found that it was a money-making proposition, a large percentage of them would withdraw their support. I for one would do so. We talked the matter over a year ago and concluded it would not do. The Tournament of Roses may not last forever and, though it is a good thing, we might get along without it. But the Board of Trade should be perpetual, and as soon as it ceases to exist other Southern California towns are going to get ahead of us. The fact of the matter is that the consolidation will never be accomplished."

WHEN'S THE BANQUET?

The Board of Trade annual banquet is a will-o'-the-wisp this year. It had been twice set, the last time for May 1, but yesterday this date was declared void when D. M. Linnard informed the directors very sadly that the Hotel Maryland is still so crowded that it would be unable to accommodate the Forresters until still later. Accordingly it was decided to hold the annual election in the Board of Trade rooms on the twenty-fourth of this month at which time it is hoped that the banquet may be finally arranged for.

SANTA MONICA.

NEW CENSUS PROBABLE.

SANTA MONICA, April 13.—Before Santa Monica holds an election to choose fifteen freeholders for the purpose of framing a new charter for the city there will no doubt be an enumeration of the municipality. The law provides that cities of 3500 may have a freeholder charter, but when the Federal census was taken five years ago this city had not so many people. There has been no count made since, although the city has doubled in population since 1900.

The City Trustees met last night in committee of the whole for the discussion of the contemplated change in the sewer system. It is not improbable that the septic tank system will be recommended in lieu of the present ocean outfall, although the trustees seem not to favor the pumping plant. Whatever is done will be accomplished after a bond election provides the funds.

A hundred teams are engaged just east of Santa Monica in building the electric line's extension and grading the streets and making improvements in the new Westgate tract. This is the new suburb near the Soldiers' Home. It is a part of the Jones and Baker property recently purchased by the Santa Monica Land and Water Company and the owners announce it as being their purpose to push the work rapidly. Walks and drives are being laid out and a water system is being installed.

The auction sale of suburban lots is in vogue. There will be brass bands and free lunch Saturday when Serra Vista will be exploited.

Miss Frank J. Wilson of Oxford Pa., who died at Riverside yesterday, was well known on this beach, where she spent several seasons.

Col. and Mrs. R. A. Eddy of Missoula, Mont., are spending the first days of their automobile honeymoon at the Arcadia.

The body of the little daughter of P. J. Dudley, who died in Chicago, was brought here and given burial this afternoon in Woodlawn cemetery.

The Board of Supervisors has rejected all bids for grading and concrete-steel culvert work on Nevada avenue and the improvement of that thoroughfare and the reopening of the street railway line to the Soldiers' Home are again indefinitely held up.

OCEAN PARK.

GYMNASIUM PLANNED.

OCEAN PARK, April 13.—Plans have been prepared by the architects for a gymnasium building that is soon to be erected in the vicinity of Windward avenue, Venice. The building is to be of brick, with storerooms below and a well-appointed gymnasium above. Plans for the power-house that is to accommodate the pumping plant for the bath-house and the settlement's salt water system have also been drawn.

ONE WOMAN'S CLIMB.

The election of Mrs. George Sibley to the presidency of the Guaranty Realty Company of Ocean Park is pointed to as one woman's rise in Southern California. She came to this beach five years ago supposedly a hopeless invalid. Her first real estate transaction was the sale of the modest tent-house property on which she lived. From the proceeds of this sale she started to roll up a fortune, which is said to have assumed more than comfortable proportions. She is credited with having sold over 250 lots on the beach in a single day. The other officers of the company, the formation of which is said to have been rendered necessary by the growth of her business, are: George C. Lemcke, vice-president; J. White Evans, secretary; W. Griffiss, treasurer; L. A. Bright. The company has a paid up capital of $50,000.

OCEAN PARK BRIEFS.

Fifteen thousand dollars is being spent by Hal B. Packard & Co. in the construction of six one-and-one-half-story concrete cottages in the residence section of Venice, near the county road.

The Maier Packing Company announces that it will spend $20,000 in a lot and building and business in Venice.

H. D. aPtton has purchased the Waterman property on Marine street. The price paid is stated as being $150 per front foot, which is the record price for Marine street property. This avenue until recently has been devoted entirely to residence purposes.

The pier mass meeting was not well attended, but stock to the amount of $5000 was subscribed toward the project. Those who are investing are in favor of a horseshoe pier and approaches on Pier avenue and Marine street.

TROPICO.

BURGLARS GET NO LOOT.

TROPICO, April 13.—An attempt to burglarize the Southern Pacific Railroad office at Tropico was made last night. Two men, supposed to be tramps, effected an entrance to the office by springing a lock on the rear door. Nothing of value was secured by the thieves, as the passenger and freight receipts for the day had been taken home by E. F. Bond, the Tropico agent.

Bond, who left the station at 8 o'clock last evening, learned of the burglary on his return at 6 o'clock this morning. Up to six months ago, when the former agent, Mrs. Ellen Thompson, resigned her position, a savage watch dog was left in the station during the night to guard the property of the railroad. Shortly after Mrs. Thompson left Tropico the dog died, and it is believed that the thieves knowing this, felt safe in their attempt of last night.

FIRST BUTCHER OF LONG BEACH.

WASHINGTON MURDER RECALLS FAMILIAR FIGURE.

Kept Only Meat Market in Seaside Town for Nine Years—Was Eccentric But Good to the Poor—Terrible Swede Has Interesting Interview With City Police.

LONG BEACH, April 13.—F. L. Dames, aged 60, who was found murdered in Bellingham, Wash., was a pioneer of Long Beach and for nine years conducted its only meat market and was one of the leading citizens. He came here sixteen years ago a stranger and opened a butcher shop on Second and Pine. He built up a good business and acquired considerable property. He was peculiar but generous and every Christmas he would get a list of all poor people in town and send them turkeys, chickens and choice cuts of meat. One thing he could not brook was competition and so successful was he at keeping out rivals that it was not until seven years ago that another butcher gained a foothold, whereupon Dames sold out and moved to Texas. Here he met reversals and lost considerable money, after which he moved to Bellingham.

A TERRIBLE SWEDE.

Yesterday was pay day on the warship and in consequence Jack had money which burned a hole in his pocket until he got shore leave and hied himself away to Los Angeles to spend it. About 200 were given shore leave and most of them kept within bounds, but the early cars this morning brought back several who were simply saturated with booze. None of them were vicious, but seemed to be in jolly mood, caring nothing for the punishment awaiting them aboard ship.

Shortly after 10 o'clock, two Swedes appeared, having overstayed their leave. One of them, a big six-footer of brawny development, was loaded to the gunwales and was with difficulty steered out the pier to the wharf by his fairly sober companion. Here he became unruly and refused to board the launch, despite the efforts and persuasion of his mates and the officers.

Finally in sheer desperation they gave it up and turned him over to the Wharfinger Baker to lock him up. "Uncle John" didn't hesitate a minute, but propelled the Swede forwards towards shore, assisted by the fellow's mate. No difficulty was experienced until Ocean avenue was reached when he balked. Marshal Conklin came to assist and to help matters handcuffed the drunken man. Then the Swede woke up and with a grunt gave a lurch of his shoulders and both officers were sent flying. They came back, however, only to be thrown off again and again. Finally the marshal got a hammer lock on his man and threw him, then held him down by kneeling on him. A wagon was sent for but before it arrived, the other sailor told the officers to get away and he would handle him. He assisted the fellow to his feet and they lurched up the street with the marshal behind. Finally he was landed in jail without difficulty. The incident was unusual and attracted a big audience. Late this evening a detail of marines came ashore for the Swede and took him back to the ship.

SEASIDE JOTTINGS.

At the Methodist Church tonight, the boys' vested choir of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, assisted by solo voices, a picked chorus of forty voices, and the big pipe organ, gave Sir John Stainer's oratorio, "The Crucifixion." The solo parts were taken by Mrs. Passmore and Mrs. J. W. Young, Jr., F. A. Knight, Dr. W. H. Jones, H. H. Hamilton and Dr. Lyon Ferrand, a tenor from the Catholic cathedral, Los Angeles. Incidental to the oratorio, Rev. Charles T. Murphy, who had charge of the organ, rendered two voluntaries.

The Baptist Church, at a business meeting last night, extended a formal call to Rev. J. Lewis Smith of Tacoma, who has been in charge the past two weeks. Dr. Smith has been pastor of the First church at Tacoma for seven years, but desires a change of climate. He will remove here with his family about June 1. The membership also finally decided to retain the present building site on Fourth and Pine, but proposes to replace the present small building with a large and modern brick edifice. The Building Committee is soliciting subscriptions.

N. S. Jillson, a carpenter, attempted to board a rapidly-moving Pacific Electric car at noon, but missed his footing and was thrown with great force, cutting a deep gash across the forehead over the right eye, which required several stitches to close.

The Knights of Pythias has elected S. G. Long, representative, and Charles L. Heartwell, delegate, to the Grand Lodge. The Rathbone Sisters have selected Mrs. T. H. Brown and Mrs. A. M. Dunn to represent them in the Grand Temple.

Preparations are being made for Woodmen's Day at the beach on the occasion of the supreme meeting in Los Angeles April 18-28 and cash prizes will be offered for a competitive drill between the crack teams of the order.

The pathetic story of Fred Uhing and Dane Carpenter, the two waifs picked up in the depot pavilion proves a fairy tale. The boys are runaways from a good home in Whittier and their mothers are here today looking for them. The boys are missing though their overcoats and valise are still at police headquarters.

SAN PEDRO.

MAY HAVE BEEN THE PIRATE.

SAN PEDRO, April 13.—The report from San Diego that the collier Saturn of the Pacific squadron had on last Friday sighted a small sloop called the Karl, having one man on board, has given rise to the belief that this sloop may be the America, stolen from Salvator Carresi at this port about two weeks ago.

The sloop was sighted by the Saturn when she was on her way up the coast from Magdalena Bay and about 300 miles south of San Diego and forty miles off the Mexican coast.

The sloop America, which was stolen from Carresi, the Italian fisherman, was valued at $700, and had several hundred dollars' worth of nets aboard and $40 in gold in the cabin. It was taken from its moorings in the inner harbor by some harbor pirate, and as a strong southwest wind was blowing, it is almost certain the sloop was sailed south. The description of the sloop sighted and spoken by the Saturn answers the description of Carresi's boat.

Carresi went to Los Angeles today to obtain the aid of the Mexican Consul in the recovery of his boat in case a landing should be made at some Mexican port. The Saturn supplied the lone mariner with water and provision and he headed for San Diego. Carresi gives it as his opinion that the name on the sloop had been repainted, and changed from America to Karl. The statement of the man in the sloop that he was thirteen days on the way from Seattle to San Diego is unreasonable, from the fact that it would be impossible for so small a craft to travel so great a distance in so short a time. This gives color to the belief that the sloop seen was the stolen America. No boat named the Karl is known in this locality.

ROCKEFELLER'S MEN ARRESTED.

Two of John D. Rockefeller's agents have to reckon with the Humane Society of the city of San Pedro. W. G. McDuff and A. T. Clark of Long Beach, who are employed by the Standard Oil Company, were arrested by officers of the society on a charge of cruelly and inhumanly beating two of the company's horses. It is stated by several witnesses that the men took the butt ends of their whips and rained blow after blow upon the dumb animals. The cases are to come before Justice Downing tomorrow afternoon.

TO SPREAD TOWN'S FAME.

At a regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held in the City Hall last evening an order was placed for 10,000 copies of the Travelers' Blue Book, containing information relative to this locality, which are intended for free distribution.

SAN DIMAS.

JAP LEADERS DISAPPEAR.

SAN DIMAS, April 13.—There is consternation among the Japanese about here. Three of the leaders of the Japanese colonies in the vicinity have disappeared, and in the case of at least one of them the aid of attachment proceedings has been invoked to collect debts left behind.

CORDIAL INVITATION
ADDRESSED TO WORKING GIRLS

Miss Barrows Tells How Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Helps Working Girls

Girls who work are particularly susceptible to female disorders, especially those who are obliged to stand on their feet from morning until night in stores or factories.

Day in and day out the girl toils, and she is often the bread-winner of the family. Whether she is sick or well, whether it rains or shines, she must get to her place of employment, perform the duties exacted of her—smile and be agreeable.

Among this class the symptoms of female diseases are early manifest by weak and aching backs, pain in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach. In consequence of frequent wetting of the feet, monthly periods become painful and irregular, and frequently there are faint and dizzy spells, with loss of appetite, until life is a burden. All of these symptoms point to a derangement of the female organism which can be easily and promptly cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Abby F. Barrows, Nelsonville, Athens Co., Ohio, tells what this great medicine did for her. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I feel it my duty to tell you the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier have done for me. Before I took them I was very nervous, had dull headaches, pains in back, and monthlies were irregular, I had been to several doctors, and they did me no good.

"Your medicine has made me well and strong. I can do most any kind of work without complaint, and my periods are all right.

"I am in better health than I ever was, and I know it is all due to your remedies. I recommend your advice and medicine to all who suffer."

It is to such girls that Mrs. Pinkham holds out a helping hand and extends a cordial invitation to correspond with her. Her long record of success in treating woman's ills makes her letters of advice of untold value to every ailing working girl, and from her wide experience and skill she quickly points the way to health. Her advice is free, and all letters are held by her in the strictest confidence. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

NO TONGUE CAN TELL

How I Suffered with Itching and Bleeding Eczema

UNTIL CURED BY CUTICURA

"No tongue can tell how I suffered for five years with a terribly painful, itching, and bleeding eczema, my body and face being covered with sores. Never in my life did I experience such awful suffering, and I longed for death, which I felt was near. I had tried doctors and medicines without success, but my mother insisted that I try Cuticura. I felt better after the first bath with Cuticura Soap and one application of Cuticura Ointment, and was soon entirely well. (signed) Mrs. A. Etson, Bellevue, Mich."

I have been treated by Dr. Schiffman for years. I have tried all his different methods, and can say unhesitatingly no dentist or physician has ever operated with such success or skill. In extracting my teeth he did it without any pain to me. It is a great pleasure to me to recommend him and his method of treatment.
MILO M. POTTER,
Prop. Van Nuys Hotel, L. A., and Hotel Potter, Santa Barbara.

Ten years ago a reputable dentist of Virginia told me that a certain molar tooth could not be satisfactorily saved, and that it would probably not be of service for one year. It has not only served me for ten years, as Dr. Schiffman saved and crowned it, and comparatively speaking, without pain. I sing his praise.
OWEN M. ANDREWS,
Pastor M. E. Church, South, Cor. 6th and Mateo sts.

Several years ago Dr. Schiffman did some crown work for me which has proven entirely satisfactory. The work was done painlessly and with great skill It gives me great pleasure to recommend him.
IRVING R. SMITH,
L. A. TIMES.

It gives me great pleasure to state that Dr. Schiffman extracted an impacted wisdom tooth for me, which had been giving me great annoyance for years. It was extracted absolutely without a particle of pain to me. It was easily worth 100 times the amount paid.
ROBERT MARSH,
Of Robert Marsh & Co., 302-308 H. W. Hellman Bldg.

On account of some unfortunate experience I had in the extraction of my teeth I became a great coward in this respect. Today Dr. Schiffman extracted one of my very refractory teeth without causing me one particle of pain. D. K. TRASK,
Judge Superior Court, Los Angeles.

Flexible Rubber Dental Plates

Have many advantages over the old thick, cumbersome, ordinary rubber plates and even over gold plates, being much lighter and thinner. These plates are flexible, only a trifle thicker than heavy writing paper, fit closer and adhere better to the roof of the mouth. Particles of food and small seeds cannot get under them. They will last longer, are stronger than any others and will not break, as they will give first, being flexible. Dr. Schiffman's own process, and made only by us.

Yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange was still largely an Associated Oil market and had the ear marks of a professional one. Although Associated is in a rising market it strengthened its position very slightly, which would indicate that the inside coterie is manipulating somewhat. The transactions during the session were 7000 shares at 32 and 32¼, while 1000 shares were sold on the street at 32½, the stock closing at 32@32½, nearly a point under the closing value of the day before. Continental went off, 2000 shares changing hands at 34¼ and 34½, closing at 34¼. Fullerton also declined, closing at 30¾, but Reed Crude advanced 5 points, closing at 25, and Union advanced a point, closing at 78.

First National Bank went to 231, but there were no offerings.

W. H. Hummason, his book-keeper of the Merchants' Trust Company, has taken the position of assistant cashier of the new Metropolitan Bank.

Time money, 60 to 90 days, 6 per cent.; four to six months, 7 per cent.

Commercial money: 60 to 90 days indorsed bills, 6 per cent.; four to six months, single names, 7 per cent.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Trading in the produce market showed a little more interest yesterday; with few exceptions receipts were on liberal order and little change was made in the prices.

BUTTER—Heavy receipts and despite and excellent local and shipping trade the lowered prices were wobbly.

BANANAS—Weak at 3 to 3¼ cents.

PEAS—Steady at 3 to 5 cents.

RHUBARB—Now choice lots jobbing at 1.00 to 1.50.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—At any time today the stock market would have been pronounced spotty and irregular, and it is only by a survey of the day's trading as a whole that the amount of strength manifested is properly discerned. This is because of the system of rotation employed by the active operators in conducting their transactions, the demand shifting constantly from one to another stock, and from one portion of the list to another. While picked stocks were advancing, the general list was either held back or forced downwards by the pressure of the profit-taking sales, which went hand in hand with the buying of special stocks. It was not until late in the day that any clearly-defined tendency developed in the market. In the early dealings, there was considerable disappointment caused by the professional element by the halt in the advance of those stocks which made the largest outbursts at the closing last night. United States Steel preferred, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper were notable examples. It was characteristic of the market also, that after advances had proceeded for a time, the stocks thus affected would come to a pause, while others were brought forward. This process kept the traders constantly confused in attempting to follow different movements or to determine the general trend of the market. The resumption of the aggressive advance in Union Pacific had as much to do as anything with the decision of the trend of the market. The manner in which this was supported in spite of the doubts engendered regarding the Harriman rumors concerning it and the failure of distributing many of various kinds to weaken the market effectually had the effect of intimidating the bears and reassuring sentiment. Stories of a comprehensive combination of powerful interests in copper, anthracite and lead industries helped the efforts of pools in the stocks affected to advance their price. Northern Securities settlement again emerged into prominence, with the vague intimation that next week with the issue of the mandate of the Supreme Court for the distribution of the company's assets, the great merger projects which have been waiting on that event will culminate. The constant shifting of the demand developed a large number of gains as the day progressed. A movement to take profits carried prices back before the close, but they came up again, and the irregular closing was not far below the top level. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, $3,650,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call.
